President To Ask Tax On Luxuries

Whiskey, Wine, Beer, Cigarettes Mentioned as Being in Line for Increase Request

Individuals Hit

Twenty Per Cent Jump Might Be Levied on 50 Millions

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Capitol Hill heard today that President Truman will ask tomorrow for big tax boosts on such luxuries as whiskey, wine, beer and cigarettes to help pay huge defense costs.

The President outlined his proposals—the biggest tax boosting program in history—at an extraordinary private meeting with House Democratic and Republican tax writers yesterday. He will send a special tax message to Congress tomorrow.

He said he wants $16,500,000,000 in new revenue, to put the defense program on a pay-as-you-go basis, but he asked that it be split into two packages, one a quick $10,000,000,000 increase in individual, corporation and excise taxes.

The excise boosts he will ask may also extend to motor vehicles, now taxed at the manufacturers' level at a rate of seven per cent on autos and five on trucks, and to gasoline, on which the rate is now one and a half cents a gallon.

No Sales Tax Talked

The President is understood to have made no suggestions for a federal retail sales tax.

Meanwhile, new demands developed for slashes in his $71,000,000,000 budget.

Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) said that if non-defense expenditures were cut by $7,000,000,000 "there would be need for only one package—of about $10,000,000,000 in new taxes."

Coal Raise Is First Crack in Price Freeze

Commerce Dinner Speaker Is Leader In Business World

Reservations Are Handled in Order Received; Topic of Message to Be Announced

Richard L. Bowditch of Boston, the speaker at the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on February 15, is one of the outstanding business leaders of the nation. Howard C. St. John, chairman of the banquet committee stated today that "we were very fortunate to secure Mr. Bowditch as our speaker. A short time ago he was called to Washington as an adviser to top officials in the Economic Stabilization Agency which recently froze prices and wages, but has reassured us that our meeting is still number one on his calendar."

Bowditch does a tremendous amount of public service work and is currently serving as vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for the northeast region. His principal business activities are president and director of C. H. Sprague & Son Company, and the Sprague Steamship Company, engaged in extensive coal operations. He is also chairman of the board and director of the Imperial Smokeless Coal Company and serves as a director of the following business institutions: The First National Bank of Boston, the Boston and Maine Railroad Company, Pacific Mills, Sylvania Electric Products, Ludlow Manufacturing Associates, The New River Company and the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

Bowditch is also chairman of the foreign commerce committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He is a member of the Corporation of Northwestern University and served as chairman of the library fund drive for that institution. Bowditch is a past president of the New England Council and served as chairman of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

To Announce Talk

The topic of his talk February 15 will be announced later, but it was announced that it would be along the line of how Chamber of Commerce, as well as business and professional leaders, can best fit into the present national emergency. He has always put public welfare ahead of any special advantages for business and subscribes wholly to the national chamber's slogan, "If it is not in

Mine Pay Hike Is Due to Show Up in Cost to Consumer

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—A pay raise in the coal pits went into effect today without interference from the government, and eventually the money will show up on consumers' coal bills.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle announced that new ceiling prices on coal would be set today or tomorrow and would "probably reflect increased costs to the operators as a result of the wage increase."

Thus the government cracked open its Jan. 25 temporary wage-price freeze for the first time. Other cracks are certain.

And thus a long period without coal strikes seems to be assured, and the big shadow of John L. Lewis faded from the wall in the conference room of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Takes Several Steps

This board, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, took several steps yesterday. It exempted state, county, and municipal employes from the wage freeze, turning them over to their governing bodies, which, the board said, are expected to conform to general federal wage policies.

In another regulation, the board gave a blanket O.K. to all wage and salary increases due to take effect before midnight Feb. 9, provided they were "formally determined and communicated to the employes" before the Jan. 25 freeze date.

This permitted an undetermined number of increases to groups or individuals in that class.

The wage board's regulation on last-minute wage increases was adopted by a 6-3 vote.

The three industry members voted "no," and protested that the action moves the Jan. 25 freeze date forward for some employes who "meet a particular formal requirement," leaving out others who may be equally deserving.

Coal Price Unannounced

The size of the coal price increases was not told in advance. DiSalle said this matter was under consideration.

Soft coal operators have estimated that the higher wages would add about 25 to 50 cents a ton to their costs, depending on the grade of coal and the locality.

There is still a madhouse atmospheré around the headquarters of the wage board and the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS). But now that the freeze orders have been out six days and the coal increase has been allowed, there is less tension than before in the two fast-swelling agencies.

5th Round of Increases

The wage board must now finish working out a general formula, under which the so-called "fifth round" of postwar wage increases which started in 1950 will be allowed to run its course.

The Office of Price Stabilization, besides determining coal price

V.A. to Distribute $685,000,000 to Insurance Holders

Average Payment Will Be About $85; Study of Rates Still Underway

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) said today it will distribute a $685,000,000 life insurance dividend this year, starting in April.

The announcement of the dividend's size has long been awaited by World War 2 veterans, holders of the 8,000,000 National Service policies, who are eligible for checks.

VA said the payments will occur throughout the year on the policy anniversary dates.

The formula for paying the dividend has not yet been completed. The amount of each dividend will vary according to the numebr of months the policy was in force, the plan of insurance, the face value of the policy, and the age of the holder at the time it became effective.

Rates Are Studied

"Studies on rates still are being made," VA said.

However, the average payment figures out to about $85, compared with an average of $175 for the first special dividend, on which VA started payments in January 1950.

The initial dividend covered the period from the start of the National Service Life Insurance program, in October, 1940, through the 1948 anniversary dates. The second dividend will be for three years, from 1948 through the 1951 anniversary.

It probably will also be the last special dividend, VA said. Hereafter, when there is a surplus in the insurance fund, dividends will be paid annually—and automati-

Reds in Han River Area Hit Hard

Caught in Trap

Yankee-French Combat Team Encircled in One Sector

Lake Success, Feb. 1 (AP)—The United Nations assembly today voted overwhelmingly to brand Communist China as an aggressor in Korea.

The vote was 44 to 7. The negative votes were cast by the five Soviet bloc countries and India and Burma. Nine countries were listed as abstaining, but one of them—Saudi Arabia—asked to be recorded as not participating.

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (AP)—Allied forces in bitter hand-to-hand fighting crunched ahead as much as three miles today in Western Korea, but a French-American combat team was trapped by superior Chinese forces in another sector of the warfront.

There were increasing signs that the eight-day-old United Nations limited offensive had slammed into the main Red defense line south of the Han river. The Han flows along the southeastern outskirts of Seoul.

A Tenth Corps spokesman said the encircled regiment had been fighting off two enemy regiments for hours in close combat. He would not predict its chances of breaking out of the trap.

Bayonet-wielding Turkish troops made Thursday's biggest advance, through rugged and muddy hill country against an enemy "firmly dug in," a briefing officer said.

Forward elements of this force drove to a point less than 4,000 yards south of Anyang, on the road to Seoul. Anyang is about nine miles northwest of Suwon and 11 miles south of the former South Korean capital. A few miles eastward, an American tank-led task force jabbed 2½ miles into Wonchon, but then withdrew. Wonchon is three miles east of Suwon.

Battle Line Extended

The battlefront now extends roughly along an east-west line five miles north of Suwon. At one point it is within nine miles of Seoul.

Near the junction of the western and central fronts French and Officials disclosed that Charles E. Wilson, chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization (O.D.M.) hopes to create the policy-making body before the week ends.

The action may settle a dispute between Wilson's aides and those of Secretary of Labor Tobin—who has a defense manpower office in his department—over who shall apportion manpower between the growing armed forces and expanding defense industry.

Murphy Reports 1950 Construction Hit $3,188,317 in Kingston

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy recommended a new building code and a building inspector when he submitted to the Board of Fire Commissioners yesterday his annual report showing a 1950 increase of $3,188,317 in estimated new building costs over 1949.

The chief noted that "It is true that the increase in cost was partly due to the hospital building (Benedictine) and the George Washington School, but less the hospital and school estimate there was $2,181,400 worth of construction."

Of this total $1,379,390 was for residential construction. The 1949 total for all purposes was $1,693,083 and this was $488,400 under the 1950 total exclusive of the school and hospital sums, which brought the year's total to a record high of $4,881,400.

"The figures shown in the report regarding building and construction should be conclusive evidence for the need of a new building code and a building inspector. I recommend a building code and a building inspector," the report said.

Fire Loss Cited

The total fire loss for 1950, including fires for which the department was not called was $57,720.34, and this was a decrease of $9,987.80 under 1949, the report said. The per capita loss for the city was $1.99.

Total insurance carried on buildings and contents involved in fires to which the fire department responded was $523,250, the report said, and the total loss for these was $54,236.65.

The report explained that "Incipient fires to which the department was not called caused fire damage to buildings and contents. Fires were caused by cigarettes, cigars, matches, candles and gas flame. A fire loss was paid on these fires and is chargeable to the total city fire loss. Insurance carried on buildinfis was $74,000. Insurance on contents was $190,700."

Loss paid on buildings, it continued, was $612.17, and that paid on contents was $2,871.52 with a total of $3,485.69. The total insurance carried on all buildings and contents was $787,950 and the total fire loss was $57,720.34.

Permits Total More

The report showed a total of 723 permits for building purposes in 1950 as against 616 in 1949, and of those issued last year, 162

Duplessis Calls Inquiry Into Bridge Failure; Was Erected in 1948

Three Rivers, Que., Feb. 1 (AP)—Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis charged last night that "sabotage by subversive elements" was responsible for the collapse of the $3,000,000 Duplessis Highway Bridge. He announced a government inquiry into the disaster.

Nearly half of the broad bridge built in 1948 snapped in 26-below zero weather early yesterday morning, plunging four persons to an icy death.

Duplessis, after whom the bridge was named, told the Quebec Legislature a government investigation, not necessary public, would begin soon.

The Legislature debated on the huge concrete and steel structure a year ago, shortly after fissures reportedly were discovered in the steelwork during extremely cold weather.

Was Closed To Traffic

At that time the nine-span bridge, more than a third of a mile long, was closed to heavy traffic while the cracks were repaired.

The collapse came with a roar and rumble described by witnesses like that of an earthquake. Only a few cars were crossing at the time. Had the disaster occurred during the daytime when the bridge, normally is bustling with heavy traffic, the death toll might have been heavy. The bridge is the main connecting link between this industrial city and Quebec, the provincial capital.

Premier Duplessis told the Legislature that he believed sabotage was involved. He based his theory on the "timing" of the crash in the early morning hours and the fact that it was "the Duplessis Bridge." The premier an outspoken foe of communism recalled that he is the author of the Quebec "Padlock Law" by which police can close up establishments suspected of subversive or Communist connections.

World Civilization Is Dependent on U. S.: Eisenhower

General Tells Congress Western Nations Must Be Aided in Line on Aggression

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congress members today their decisions on defense cooperation with western Europe will determine the course of civilization and whether free governments will continue to exist.

The Allied commander for Europe addressed an informal meeting of the Senate and House in the Library of Congress Auditorium.

At the outset, he told them he has "no end to serve except the good of the United States," and appealed for belief in the "sincerity of my convictions." The Congress members applauded.

Eisenhower went on to say we have to operate on the assumption that we are deeply concerned with the defense "of our way of life."

He said that embraces freedom of the individual and an economy of free enterprise.

The five star general, just back from a tour of Western Europe, then declared the goal must be "the common good of the free nations."

In earnest tones, he told the legislators they soon may be forced to make decisions which will determine the course of civilization. He added that those decisions involve whether free governments will continue to exist.

Would Not Bring Attack

His tour of Europe was made to determine both the possibility of defending Europe against the threat of Russian aggression and the readiness and ability of Europe to defend itself.

Eisenhower said it was a fallacy to believe the strengthening of Western Europe's defenses would

Two Families Routed by Fire

Delaware Avenue Blaze Believed Started by Refrigerator

A fire believed to have started in a refrigerator, damaged the apartment of Joseph L. Wolf on the second floor of the building at 138 Delaware avenue, owned by Dominick Perry, and housing the Perry grocery store, this morning.

Two families were routed by the blaze for which the first telephone alarm at 6:58 a. m., was followed by another a minute later and an alarm from Box 2222, Delaware avenue and North street, at 7 a. m.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said damage was confined mostly to the kitchen in the Wolf apartment, but smoke and water damage extended to other rooms on the upper floor and caused some lighter damage to the apartment and store below.

The building and store contents are insured but the tenants hold no insurance, the chief said. No estimate of damage was given.

Discovers Fire

Wolf discovered the fire when he was wakened by the odor of smoke. He saw it was centered in the refrigerator but was unable to get near it with water and called the fire department.

The blaze forced Wolf, his wife and two children and George Geisler, his wife and baby, who occupied the lower apartment, to flee the building, and Chief Murphy said when he arrived it "looked like the whole building was going."

Union and Cordts hose companies, Cornell and the truck from central station responded to the alarms and three lines of hose were used. The recall alarm was sounded at 7:57 a. m., but the last piece of apparatus did not leave until after 10 a. m.

All insulation in the refrigerator was burning and had to be removed, the chief said, and the ladder of the aerial truck was used to get to the attic of the building. All furniture in the first floor apartment was covered and damage by smoke and water in the store is believed to be slight. The flames did not break through the walls or roof and were confined largely to the kitchen.

Dewey Supports Move to Tax Heavy Trucks Within State

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Governor Dewey reportedly has thrown his support behind a move a move in the legislature to levy a new state tax on heavy trucks.

If enacted, the tax would net the state at least $20,000,000 annually. It would assure Dewey an emergency fund in case heavy civil defense demands skyrocketed spending in the 1951-52 fiscal year.

Dewey's support of a new weight-distance tax was reported by a reliable capitol source. It also was learned that some top fiscal experts of the Dewey administration had been directed to complete their research swiftly to determine the feasibility of the proposed tax plan.

The Governor's stand was reported a few hours after a Republican senator, George T. Manning of Rochester, said he would introduce a weight-distance tax bill late next week. His measure also may include inter-city buses.

A Dewey spokesman declined to say whether Dewey was for or against the measure.

Manning is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on highway and canal revenue. The group held a public hearing last week on proposals to increase the state tax levy on heavy trucks.

Capital sources pointed out that the drive for the proposed tax came at a time when heavy pressure was pyramiding for new funds, not only for civil defense, but also for a pay increase for public school teachers and state employes.

Easing of the federal government's ban on pay increases yesterday cleared the way for such raises promised earlier by Dewey.

Funds for pay increases and for civil defense are included in Dewey's new record-high budget of $939,000,000. But the ceilings put on such increases virtually guaranteed that many groups would demand more.

In his budget, sent to the legislature Tuesday, the Governor

Farm Cooler Burns In Modena Section

Modena, Feb. 1—A fire of undetermined origin damaged a partially completed farm cooler on the Theodore Wright farm on Route 208, one mile from Ireland Corners on Wednesday night.

The structure, of the type used for storage of apples and other farm produce, was about one-half completed and had not yet been wired for electricity.

The fire broke out about 10 p. m. Gardiner Fire Department responded to the first alarm, and a short time after their arrival a call was sent for assistance to the Modena department.

Fire Destroys Hurley Plant; Machines and Tools Are Lost

The Hurley Cabinet Company factory on the Thielpape road, Hurley, was destroyed early this morning by a fire of unknown origin.

Chief Winfred Snyder of the Hurley Fire Department reported that the owner, James Chianelli, has tentatively placed the damage at between $15,000 and $20,000. All the firm's woodworking machines and tools were lost, along with quantities of new material for cabinets, Chief Snyder said. The building, a converted barn, was destroyed.

The entire structure was involved with fire and the roof rafters were beginning to cave in when Hurley firemen arrived after a two-mile ride over slushy roads.

The A. H. Wicks Engine Company of Kingston responded to a mutual aid call but the fire had made too much headway and the building could not be saved, Chief Snyder reported.

A favorable wind assisted firemen in preventing fire damage to a house located about 1,000 feet from the factory.

A hand tractor was the only item saved from the factory building.

An automobile, belonging to Chianelli, was destroyed in the fire.

The fire was discovered about 4:30 a. m. today. Chief Snyder, fearing that telephone lines migh be down at the factory which is located on a dead-end road, sent an immediate call for assistance to mutual aid headquarters in Kingston, and the Wicks Company was dispatched.

In reporting the fire, Chief Snyder said it was a good case for equipping county fire companies with a two-way radio system. He pointed out that the building was already beyond saving when his company arrived and that it was useless for the Wicks company to make the long run to Hurley. However, the telephone lines were down and the mutual aid call could not be canceled, he said. On the other hand, he pointed out, if additional aid had been needed there was no way of requesting it.

The Hurley Cabinet Company maintains retail outlets for its products of 69 North Front street in Kingston and 458 Main street, Poughkeepsie.

Defense System Is Stalled by Strike Of Rail Switchmen

34 Railroads Are Hit by 'Sick Call' Walkouts in Score of U. S. Cities

(By The Associated Press)

A rapidly spreading switchmen's walkout intensified a paralysis of the nation's rail system today and stalled defense shipments.

The "sick call" walkouts, moving into the third day, grew steadily more critical. They spanned the nation, hitting directly against 34 railroads in more than a score of cities.

Industrial areas of the east and midwest were particularly hard hit. In New York, both the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads predicted serious disruptions of their huge rail networks.

President Truman was reported considering a direct appeal to the railroad workers to weigh the effect on the tie-ups on defense preparations and the fighting in Korea.

A St. Louis business leader asserted the "sick" strikes "border on treason." This remark came from Carl Giessow, director of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Transportation Bureau.

Defense officials in Washington were pressuring the carriers, unions and the National Mediation Board to hasten a settlement of the wage and hour deadlock.

Dewey Supports Move to Tax Heavy Trucks Within State

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Governor Dewey reportedly has thrown his support behind a move a move in the legislature to levy a new state tax on heavy trucks.

If enacted, the tax would net the state at least $20,000,000 annually. It would assure Dewey an emergency fund in case heavy civil defense demands skyrocketed spending in the 1951-52 fiscal year.

Dewey's support of a new weight-distance tax was reported by a reliable capitol source. It also was learned that some top fiscal experts of the Dewey administration had been directed to complete their research swiftly to determine the feasibility of the proposed tax plan.

The Governor's stand was reported a few hours after a Republican senator, George T. Manning of Rochester, said he would introduce a weight-distance tax bill late next week. His measure also may include inter-city buses.

A Dewey spokesman declined to say whether Dewey was for or against the measure.

Manning is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on highway and canal revenue. The group held a public hearing last week on proposals to increase the state tax levy on heavy trucks.

Capital sources pointed out that the drive for the proposed tax came at a time when heavy pressure was pyramiding for new funds, not only for civil defense, but also for a pay increase for public school teachers and state employes.

Easing of the federal government's ban on pay increases yesterday cleared the way for such raises promised earlier by Dewey.

Funds for pay increases and for civil defense are included in Dewey's new record-high budget of $939,000,000. But the ceilings put on such increases virtually guaranteed that many groups would demand more.

In his budget, sent to the legislature Tuesday, the Governor

President To Ask Tax On Luxuries

Twenty Per Cent Jump Might Be Levied on 50 Millions

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Capitol Hill heard today that President Truman will ask tomorrow for big tax boosts on such luxuries as whiskey, wine, beer and cigarettes to help pay huge defense costs.

The President outlined his proposals—the biggest tax boosting program in history—at an extraordinary private meeting with House Democratic and Republican tax writers yesterday. He will send a special tax message to Congress tomorrow.

He said he wants $16,500,000,000 in new revenue, to put the defense program on a pay-as-you-go basis, but he asked that it be split into two packages, one a quick $10,000,000,000 increase in individual, corporation and excise taxes.

The excise boosts he will ask may also extend to motor vehicles, now taxed at the manufacturers' level at a rate of seven per cent on autos and five on trucks, and to gasoline, on which the rate is now one and a half cents a gallon.

No Sales Tax Talked

The President is understood to have made no suggestions for a federal retail sales tax.

Meanwhile, new demands developed for slashes in his $71,000,000,000 budget.

Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) said that if non-defense expenditures were cut by $7,000,000,000 "there would be need for only one package—of about $10,000,000,000 in new taxes."

World Civilization Is Dependent on U. S.: Eisenhower

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told Congress members today their decisions on defense cooperation with western Europe will determine the course of civilization and whether free governments will continue to exist.

The Allied commander for Europe addressed an informal meeting of the Senate and House in the Library of Congress Auditorium.

At the outset, he told them he has "no end to serve except the good of the United States," and appealed for belief in the "sincerity of my convictions." The Congress members applauded.

Eisenhower went on to say we have to operate on the assumption that we are deeply concerned with the defense "of our way of life."

He said that embraces freedom of the individual and an economy of free enterprise.

The five star general, just back from a tour of Western Europe, then declared the goal must be "the common good of the free nations."

In earnest tones, he told the legislators they soon may be forced to make decisions which will determine the course of civilization. He added that those decisions involve whether free governments will continue to exist.

Would Not Bring Attack

His tour of Europe was made to determine both the possibility of defending Europe against the threat of Russian aggression and the readiness and ability of Europe to defend itself.

Commerce Dinner Speaker Is Leader In Business World

Richard L. Bowditch of Boston, the speaker at the annual banquet of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce on February 15, is one of the outstanding business leaders of the nation. Howard C. St. John, chairman of the banquet committee stated today that "we were very fortunate to secure Mr. Bowditch as our speaker. A short time ago he was called to Washington as an adviser to top officials in the Economic Stabilization Agency which recently froze prices and wages, but has reassured us that our meeting is still number one on his calendar."

Bowditch does a tremendous amount of public service work and is currently serving as vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for the northeast region. His principal business activities are president and director of C. H. Sprague & Son Company, and the Sprague Steamship Company, engaged in extensive coal operations. He is also chairman of the board and director of the Imperial Smokeless Coal Company and serves as a director of the following business institutions: The First National Bank of Boston, the Boston and Maine Railroad Company, Pacific Mills, Sylvania Electric Products, Ludlow Manufacturing Associates, The New River Company and the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

Bowditch is also chairman of the foreign commerce committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He is a member of the Corporation of Northwestern University and served as chairman of the library fund drive for that institution. Bowditch is a past president of the New England Council and served as chairman of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The topic of his talk February 15 will be announced later, but it was announced that it would be along the line of how Chamber of Commerce, as well as business and professional leaders, can best fit into the present national emergency. Farm Cooler Burns In Modena Section

Modena, Feb. 1—A fire of undetermined origin damaged a partially completed farm cooler on the Theodore Wright farm on Route 208, one mile from Ireland Corners on Wednesday night.

The structure, of the type used for storage of apples and other farm produce, was about one-half completed and had not yet been wired for electricity.

The fire broke out about 10 p. m. Gardiner Fire Department responded to the first alarm, and a short time after their arrival a call was sent for assistance to the Modena department.

Mine Pay Hike Is Due to Show Up in Cost to Consumer

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—A pay raise in the coal pits went into effect today without interference from the government, and eventually the money will show up on consumers' coal bills.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle announced that new ceiling prices on coal would be set today or tomorrow and would "probably reflect increased costs to the operators as a result of the wage increase."

Thus the government cracked open its Jan. 25 temporary wage-price freeze for the first time. Other cracks are certain.

And thus a long period without coal strikes seems to be assured, and the big shadow of John L. Lewis faded from the wall in the conference room of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Takes Several Steps

This board, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, took several steps yesterday. It exempted state, county, and municipal employes from the wage freeze, turning them over to their governing bodies, which, the board said, are expected to conform to general federal wage policies.

In another regulation, the board gave a blanket O.K. to all wage and salary increases due to take effect before midnight Feb. 9, provided they were "formally determined and communicated to the employes" before the Jan. 25 freeze date.

This permitted an undetermined number of increases to groups or individuals in that class.

The wage board's regulation on last-minute wage increases was adopted by a 6-3 vote.

The three industry members voted "no," and protested that the action moves the Jan. 25 freeze date forward for some employes who "meet a particular formal requirement," leaving out others who may be equally deserving.

Coal Price Unannounced

The size of the coal price increases was not told in advance. DiSalle said this matter was under consideration.

Soft coal operators have estimated that the higher wages would add about 25 to 50 cents a ton to their costs, depending on the grade of coal and the locality.

There is still a madhouse atmosphere around the headquarters of the wage board and the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS). But now that the freeze orders have been out six days and the coal increase has been allowed, there is less tension than before in the two fast-swelling agencies.

5th Round of Increases

The wage board must now finish working out a general formula, under which the so-called "fifth round" of postwar wage increases which started in 1950 will be allowed to run its course.

V.A. to Distribute $685,000,000 to Insurance Holders

Average Payment Will Be About $85; Study of Rates Still Underway

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—The Veterans Administration (VA) said today it will distribute a $685,000,000 life insurance dividend this year, starting in April.

The announcement of the dividend's size has long been awaited by World War 2 veterans, holders of the 8,000,000 National Service policies, who are eligible for checks.

VA said the payments will occur throughout the year on the policy anniversary dates.

The formula for paying the dividend has not yet been completed. The amount of each dividend will vary according to the numebr of months the policy was in force, the plan of insurance, the face value of the policy, and the age of the holder at the time it became effective.

Rates Are Studied

"Studies on rates still are being made," VA said.

However, the average payment figures out to about $85, compared with an average of $175 for the first special dividend, on which VA started payments in January 1950.

The initial dividend covered the period from the start of the National Service Life Insurance program, in October, 1940, through the 1948 anniversary dates. The second dividend will be for three years, from 1948 through the 1951 anniversary.

It probably will also be the last special dividend, VA said. Hereafter, when there is a surplus in the insurance fund, dividends will be paid annually—and automati-

Reds in Han River Area Hit Hard

Caught in Trap

Yankee-French Combat Team Encircled in One Sector

Lake Success, Feb. 1 (AP) — The United Nations assembly today voted overwhelmingly to brand Communist China as an aggressor in Korea.

The vote was 44 to 7. The negative votes were cast by the five Soviet bloc countries and India and Burma. Nine countries were listed as abstaining, but one of them—Saudi Arabia—asked to be recorded as not participating.

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (AP)—Allied forces in bitter hand-to-hand fighting crunched ahead as much as three miles today in Western Korea, but a French-American combat team was trapped by superior Chinese forces in another sector of the warfront.

There were increasing signs that the eight-day-old United Nations limited offensive had slammed into the main Red defense line south of the Han river. The Han flows along the southeastern outskirts of Seoul.

A Tenth Corps spokesman said the encircled regiment had been fighting off two enemy regiments for hours in close combat. He would not predict its chances of breaking out of the trap.

Bayonet-wielding Turkish troops made Thursday's biggest advance, through rugged and muddy hill country against an enemy "firmly dug in," a briefing officer said.

Forward elements of this force drove to a point less than 4,000 yards south of Anyang, on the road to Seoul. Anyang is about nine miles northwest of Suwon and 11 miles south of the former South Korean capital. A few miles eastward, an American tank-led task force jabbed 2½ miles into Wonchon, but then withdrew. Wonchon is three miles east of Suwon.

Battle Line Extended

The battlefront now extends roughly along an east-west line five miles north of Suwon. At one point it is within nine miles of Seoul.

(By The Associated Press)

A rapidly spreading switchmen's walkout intensified a paralysis of the nation's rail system today and stalled defense shipments.

The "sick call" walkouts, moving into the third day, grew steadily more critical. They spanned the nation, hitting directly against 34 railroads in more than a score of cities.

Industrial areas of the east and midwest were particularly hard hit. In New York, both the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads predicted serious disruptions of their huge rail networks.

President Truman was reported considering a direct appeal to the railroad workers to weigh the effect on the tie-ups on defense preparations and the fighting in Korea.

A St. Louis business leader asserted the "sick" strikes "border on treason." This remark came from Carl Giessow, director of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Transportation Bureau.

Defense officials in Washington were pressuring the carriers, unions and the National Mediation Board to hasten a settlement of the wage and hour deadlock.

Fire Destroys Hurley Plant; Machines and Tools Are Lost

The Hurley Cabinet Company factory on the Thielpape road, Hurley, was destroyed early this morning by a fire of unknown origin.

Chief Winfred Snyder of the Hurley Fire Department reported that the owner, James Chianelli, has tentatively placed the damage at between $15,000 and $20,000. All the firm's woodworking machines and tools were lost, along with quantities of new material for cabinets, Chief Snyder said. The building, a converted barn, was destroyed.

The entire structure was involved with fire and the roof rafters were beginning to cave in when Hurley firemen arrived after a two-mile ride over slushy roads.

The A. H. Wicks Engine Company of Kingston responded to a mutual aid call but the fire had made too much headway and the building could not be saved, Chief Snyder reported.

A favorable wind assisted firemen in preventing fire damage to a house located about 1,000 feet from the factory.

A hand tractor was the only item saved from the factory building.

An automobile, belonging to Chianelli, was destroyed in the fire.

The fire was discovered about 4:30 a. m. today. Chief Snyder, fearing that telephone lines migh be down at the factory which is located on a dead-end road, sent an immediate call for assistance to mutual aid headquarters in Kingston, and the Wicks Company was dispatched.

In reporting the fire, Chief Snyder said it was a good case for equipping county fire companies with a two-way radio system. He pointed out that the building was already beyond saving when his company arrived and that it was useless for the Wicks company to make the long run to Hurley. However, the telephone lines were down and the mutual aid call could not be canceled, he said. On the other hand, he pointed out, if additional aid had been needed there was no way of requesting it.

The Hurley Cabinet Company maintains retail outlets for its products of 69 North Front street in Kingston and 458 Main street, Poughkeepsie.

Fire Chief Asks New Code And Building Inspector

Former Kingstonian Is in Capital Talking Men, Controls

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—A top-level committee on manpower mobilization and controls was being planned today, possibly under the Chairmanship of Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University.

Officials disclosed that Charles E. Wilson, chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization (O.D.M.) hopes to create the policy-making body before the week ends.

The action may settle a dispute between Wilson's aides and those of Secretary of Labor Tobin—who has a defense manpower office in his department—over who shall apportion manpower between the growing armed forces and expanding defense industry.

The O.D.M. declined to comment on reports that Flemming, former civil service commissioner, and a member of the War Man-

Murphy Reports 1950 Construction Hit $3,188,317 in Kingston

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy recommended a new building code and a building inspector when he submitted to the Board of Fire Commissioners yesterday his annual report showing a 1950 increase of $3,188,317 in estimated new building costs over 1949.

The chief noted that "It is true that the increase in cost was partly due to the hospital building (Benedictine) and the George Washington School, but less the hospital and school estimate there was $2,181,400 worth of construction."

Of this total $1,379,390 was for residential construction. The 1949 total for all purposes was $1,693,083 and this was $488,400 under the 1950 total exclusive of the school and hospital sums, which brought the year's total to a record high of $4,881,400.

"The figures shown in the report regarding building and construction should be conclusive evidence for the need of a new building code and a building inspector. I recommend a building code and a building inspector," the report said.

Fire Loss Cited

The total fire loss for 1950, including fires for which the department was not called was $57,720.34, and this was a decrease of $9,987.80 under 1949, the report said. The per capita loss for the city was $1.99.

Total insurance carried on buildings and contents involved in fires to which the fire department responded was $523,250, the report said, and the total loss for these was $54,236.65.

The report explained that "Incipient fires to which the department was not called caused fire damage to buildings and contents. Fires were caused by cigarettes, cigars, matches, candles and gas flame. A fire loss was paid on these fires and is chargeable to the total city fire loss. Insurance carried on buildinfis was $74,000. Insurance on contents was $190,700."

Loss paid on buildings, it continued, was $612.17, and that paid on contents was $2,871.52 with a total of $3,485.69. The total insurance carried on all buildings and contents was $787,950 and the total fire loss was $57,720.34.

Permits Total More

The report showed a total of 723 permits for building purposes in 1950 as against 616 in 1949, and of those issued last year, 162

Premier Says Span Collapse Work of Subversive Factors

Duplessis Calls Inquiry Into Bridge Failure; Was Erected in 1948

Three Rivers, Que., Feb. 1 (AP)—Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis charged last night that "sabotage by subversive elements" was responsible for the collapse of the $3,000,000 Duplessis Highway Bridge. He announced a government inquiry into the disaster.

Nearly half of the broad bridge built in 1948 snapped in 26-below zero weather early yesterday morning, plunging four persons to an icy death.

Duplessis, after whom the bridge was named, told the Quebec Legislature a government investigation, not necessary public, would begin soon.

The Legislature debated on the huge concrete and steel structure a year ago, shortly after fissures reportedly were discovered in the steelwork during extremely cold weather.

Was Closed To Traffic

At that time the nine-span bridge, more than a third of a mile long, was closed to heavy traffic while the cracks were repaired.

The collapse came with a roar and rumble described by witnesses like that of an earthquake. Only a few cars were crossing at the time. Had the disaster occurred during the daytime when the bridge, normally is bustling with heavy traffic, the death toll might have been heavy. The bridge is the main connecting link between this industrial city and Quebec, the provincial capital.

Premier Duplessis told the Legislature that he believed sabotage was involved. He based his theory on the "timing" of the crash in the early morning hours and the fact that it was "the Duplessis Bridge." The premier an outspoken foe of communism recalled that he is the author of the Quebec "Padlock Law" by which police can close up establishments suspected of subversive or Communist connections.

Two Families Routed by Fire

Delaware Avenue Blaze Believed Started by Refrigerator

A fire believed to have started in a refrigerator, damaged the apartment of Joseph L. Wolf on the second floor of the building at 138 Delaware avenue, owned by Dominick Perry, and housing the Perry grocery store, this morning.

Two families were routed by the blaze for which the first telephone alarm at 6:58 a. m., was followed by another a minute later and an alarm from Box 2222, Delaware avenue and North street, at 7 a. m.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said damage was confined mostly to the kitchen in the Wolf apartment, but smoke and water damage extended to other rooms on the upper floor and caused some lighter damage to the apartment and store below.

The building and store contents are insured but the tenants hold no insurance, the chief said. No estimate of damage was given.

Discovers Fire

Wolf discovered the fire when he was wakened by the odor of smoke. He saw it was centered in the refrigerator but was unable to get near it with water and called the fire department.

The blaze forced Wolf, his wife and two children and George Geisler, his wife and baby, who occupied the lower apartment, to flee the building, and Chief Murphy said when he arrived it "looked like the whole building was going."

Union and Cordts hose companies, Cornell and the truck from central station responded to the alarms and three lines of hose were used. The recall alarm was sounded at 7:57 a. m., but the last piece of apparatus did not leave until after 10 a. m.

All insulation in the refrigerator was burning and had to be removed, the chief said, and the ladder of the aerial truck was used to get to the attic of the building. All furniture in the first floor apartment was covered and damage by smoke and water in the store is believed to be slight. The flames did not break through the walls or roof and were confined largely to the kitchen.

Rates Are Studied

"Studies on rates still are being made," VA said.

However, the average payment figures out to about $85, compared with an average of $175 for the first special dividend, on which VA started payments in January 1950.

The initial dividend covered the period from the start of the National Service Life Insurance program, in October, 1940, through the 1948 anniversary dates. The second dividend will be for three years, from 1948 through the 1951 anniversary.

It probably will also be the last special dividend, VA said. Hereafter, when there is a surplus in the insurance fund, dividends will be paid annually—and automati-

Reds in Han River Area Hit Hard

Caught in Trap

Yankee-French Combat Team Encircled in One Sector

Lake Success, Feb. 1 (AP) — The United Nations assembly today voted overwhelmingly to brand Communist China as an aggressor in Korea.

The vote was 44 to 7. The negative votes were cast by the five Soviet bloc countries and India and Burma. Nine countries were listed as abstaining, but one of them—Saudi Arabia—asked to be recorded as not participating.

Tokyo, Feb. 1 (AP)—Allied forces in bitter hand-to-hand fighting crunched ahead as much as three miles today in Western Korea, but a French-American combat team was trapped by superior Chinese forces in another sector of the warfront.

There were increasing signs that the eight-day-old United Nations limited offensive had slammed into the main Red defense line south of the Han river. The Han flows along the southeastern outskirts of Seoul.

A Tenth Corps spokesman said the encircled regiment had been fighting off two enemy regiments for hours in close combat. He would not predict its chances of breaking out of the trap.

Bayonet-wielding Turkish troops made Thursday's biggest advance, through rugged and muddy hill country against an enemy "firmly dug in," a briefing officer said.

Forward elements of this force drove to a point less than 4,000 yards south of Anyang, on the road to Seoul. Anyang is about nine miles northwest of Suwon and 11 miles south of the former South Korean capital. A few miles eastward, an American tank-led task force jabbed 2½ miles into Wonchon, but then withdrew. Wonchon is three miles east of Suwon.

Battle Line Extended

The battlefront now extends roughly along an east-west line five miles north of Suwon. At one point it is within nine miles of Seoul.

Near the junction of the western and central fronts French and

(By The Associated Press)

A rapidly spreading switchmen's walkout intensified a paralysis of the nation's rail system today and stalled defense shipments.

The "sick call" walkouts, moving into the third day, grew steadily more critical. They spanned the nation, hitting directly against 34 railroads in more than a score of cities.

Industrial areas of the east and midwest were particularly hard hit. In New York, both the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads predicted serious disruptions of their huge rail networks.

President Truman was reported considering a direct appeal to the railroad workers to weigh the effect on the tie-ups on defense preparations and the fighting in Korea.

A St. Louis business leader asserted the "sick" strikes "border on treason." This remark came from Carl Giessow, director of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Transportation Bureau.

Defense officials in Washington were pressuring the carriers, unions and the National Mediation Board to hasten a settlement of the wage and hour deadlock.

Dewey Supports Move to Tax Heavy Trucks Within State

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Governor Dewey reportedly has thrown his support behind a move a move in the legislature to levy a new state tax on heavy trucks.

If enacted, the tax would net the state at least $20,000,000 annually. It would assure Dewey an emergency fund in case heavy civil defense demands skyrocketed spending in the 1951-52 fiscal year.

Dewey's support of a new weight-distance tax was reported by a reliable capitol source. It also was learned that some top fiscal experts of the Dewey administration had been directed to complete their research swiftly to determine the feasibility of the proposed tax plan.

The Governor's stand was reported a few hours after a Republican senator, George T. Manning of Rochester, said he would introduce a weight-distance tax bill late next week. His measure also may include inter-city buses.

A Dewey spokesman declined to say whether Dewey was for or against the measure.

Manning is chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on highway and canal revenue. The group held a public hearing last week on proposals to increase the state tax levy on heavy trucks.

Capital sources pointed out that the drive for the proposed tax came at a time when heavy pressure was pyramiding for new funds, not only for civil defense, but also for a pay increase for public school teachers and state employes.

Easing of the federal government's ban on pay increases yesterday cleared the way for such raises promised earlier by Dewey.

Funds for pay increases and for civil defense are included in Dewey's new record-high budget of $939,000,000. But the ceilings put on such increases virtually guaranteed that many groups would demand more.

In his budget, sent to the legislature Tuesday, the Governor

Fire Destroys Hurley Plant; Machines and Tools Are Lost

The Hurley Cabinet Company factory on the Thielpape road, Hurley, was destroyed early this morning by a fire of unknown origin.

Chief Winfred Snyder of the Hurley Fire Department reported that the owner, James Chianelli, has tentatively placed the damage at between $15,000 and $20,000. All the firm's woodworking machines and tools were lost, along with quantities of new material for cabinets, Chief Snyder said. The building, a converted barn, was destroyed.

The entire structure was involved with fire and the roof rafters were beginning to cave in when Hurley firemen arrived after a two-mile ride over slushy roads.

The A. H. Wicks Engine Company of Kingston responded to a mutual aid call but the fire had made too much headway and the building could not be saved, Chief Snyder reported.

A favorable wind assisted firemen in preventing fire damage to a house located about 1,000 feet from the factory.

A hand tractor was the only item saved from the factory building.

An automobile, belonging to Chianelli, was destroyed in the fire.

The fire was discovered about 4:30 a. m. today. Chief Snyder, fearing that telephone lines migh be down at the factory which is located on a dead-end road, sent an immediate call for assistance to mutual aid headquarters in Kingston, and the Wicks Company was dispatched.

In reporting the fire, Chief Snyder said it was a good case for equipping county fire companies with a two-way radio system. He pointed out that the building was already beyond saving when his company arrived and that it was useless for the Wicks company to make the long run to Hurley. However, the telephone lines were down and the mutual aid call could not be canceled, he said. On the other hand, he pointed out, if additional aid had been needed there was no way of requesting it.

The Hurley Cabinet Company maintains retail outlets for its products of 69 North Front street in Kingston and 458 Main street, Poughkeepsie.

Ulster Hose Gives Report at Banquet

The annual banquet of Ulster Hose Company was held at the San Bar, on the By-Pass, Saturday night, January 27th, when a turkey dinner was enjoyed by about 20 firemen and their guests. Committee on arrangements for the affair consisted of Russel Smith, chairman, assisted by Sam La Guardia and Ed Thomas.

After the dinner, Russel Smith, who acted as toastmaster introduced the officers of the hose company, the officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary and distinguished guests. These included Fire Chief Joseph Murphy, Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford and Mrs. Sanford and several Town of Ulster officials. Horace Boice, supervisor; Vernon Felton, highway commissioner, Percy Bush and Harold Macholdt, justices, Clarence Rappleyea, councilman, and Roy Crosby and Charles Thiel, assessors.

President Ed Dingleday gave everyone a hearty welcome and said that he was anxious to have more residents of the fire district join the company. He also mentioned the fact that the Ladies' Auxiliary had been of great assistance to the organization.

Immediate Past President Ed Davis outlined some of the financial accomplishments of the company during 1950. He said the fair committee, under the chairmanship of Millard Davis, made $3,100 at the three-day fair held last August; the social party committee had turned in a substantial amount to the treasurer. These parties are held at the fire house every Friday night and Martin Petersen and his helpers are doing a fine job. Ulster Hose Company started 1950 with a cash balance of $769.45. During the year they took in $8,488.49 and spent $8,642.75 leaving a balance of $615.18.

Expenditures represented money paid out for firemanic equipment $902.90; payment of mortgage and interest, $4,597.68; purchase of land for recreational purposes, $600; house supplies, equipment and labor, $1083.62; insurance, Christmas cheer and mortage burning banquet, $858.61 and incidentals, $799.95.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy spoke of the very fine, co-operative work accomplished recently by the Ruby and Ulster Hose companies in saving the Sawkill Church from complete loss by fire.

Entertainment and music for dancing were furnished by the Peter Marconi Trio.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Jan. 31 — Among the Boiceville residents enjoying a winter sojourn are Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Czygan and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ginsbettle of the heights section.

Donald North is taking a post graduate course at Kingston High School.

The Ashokan Methodist Church official board met at the parsonage Monday night. A meeting of the board of the West Hurley Church is scheduled for Sunday morning, Feb. 4, following the morning service.

It may be years before the trout fishing is good in some of the Catskills streams, according to the opinion of "Mountaineer," wise old columnist of the Catskill Mountain News, who says that fishermen are doing considerable speculating about the damage done to the sport by the November flood. Erosion during the flood was very bad in some cases, changing the course of brooks and washing out the deeper pools where big trout spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGovern returned to their home in the village last week following a southern trip in their car.

Echoes of waterworks days: Feb. 1, 1910—Benjamin Green, 91, father of 9 children, died at the David Simmons home in West Hurley...Millard H. Davis, Boiceville farmer and witness for property owners in numerous Ashokan claims, and a bear both saw their shadows on Groundhog Day. Bruin, sleek and fat, trotted towards Millard as though to make friends but the genial Plumland expert, having no gun, decided to go back to the house...Bertha Matthews (now of Kingston) is scheduled to sail tomorrow on a two weeks' trip to Bermuda.

Alva Buley and his two assistants were sanding the Onteora Trail in the village at an accelerated clip Tuesday morning. A small trailer, fed by the shovelers, whirled the sand across the 24-foot pavement and the truck was out of sight in quick time. Something new and novel for these parts.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jahn of Boiceville are reported home again following a vacation trip to Florida.

Robert Thompson has been transferred to the New York office of the Continental Can Co.

Heart Fund Drive To Raise Funds Is Set for County

Plans for the 1951 Heart Fund for Ulster county were made on Monday afternoon at the county building in Kingston. The meeting was called to order by T. Jay Rifenbary, county campaign chairman. Arrangements were made for the distribution of plastic hearts which will be placed in various business places beginning February 1. The campaign closes March 1. Plans for publicity in newspapers and radio were also made.

A letter appeal will be sent out from the headquarters of the Heart Chapter, 74 John street, to certain individuals and organizations. To carry on a children's heart project and its educational program which is planned for Ulster county during 1951, the Heart Committee has set a goal of $5,500. N. Jansen Fowler of Kingston heads the committee of physicians and lay members who are planning the 1951 heart program for Ulster county.

The following persons are serving on the campaign committee with T. Jay Rifenbary as general county chairman:

Newspaper publicity — Joseph Kelly, Kingston Daily Freeman; Frank Antennucci, Ulster County News.

Gardiner — Floyd McKinstry, Gardiner.

Hardenbergh — Mrs. Claude Haynes, Arkville.

Hurley — Mrs. William McNamee, West Hurley.

Kingston—Miss Cecelia Goldpaugh, R. D. 2, Kingston.

Lloyd—Mrs. Edward McCarthy, Highland.

Marbletown—Mrs. Frances Basten, R. D. 3, Kingston.

Marlborough — Pat Mataraza, Milton.

New Paltz—Mrs. Donald Beattie, New Paltz.

Olive—Mrs. Floyd Merrihew, Ashokan.

Plattekill—Mrs. Onufry Orlowski, R. 2, Wallkill.

Rochester—Mrs. Donald Schoonmaker, Accord.

Rosendale—Miss Luella Wilson, Rosendale.

Saugerties—Mrs. William Vozdik, president, Girls Community Club.

Shandaken — Mrs. George Bedell, Big Indian.

Shawangunk—Bob Terwilliger, Wallkill.

Wawarsing—Sid Simick, Ellenville.

Woodstock—Mrs. Frank Antennucci, Woodstock.

The following individuals and organizations have volunteered their services for the distribution of plastic hearts in Kingston:

Catholic Daughters of America—Mrs. Vincent Gorman, chairman; Mrs. Arthur Ballard, co-chairman.

B'nai B'rith Auxiliary — Mrs. Samuel Gally, chairman.

Kingston Chapter, Order of Eastern Star—Mrs. John Sleight, chairman.

Ladies' Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars—Mrs. William Jordan, chairman.

16 Workers Killed

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Feb. 1 (AP)—Sixteen shipyard workers were killed and 48 others injured yesterday when a ship's gangway collapsed. It was the worst shipyards disaster in Belfast history. The men were crowding ashore after working on the Argentine ship Juan Jeron, being equipped as a whale factory ship.

End of Record New York-London Flight

Capt. Charles Blair waves from cockpit of his modified single-engined F-51 Mustang plane at London's airport after smashing all records for a flight from New York. Blair, 41-year-old Pan American pilot, streaked over the London airport just seven hours and 48 minutes after his dawn takeoff from New York's Idlewood Airport. His average speed for the non-stop trip of about 3,500 miles was about 450 miles per hour. (AP Wirephoto by radio from London).

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, Jan. 31—The P.-T.A. met at the school house Friday afternoon when plans were made for the Valentine party to be held February 14. The next meeting will be held February 28, at the school house.

Mrs. Kornelia Kallenberg of Brooklyn spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Christensen.

Herbert Scheringer spent the week-end with friends in New York.

Mrs. Juan Botella and children called on Mrs. Bruno Borchardt Thursday afternoon.

Strike Affects 34,000

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Approximately 34,000 commuters in southern Queens and Nassau counties were hit today by a strike against the Bee Line Bus Company which began at midnight. After negotiations broke down last night, 278 bus drivers failed to report for work, and set up picket lines at the company's offices in Rockville Centre. Negotiations had been in progress for two months between the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union and the company.

A communicants class for young people desiring to unite with the church will begin Sunday, Feb. 11 at the parsonage during the Sunday school hour.

World Day of Prayer will be observed Friday, Feb. 9, in the Wallkill Reformed Church at 8 p. m. All neighboring congregations will attend. The Rev. John W. Tysse will be the speaker with William Topping and the church choir presenting the music.

Potsdam Paper Suspends

Potsdam, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—The weekly Potsdam Herald has suspended publication after 73 years. The newspaper said in a front-page editorial yesterday that "constantly increasing material costs and a growing shortage of newsprint have made The Herald an unprofitable venture despite the fact it had had public acceptance and increasing advertising revenues." The paper had 2,000 subscribers in the northern New York area.

Kiwus Got 95 Average

The name of John Kiwus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kiwus of 14 South Wall street, was inadvertently omitted from the recent Kingston High School honor roll. The name of John Kiwus should have appeared among the students with a 95 per cent average.

16 Workers Killed

Belfast, Northern Ireland, Feb. 1 (AP)—Sixteen shipyard workers were killed and 48 others injured yesterday when a ship's gangway collapsed. It was the worst shipyards disaster in Belfast history. The men were crowding ashore after working on the Argentine ship Juan Jeron, being equipped as a whale factory ship.

End of Record New York-London Flight

Strike Affects 34,000

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Approximately 34,000 commuters in southern Queens and Nassau counties were hit today by a strike against the Bee Line Bus Company which began at midnight. After negotiations broke down last night, 278 bus drivers failed to report for work, and set up picket lines at the company's offices in Rockville Centre. Negotiations had been in progress for two months between the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union and the company.

Potsdam Paper Suspends

Potsdam, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—The weekly Potsdam Herald has suspended publication after 73 years. The newspaper said in a front-page editorial yesterday that "constantly increasing material costs and a growing shortage of newsprint have made The Herald an unprofitable venture despite the fact it had had public acceptance and increasing advertising revenues." The paper had 2,000 subscribers in the northern New York area.

EDUCATION AND FEAR

A prime subject for discussion nowadays is education. It is near the top of the list, crowding close to war and taxes. The consensus seems to be that we ought to expect more of education than we have in the past. The time-honored academic subjects are being supplemented by such intangibles as "attitudes."

Speaking to an alumnae group recently, Miss Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, stated that schools and colleges must be concerned with the abatement of mental and spiritual insecurity. Above and beyond the practical value of education lies the larger concern of helping to free people from fear, which is the basic cause of war, said Miss Clapp.

The Greek philosophers, with their groups of pupils in the Attic groves, made their responsibility the forming of philosophic attitudes in their young listeners. Our own early educators such as Mark Hopkins were inspiring leaders who gave their students something valuable which was not found in textbooks. Many modern college courses, based on the reading of great books and their subsequent discussions in small groups, have this tendency. If fear is ever to be conquered, it is by this sort of education.

TICKETS FOR BENEFITS

In New York City, firemen are no longer allowed to sell tickets for benefits and the like. Too many instances have occurred of business men declining to buy and then having minor violations of the fire laws charged against them, to their cost.

Situations like this occur in various forms in different parts of the nation. Motorists occasionally are stopped when entering a city with a request to buy tickets for the policemen's ball or some such event. If they agree to the purchase, probably for only a dollar or two, they get a ticket which may be stuck on their windshields and protects them from further annoyance while passing through the city. Without this sticker they may be stopped half a dozen times with a request to buy.

These practices are different from projects of volunteer fire companies and the like which actually have to employ public solicitation to obtain funds for their operations. Heads of police and fire departments should check up now and then to see if such practices are growing up under their noses.

ANTIDOTE FOR TERROR

It is an axiom in military operations that for every new weapon there is a new defense. Despite this, new weapons have a fearsome fascination for most people, and especially is this true of weapons, such as bombs and gases, which indiscriminately take their victims from among soldiers and civilians alike. Known new weapons are bad enough; rumored ones are worse.

One of the more disturbing rumored new weapons of World War II and the following period is called nerve gas. It is supposed to be more deadly and swifter in its action than previously known blister and lung gases, and to be capable of causing 100 per cent casualties in its central target area. What could one do against such a weapon?

The answering defensive instrument not only has been found but is in production, it has been revealed. It is a small, simple device to inject a drug which is an antidote for the nerve gas. Here also is an antidote for the terror which is sometimes engendered by stories of new weapons and new methods of warfare.

A PERIL WE FACE

In an atomic war the United States, despite its superiority, could expect to get hurt. This is the frank admission of the air force chief of staff, General Hoyt S. Vandenberg. It will not be possible, to keep all enemy planes out, or even the majority. In the battle for Britain the British knocked down only eight per cent of the invading ...mans. When the allied planes swarmed ...rmany in the latter days of the war, they lost only four per cent of their planes.

What about radar and other possible new inventions? Will they not improve the score? Not too much. All that the air force hopes is to destroy twenty to thirty per cent of hostile aircraft. The others will get through, particularly if their crews are as willing to risk their lives as were the pilots of the Japanese suicide planes. Perhaps Russia would suffer more in an interchange of bombings, but the United States cannot expect to get off scot free.

'These Days'

LOYALTY

Loyalty is not a debatable question. No society can tolerate disloyalty to itself; otherwise it would decay from the vileness of its own members. Therefore, every government rejects the right of a traitor to be a traitor, even though, in a free society, the individual may claim freedom of thought and action. In old-fashioned wars, which were genteel to a degree, the spy and traitor performed unmistakable functions and therefore his labors could be readily evaluated and his character judged.

Recognizing these postulates as basic, it is not remarkable that such strong efforts have been put forth over the years to conceal, to cover up, to protect treason and traitors. The politicians in office, seeking only their private advancement, lack the knowledge to recognize modern treason for what it is. Modern treason is a non-military activity, performed constantly and unrelated to the time limits of a state of war. The Dies Committee, shabbily treated even by the Democratic Party of which Congressman Dies was a member, laid the foundation for a technique of discovering treason in peacetime Every effort was made by the administration, from the very start, to give to that committee the appearance of the ridiculous.

The Dies Committee performed an outstanding service to this country because it laid the foundation for a study of Marxist infiltration into American life. Its files are basic for any understanding of this problem; its reports remain the best source material for any study of treason as a continuous operation.

Parnell Thomas, long before he got into trouble over a salary kickback, was most viciously attacked, and I am not sure yet that he was not punished so severely for an infraction not as unusual as it may seem, because he headed an anti-Communist investigative committee.

The current House Committee on Un-American Activities has done some important investigating but it has also missed most of the available opportunities. In fact, it is this committee that should have investigated the Amerasia case which definitely involved treason, treachery, deceit, cover-up and dishonorable politics. It was because this committee failed to pursue the penetration and infiltration of the State Department and the Treasury by Communists that Senator Joe McCarthy stepped into the arena with his charges. This committee must now be regarded as inadequate.

The Tydings Committee made an altogether fruitless attempt to discover disloyalty within the government. In fact, it sought to try Senator Joe McCarthy with a view to his political destruction. The motives of Senator Millard Tydings have never been clear nor are they important. The fact is that his committee covered up and whitewashed disloyalty.

Now the Senate has appointed the McCarran Committee and provided it with initial funds to start all over again to root out disloyalty in government. The intentions of Senator Patrick McCarran are excellent, and should he find an adequate staff of well-oriented counsel and investigators, he could get at the roots of disloyalty.

But before the McCarran Committee can organize and get ready to do a suitable task, the President appointed his own commission to compete with the Senate committee. At the head of the President's commission is Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, an honored citizen whose name and rank and record should not be disposed of in this manner. Actually, Admiral Nimitz should not have accepted this appointment to compete with a Senate committee and thus provide muddied waters under which the disloyal can hide and possibly escape.

I object to the use of the phrases, "loyalty commission," "loyalty boards," "loyalty oaths." The word should be "disloyalty." Most Americans are loyal; only a few in the government are disloyal. The few should be exposed and eliminated.

Even in the matter of funds for the McCarran Committee, certain senators are trying to block this essential investigation on the ground of economy. It is as important to expose the disloyal as it is to maintain supplies for the army.

The commission appointed by the President contains distinguished names. But not a single person on it has established himself as an authority on this subject. A smart Marxist could make a monkey out of its members by the use of Aesopian language. The disloyal are still in luck.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

GALLSTONE PATIENTS

Physicians once believed that a patient who was "fair, fat and forty," was bound to have gallstones and liver disturbances. This was in the days when tight corsets prevented pressure on the liver from exercise and breathing. There was, therefore, less movement of the liver and thus a slower circulation of blood in the liver and interference with flow of bile to the gall bladder and small intestine. (Some years ago McGill University research workers established the fact that all movements, all exercise, stimulate circulation in the liver.)

The individual with gallstones is not necessarily overweight. In The Scandinavian Medical Journal, Dr. E. Schrodt (Aalborg, Denmark) reports that he found that the average weight of 19 men with gallstones corresponded exactly with the average weight of men of equal height and bodybuild. In 43 women with gallstones, weight was increased an average of less than 3 per cent. In 19 men and 43 women with medical diseases with gallstones, the average weight was about five per cent less than the average but nearly four per cent more than the average of those without liver ailments.

From the above it can be seen that overweight has little relationship to gallstones or other diseases of the liver. It is lack of exercise, lack of body movements, that is the big factor in causing these ailments.

A group of 208 men and 215 women with mental diseases showed an average of about three per cent underweight for men and an average overweight of about five per cent for women, which shows us that it is natural for women to carry a little extra fat whether or not they have body or mental ailments. With the exception of certain cases of heart disease (although most heart disease patients are allowed short walks), we can all do a little more exercise. Bending he body sideways while keeping knees straight (called the "liver squeezer") is most beneficial.

It has been truly said that life depends on the liver.

Liver and Gall Bladder

The liver does more different kinds of work than any other organ in the body. Anything that interferes with its work upsets all the body processes. The gall bladder also can cause many distressing symptoms. Send 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp, to cover cost of handling and mailing, to The Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for your copy of the Barton booklet "Liver and Gall Bladder."

Sauce and Applesauce

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman and top advisers decided last week that the St. Lawrence waterway, a raging issue in Congress for two decades, must no longer be delayed if the United States is to maintain a strong defense in the future.

Most surprising endorsement of the seaway came from Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson, who once opposed it. However, even such implacable foes as Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Rep. Charles Buckley of New York have now promised not to impede the proposed canal joining Detroit and Chicago with the Atlantic ocean.

Citing the need for quick action, two-fisted Rep. John Blatnik on Minnesota, leading House crusader for the St. Lawrence waterway, told the White House meeting: "There is no need for long hearings on this. We know the whole story from previous hearings. We also know that we face a serious deficit of iron ore for defense (steel) in the next few years unless we draw on the vast deposits in Labrador the proposed waterway can bring us."

"There's still another reason," suggested President Truman. "Canada has been waiting 41 years for us to help her construct the waterway and is getting impatient. If we don't move now, Canada may go ahead with the construction of the canal and electric-power development without our partnership. If that happens, there will be no joint control of the waterway. Instead, Canada will have complete control and ownership.

"Isn't it a lot better," continued the President, "to accept the joint partnership control Canada has offered us and make sure that our interests in this vital link to Canadian ore deposits are safeguarded in the future?"

"I think so," agreed Wilson, former head of General Electric. "When electric power was the main factor of the proposed seaway, I was against it, because there were other ways to get power. But navigation and the need for Canadian ore are now the paramount considerations."

Texas Tom Yields

Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman also supported Truman, as did two other potent figures at the closed-door conference, Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of army engineers, and G.O.P. Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

Wiley remarked that if Truman "held a few more meetings like this one, I'll bet you could convince the railroad owners who have been blocking the seaway." Turning to Senator Connally, the Wisconsinite jibed: "Tom, you've done a little blocking yourself."

When the big Texan growled a denial, Wiley continued: "Well, then you've stacked subcommittees against the bill."

"What you mean to say is that I have refused to go along with you when you tried to get me to stack subcommittees with proponents of the St. Lawrence Waterway," shot back Connally.

However, Texas Tom made it clear that he wouldn't stand in the way if the majority of both Houses favored the waterway. He even managed a smile when, sitting close to Wiley for a news picture, the Wisconsin senator wisecracked: "I see you've shifted to my side."

Truman's Old Crony

It is now pretty well agreed that one of the best things Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia ever did was to stop the appointment of the President's crony, Mon Wallgreen, to be chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

Thanks in part to Senator Byrd, the ex-senator from Washington was shunted from the vitally important War Board to what was considered a safe roosting place, the chairmanship of the Federal Power Commission.

Here, however, Wallgren has been such a flop that even his old friend in the White House is reported disappointed with him.

Wallgren's latest dilettantism is a move to transfer the Federal Power Commission to Colorado Springs—because the climate is better. Also Mon would be nearer his home state of Washington where he wants to run for the Senate again. Finally, Mon has some real estate in Southern California and he wants to be closer to it than Washington, D. C.

On top of this, Wallgreen seems to have forgotten one of the most courageous battles ever staged by his friend in the White House—Kerr Natural Gas Bill.

Vigorous wire-pullers for this bill were Senator Kerr, Oklahoma, and his silent oil partner, Phillips Petroleum. Phillips is now up for investigation by the F.P.C. for unnecessary hiking rates to the state of Wisconsin and the city of Detroit. Fear of these high rates was one reason why Truman vetoed the Kerr Bill. But despite this, Wallgren voted against his old friend in the white House to sidetrack the probe.

The investigation of Phillips was requested by Wisconsin and Detroit two long years ago. In that year — 1948 — Phillips paid dividends of 18.7 per cent on common stock and surplus, but even so, hiked its rates to northern gas users.

Pipeline Politics

Most recent move by Wallgren which is against Truman policy is to O.K. a $58,000,000 natural gas pipeline to New England for Texas Eastern—which cooperates with and helps to protect Koppers Coke, a part of the Andrew Mellon industrial empire. This line was opposed by both Democrat and Republican leaders in New England, including Gov. Sherman Adams and Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, both Republicans; and Senators McMahon of Connecticut and Green of Rhode Island, both Democrats. They favor the cheaper $38,000,000 northeastern pipeline to New England, claim New England cannot afford to be saddled with two lines and such heavy expense.

Note—A lot of politics—both Democratic and Republican—is mixed up in this power commission maneuvering. On the Democratic side, it was Phillips Petroleum which conveniently put its private plane at the disposal of Democratic bigwigs to fly to Kansas City for the Bill Boyle dinner. On the Republican side it is Phillips Petroleum which hires Neil Tolman as its Washington lobbyist. Tolman, former campaign manager for GOP Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, is a potent means of reaching the Federal Power Commission. For Bridges packs powerful influence with Nelson Lee Smith, also from New Hampshire and GOP member of the commission.

The Miracle of the Cathedral of Cologne

In 1830 the King of Prussia ordered the architect Zwirner to complete the construction of the Cathedral of Cologne, unfinished for 600 years. The architect started a long search for the original building plans and finally located half of them in the National Library in Paris. The other half of the plans had simply vanished. He had given up hope when he stopped at an inn in Passy. Here he stumbled upon the half of the building plans while observing a beehive in the courtyard. The parchment had been used to line the hive. This miraculous discovery now enabled him to finish the great structure.

Action of United Nations Considered Remarkable in View of Certain Factors

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 1—Vindication for the principle of collective security has been slow in coming through at the United Nations meetings but the importance of the fact that it has finally come cannot be underestimated.

The American people naturally have been impatient about the months of talk and procrastination. It's the same kind of irritation which occasionally crops up when Congress dawdles along. But there is need for even more patience and sympathetic understanding where the United Nations is concerned. For here is a body that isn't really a world parliament or a superstate, and yet at times it has the seeming obligation to act as such under the compulsion of worldwide public opinion.

When it is considered that the debates in the U.N. are not printed widely and that slow methods of communicating messages and their import to the peoples of each country are still in use in some instances, the fact that an overwhelming majority can be obtained at all for a condemnation of aggression is remarkable.

The vote in the U.N. on the aggression resolution is in a proper sense a victory for the diplomacy of the United States and particularly for the ambassadors and ministers abroad who have been laboring so zealously in the past few weeks to explain to the different foreign offices of the world the true meaning of the American viewpoint in world affairs today. The Department of State can proudly chalk up a point gained, and the American people inevitably will increase their confidence in that department if it continues to hew to the straight line of moral principle.

For it was a moral principle of great significance which was at stake in the resolution of the General Assembly condemning Red China as an aggressor. To some observers this may seem to be merely a calling of names. But it isn't the characterization which counts but the fact that a world tribunal did pronounce its judgment so plainly after the fullest and frankest debate, such as is customary in democratic parliaments.

There is ground for satisfaction, too, that all those European countries which were hesitating a few weeks ago have now seen the wisdom of supporting a moral principle as the paramount duty of an assembly which represents free nations. By branding Red China as an aggressor, the same assembly can apply not merely its potential armed strength but also its moral force, which can penetrate the public opinion of all nations and forge a spirit of unity behind international policy.

It will be recalled that, in the 1920s, the idea of outlawing war and condemning aggression was the basic truth which the Kellogg-Briand treaties proclaimed. But, unhappily, there was then no accompanying definition of what the signatories were to do to protect the victims of aggression.

Today the implications of the U.N. resolution stand out clearly. A faction or regime or government which is branded the aggressor must desist from that course or suffer the consequences. Nor is physical punishment by force of arms the only thing that can follow Moral condemnation means that Red China has disqualified herself as a government capable of discharging international obligations. This disqualification for membership in the family of nations can mean withholding of diplomatic recognition, too, and it could mean economic blockade and further embargoes. It implies pressure of all kinds, but there is no reason to be too hasty about selecting the methods, especially when the first troops on the military front and job is to defeat Red China's troops on the military front and compel their withdrawal from Korea, where the aggression occurred.

To many casual observers the U. N. resolution and the fighting in Korea may seem purposeless, but the truth is that, as events unfold, it will be found that the firm action of the U. N., led as it was by a resolute American delegation, will have contributed a great deal toward prevention of large-scale war. And speaking of patience and understanding, the individual performance of Ambassador Warren Austin has been outstanding. His experience in the U. S. Senate, where for years he represented the state of Vermont, has taught him restraint as well as calmness under the fire of debates and under the provocation of obstructive filibusters. He has proved just the man to represent America in the U. N.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 31—I have received a copy of a dodger put out by Lee Keedick, a manager of lecturers, singers and miscellaneous trained seals, soliciting professional engagements for one Quentin Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds is described as a "world famous correspondent, author, editor." His topics include "the duties of citizenship." Mr. Reynolds has been hired to lecture at a dinner of the New York Credit and Financial Management Association on Feb. 14. Leslie Gould, the financial writer of the New York Journal-American, who maintains a vigorous anti-Communist theme in his copy asked a friend who holds an executive position in this association how the association happened to select Mr. Reynolds.

"He was picked by a special committee from a list sent by a speakers' bureau," Mr. Gould reports. "While these men are in the business of checking on us mortals and view with a jaundiced eye our financial standing, apparently they made no check as to Reynolds' associations." An officer of the association told Mr. Gould that no check was made beyond the blurb from the speakers' bureau. They wanted a non-controversial speaker who would be entertaining. He asked what they were paying Reynolds, and mentioned $1,000. The official said ti was "half that." The association includes some of the biggest industrial companies in the United States.

As a public service, I provide herein information concerning Quentin Reynolds, which may be a guide to any organizations which may desire to hire him to instruct them in the duties of citizenship and other subjects in which he claims authority. It may also help the radio and television publics to evaluate his statements.

Mr. Reynolds appears to regard himself as a superior reporter. He disparaged the work of the American journalists who had been covering Moscow before he went there with the Harriman-Beaverbrook mission. The purpose of this mission was to thrust on the Soviet dictators the riches of the United States, including in the long run, vast amounts of stuff which was used to build up industrial Russia after the war.

Mr. Reynolds wrote that the longer he stayed in Russia the more he realized the "terrific misconceptions" held by the American and British people concerning the Soviet Union. The reason for this, he wrote, was that for years these people had been receiving their information from salesmen, not from reporters. He said the "writing salesmen" were trying to sell us communism or make us hate it.

Father Leopold Braun, the American Catholic priest who was stationed in Moscow, has told me that this reflection on the integrity and ability of the journalists stationed in Moscow offended some of them deeply.

Bearing in mind this phase of things, we come at once to Reynolds' description of Father Braun as "a little Jesuit priest."

Father Braun told me he was five feet eleven and one-half inches tall. He is not a Jesuit but a member of the Assumptionist

Q—Do birds have a method of communicating with one another?

A—Call notes form the principal language of birds. Anxiety, fear and other emotions can be expressed by them. Their song is heard most frequently during the nesting season, and usually only the males are able to sing.

Q—When were postal systems begun?

A—Postal delivery goes back to ancient times. Slaves and others carried letters more than 2000 years ago. Private mailing was established in the Middle Ages by the merchants and in England was taken over by the government in the 17th century.

Q—Why was a certain type of a vehicle known as a "coach"?

A—The coach, a four-wheeled carriage with springs and a roof, derives its name from Kocs, a town in Hungary, where the first coach was built.

Q—Is the Bald Cypress an evergreen?

A—Although the Bald Cypress is a conifer, it is not an evergreen. Every autumn it sheds its brown or yellow leaves and immature twigs.

Q—At what age do the cashew trees begin to bear fruit?

A—In their third year. But they don't yield a paying crop until their fifth or sixth year.

EDUCATION AND FEAR

A prime subject for discussion nowadays is education. It is near the top of the list, crowding close to war and taxes. The consensus seems to be that we ought to expect more of education than we have in the past. The time-honored academic subjects are being supplemented by such intangibles as "attitudes."

Speaking to an alumnae group recently, Miss Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, stated that schools and colleges must be concerned with the abatement of mental and spiritual insecurity. Above and beyond the practical value of education lies the larger concern of helping to free people from fear, which is the basic cause of war, said Miss Clapp.

The Greek philosophers, with their groups of pupils in the Attic groves, made their responsibility the forming of philosophic attitudes in their young listeners. Our own early educators such as Mark Hopkins were inspiring leaders who gave their students something valuable which was not found in textbooks. Many modern college courses, based on the reading of great books and their subsequent discussions in small groups, have this tendency. If fear is ever to be conquered, it is by this sort of education.

TICKETS FOR BENEFITS

In New York City, firemen are no longer allowed to sell tickets for benefits and the like. Too many instances have occurred of business men declining to buy and then having minor violations of the fire laws charged against them, to their cost.

Situations like this occur in various forms in different parts of the nation. Motorists occasionally are stopped when entering a city with a request to buy tickets for the policemen's ball or some such event. If they agree to the purchase, probably for only a dollar or two, they get a ticket which may be stuck on their windshields and protects them from further annoyance while passing through the city. Without this sticker they may be stopped half a dozen times with a request to buy.

These practices are different from projects of volunteer fire companies and the like which actually have to employ public solicitation to obtain funds for their operations. Heads of police and fire departments should check up now and then to see if such practices are growing up under their noses.

ANTIDOTE FOR TERROR

It is an axiom in military operations that for every new weapon there is a new defense. Despite this, new weapons have a fearsome fascination for most people, and especially is this true of weapons, such as bombs and gases, which indiscriminately take their victims from among soldiers and civilians alike. Known new weapons are bad enough; rumored ones are worse.

One of the more disturbing rumored new weapons of World War II and the following period is called nerve gas. It is supposed to be more deadly and swifter in its action than previously known blister and lung gases, and to be capable of causing 100 per cent casualties in its central target area. What could one do against such a weapon?

The answering defensive instrument not only has been found but is in production, it has been revealed. It is a small, simple device to inject a drug which is an antidote for the nerve gas. Here also is an antidote for the terror which is sometimes engendered by stories of new weapons and new methods of warfare.

A PERIL WE FACE

In an atomic war the United States, despite its superiority, could expect to get hurt. This is the frank admission of the air force chief of staff, General Hoyt S. Vandenberg. It will not be possible, to keep all enemy planes out, or even the majority. In the battle for Britain the British knocked down only eight per cent of the invading ...mans. When the allied planes swarmed Ge...many in the latter days of the war, they lost only four per cent of their planes.

What about radar and other possible new inventions? Will they not improve the score? Not too much. All that the air force hopes is to destroy twenty to thirty per cent of hostile aircraft. The others will get through, particularly if their crews are as willing to risk their lives as were the pilots of the Japanese suicide planes. Perhaps Russia would suffer more in an interchange of bombings, but the United States cannot expect to get off scot free.

'These Days'

LOYALTY

Loyalty is not a debatable question. No society can tolerate disloyalty to itself; otherwise it would decay from the vileness of its own members. Therefore, every government rejects the right of a traitor to be a traitor, even though, in a free society, the individual may claim freedom of thought and action. In old-fashioned wars, which were genteel to a degree, the spy and traitor performed unmistakable functions and therefore his labors could be readily evaluated and his character judged.

Recognizing these postulates as basic, it is not remarkable that such strong efforts have been put forth over the years to conceal, to cover up, to protect treason and traitors. The politicians in office, seeking only their private advancement, lack the knowledge to recognize modern treason for what it is. Modern treason is a non-military activity, performed constantly and unrelated to the time limits of a state of war. The Dies Committee, shabbily treated even by the Democratic Party of which Congressman Dies was a member, laid the foundation for a technique of discovering treason in peacetime Every effort was made by the administration, from the very start, to give to that committee the appearance of the ridiculous.

The Dies Committee performed an outstanding service to this country because it laid the foundation for a study of Marxist infiltration into American life. Its files are basic for any understanding of this problem; its reports remain the best source material for any study of treason as a continuous operation.

Parnell Thomas, long before he got into trouble over a salary kickback, was most viciously attacked, and I am not sure yet that he was not punished so severely for an infraction not as unusual as it may seem, because he headed an anti-Communist investigative committee.

The current House Committee on Un-American Activities has done some important investigating but it has also missed most of the available opportunities. In fact, it is this committee that should have investigated the Amerasia case which definitely involved treason, treachery, deceit, cover-up and dishonorable politics. It was because this committee failed to pursue the penetration and infiltration of the State Department and the Treasury by Communists that Senator Joe McCarthy stepped into the arena with his charges. This committee must now be regarded as inadequate.

The Tydings Committee made an altogether fruitless attempt to discover disloyalty within the government. In fact, it sought to try Senator Joe McCarthy with a view to his political destruction. The motives of Senator Millard Tydings have never been clear nor are they important. The fact is that his committee covered up and whitewashed disloyalty.

Now the Senate has appointed the McCarran Committee and provided it with initial funds to start all over again to root out disloyalty in government. The intentions of Senator Patrick McCarran are excellent, and should he find an adequate staff of well-oriented counsel and investigators, he could get at the roots of disloyalty.

But before the McCarran Committee can organize and get ready to do a suitable task, the President appointed his own commission to compete with the Senate committee. At the head of the President's commission is Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, an honored citizen whose name and rank and record should not be disposed of in this manner. Actually, Admiral Nimitz should not have accepted this appointment to compete with a Senate committee and thus provide muddied waters under which the disloyal can hide and possibly escape.

I object to the use of the phrases, "loyalty commission," "loyalty boards," "loyalty oaths." The word should be "disloyalty." Most Americans are loyal; only a few in the government are disloyal. The few should be exposed and eliminated.

Even in the matter of funds for the McCarran Committee, certain senators are trying to block this essential investigation on the ground of economy. It is as important to expose the disloyal as it is to maintain supplies for the army.

The commission appointed by the President contains distinguished names. But not a single person on it has established himself as an authority on this subject. A smart Marxist could make a monkey out of its members by the use of Aesopian language. The disloyal are still in luck.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

GALLSTONE PATIENTS

Physicians once believed that a patient who was "fair, fat and forty," was bound to have gallstones and liver disturbances. This was in the days when tight corsets prevented pressure on the liver from exercise and breathing. There was, therefore, less movement of the liver and thus a slower circulation of blood in the liver and interference with flow of bile to the gall bladder and small intestine. (Some years ago McGill University research workers established the fact that all movements, all exercise, stimulate circulation in the liver.)

The individual with gallstones is not necessarily overweight. In The Scandinavian Medical Journal, Dr. E. Schrodt (Aalborg, Denmark) reports that he found that the average weight of 19 men with gallstones corresponded exactly with the average weight of men of equal height and bodybuild. In 43 women with gallstones, weight was increased an average of less than 3 per cent. In 19 men and 43 women with medical diseases with gallstones, the average weight was about five per cent less than the average but nearly four per cent more than the average of those without liver ailments.

From the above it can be seen that overweight has little relationship to gallstones or other diseases of the liver. It is lack of exercise, lack of body movements, that is the big factor in causing these ailments.

A group of 208 men and 215 women with mental diseases showed an average of about three per cent underweight for men and an average overweight of about five per cent for women, which shows us that it is natural for women to carry a little extra fat whether or not they have body or mental ailments. With the exception of certain cases of heart disease (although most heart disease patients are allowed short walks), we can all do a little more exercise. Bending he body sideways while keeping knees straight (called the "liver squeezer") is most beneficial.

It has been truly said that life depends on the liver.

Liver and Gall Bladder

The liver does more different kinds of work than any other organ in the body. Anything that interferes with its work upsets all the body processes. The gall bladder also can cause many distressing symptoms. Sauce and Applesauce

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman and top advisers decided last week that the St. Lawrence waterway, a raging issue in Congress for two decades, must no longer be delayed if the United States is to maintain a strong defense in the future.

Most surprising endorsement of the seaway came from Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson, who once opposed it. However, even such implacable foes as Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Rep. Charles Buckley of New York have now promised not to impede the proposed canal joining Detroit and Chicago with the Atlantic ocean.

Citing the need for quick action, two-fisted Rep. John Blatnik on Minnesota, leading House crusader for the St. Lawrence waterway, told the White House meeting: "There is no need for long hearings on this. We know the whole story from previous hearings. We also know that we face a serious deficit of iron ore for defense (steel) in the next few years unless we draw on the vast deposits in Labrador the proposed waterway can bring us."

"There's still another reason," suggested President Truman. "Canada has been waiting 41 years for us to help her construct the waterway and is getting impatient. If we don't move now, Canada may go ahead with the construction of the canal and electric-power development without our partnership. If that happens, there will be no joint control of the waterway. Instead, Canada will have complete control and ownership.

"Isn't it a lot better," continued the President, "to accept the joint partnership control Canada has offered us and make sure that our interests in this vital link to Canadian ore deposits are safeguarded in the future?"

"I think so," agreed Wilson, former head of General Electric. "When electric power was the main factor of the proposed seaway, I was against it, because there were other ways to get power. But navigation and the need for Canadian ore are now the paramount considerations."

Texas Tom Yields

Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman also supported Truman, as did two other potent figures at the closed-door conference, Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of army engineers, and G.O.P. Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

Wiley remarked that if Truman "held a few more meetings like this one, I'll bet you could convince the railroad owners who have been blocking the seaway." Turning to Senator Connally, the Wisconsinite jibed: "Tom, you've done a little blocking yourself."

When the big Texan growled a denial, Wiley continued: "Well, then you've stacked subcommittees against the bill."

"What you mean to say is that I have refused to go along with you when you tried to get me to stack subcommittees with proponents of the St. Lawrence Waterway," shot back Connally.

However, Texas Tom made it clear that he wouldn't stand in the way if the majority of both Houses favored the waterway. He even managed a smile when, sitting close to Wiley for a news picture, the Wisconsin senator wisecracked: "I see you've shifted to my side."

Truman's Old Crony

It is now pretty well agreed that one of the best things Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia ever did was to stop the appointment of the President's crony, Mon Wallgreen, to be chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

Thanks in part to Senator Byrd, the ex-senator from Washington was shunted from the vitally important War Board to what was considered a safe roosting place, the chairmanship of the Federal Power Commission.

Here, however, Wallgren has been such a flop that even his old friend in the White House is reported disappointed with him.

Wallgren's latest dilettantism is a move to transfer the Federal Power Commission to Colorado Springs—because the climate is better. Also Mon would be nearer his home state of Washington where he wants to run for the Senate again. Finally, Mon has some real estate in Southern California and he wants to be closer to it than Washington, D. C.

On top of this, Wallgreen seems to have forgotten one of the most courageous battles ever staged by his friend in the White House—Kerr Natural Gas Bill.

Vigorous wire-pullers for this bill were Senator Kerr, Oklahoma, and his silent oil partner, Phillips Petroleum. Phillips is now up for investigation by the F.P.C. for unnecessary hiking rates to the state of Wisconsin and the city of Detroit. Fear of these high rates was one reason why Truman vetoed the Kerr Bill. But despite this, Wallgren voted against his old friend in the white House to sidetrack the probe.

The investigation of Phillips was requested by Wisconsin and Detroit two long years ago. In that year — 1948 — Phillips paid dividends of 18.7 per cent on common stock and surplus, but even so, hiked its rates to northern gas users.

Pipeline Politics

Most recent move by Wallgren which is against Truman policy is to O.K. a $58,000,000 natural gas pipeline to New England for Texas Eastern—which cooperates with and helps to protect Koppers Coke, a part of the Andrew Mellon industrial empire. This line was opposed by both Democrat and Republican leaders in New England, including Gov. Sherman Adams and Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, both Republicans; and Senators McMahon of Connecticut and Green of Rhode Island, both Democrats. They favor the cheaper $38,000,000 northeastern pipeline to New England, claim New England cannot afford to be saddled with two lines and such heavy expense.

Note—A lot of politics—both Democratic and Republican—is mixed up in this power commission maneuvering. On the Democratic side, it was Phillips Petroleum which conveniently put its private plane at the disposal of Democratic bigwigs to fly to Kansas City for the Bill Boyle dinner. On the Republican side it is Phillips Petroleum which hires Neil Tolman as its Washington lobbyist. Tolman, former campaign manager for GOP Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, is a potent means of reaching the Federal Power Commission. For Bridges packs powerful influence with Nelson Lee Smith, also from New Hampshire and GOP member of the commission.

The Miracle of the Cathedral of Cologne

In 1830 the King of Prussia ordered the architect Zwirner to complete the construction of the Cathedral of Cologne, unfinished for 600 years. The architect started a long search for the original building plans and finally located half of them in the National Library in Paris. The other half of the plans had simply vanished. He had given up hope when he stopped at an inn in Passy. Here he stumbled upon the half of the building plans while observing a beehive in the courtyard. The parchment had been used to line the hive. This miraculous discovery now enabled him to finish the great structure.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 1—Vindication for the principle of collective security has been slow in coming through at the United Nations meetings but the importance of the fact that it has finally come cannot be underestimated.

The American people naturally have been impatient about the months of talk and procrastination. It's the same kind of irritation which occasionally crops up when Congress dawdles along. But there is need for even more patience and sympathetic understanding where the United Nations is concerned. For here is a body that isn't really a world parliament or a superstate, and yet at times it has the seeming obligation to act as such under the compulsion of worldwide public opinion.

When it is considered that the debates in the U.N. are not printed widely and that slow methods of communicating messages and their import to the peoples of each country are still in use in some instances, the fact that an overwhelming majority can be obtained at all for a condemnation of aggression is remarkable.

The vote in the U.N. on the aggression resolution is in a proper sense a victory for the diplomacy of the United States and particularly for the ambassadors and ministers abroad who have been laboring so zealously in the past few weeks to explain to the different foreign offices of the world the true meaning of the American viewpoint in world affairs today. The Department of State can proudly chalk up a point gained, and the American people inevitably will increase their confidence in that department if it continues to hew to the straight line of moral principle.

For it was a moral principle of great significance which was at stake in the resolution of the General Assembly condemning Red China as an aggressor. To some observers this may seem to be merely a calling of names. But it isn't the characterization which counts but the fact that a world tribunal did pronounce its judgment so plainly after the fullest and frankest debate, such as is customary in democratic parliaments.

There is ground for satisfaction, too, that all those European countries which were hesitating a few weeks ago have now seen the wisdom of supporting a moral principle as the paramount duty of an assembly which represents free nations. By branding Red China as an aggressor, the same assembly can apply not merely its potential armed strength but also its moral force, which can penetrate the public opinion of all nations and forge a spirit of unity behind international policy.

EDUCATION AND FEAR

A prime subject for discussion nowadays is education. It is near the top of the list, crowding close to war and taxes. The consensus seems to be that we ought to expect more of education than we have in the past. The time-honored academic subjects are being supplemented by such intangibles as "attitudes."

Speaking to an alumnae group recently, Miss Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, stated that schools and colleges must be concerned with the abatement of mental and spiritual insecurity. Above and beyond the practical value of education lies the larger concern of helping to free people from fear, which is the basic cause of war, said Miss Clapp.

The Greek philosophers, with their groups of pupils in the Attic groves, made their responsibility the forming of philosophic attitudes in their young listeners. Our own early educators such as Mark Hopkins were inspiring leaders who gave their students something valuable which was not found in textbooks. Many modern college courses, based on the reading of great books and their subsequent discussions in small groups, have this tendency. If fear is ever to be conquered, it is by this sort of education.

TICKETS FOR BENEFITS

In New York City, firemen are no longer allowed to sell tickets for benefits and the like. Too many instances have occurred of business men declining to buy and then having minor violations of the fire laws charged against them, to their cost.

Situations like this occur in various forms in different parts of the nation. Motorists occasionally are stopped when entering a city with a request to buy tickets for the policemen's ball or some such event. If they agree to the purchase, probably for only a dollar or two, they get a ticket which may be stuck on their windshields and protects them from further annoyance while passing through the city. Without this sticker they may be stopped half a dozen times with a request to buy.

These practices are different from projects of volunteer fire companies and the like which actually have to employ public solicitation to obtain funds for their operations. Heads of police and fire departments should check up now and then to see if such practices are growing up under their noses.

ANTIDOTE FOR TERROR

It is an axiom in military operations that for every new weapon there is a new defense. Despite this, new weapons have a fearsome fascination for most people, and especially is this true of weapons, such as bombs and gases, which indiscriminately take their victims from among soldiers and civilians alike. Known new weapons are bad enough; rumored ones are worse.

One of the more disturbing rumored new weapons of World War II and the following period is called nerve gas. It is supposed to be more deadly and swifter in its action than previously known blister and lung gases, and to be capable of causing 100 per cent casualties in its central target area. What could one do against such a weapon?

The answering defensive instrument not only has been found but is in production, it has been revealed. It is a small, simple device to inject a drug which is an antidote for the nerve gas. Here also is an antidote for the terror which is sometimes engendered by stories of new weapons and new methods of warfare.

A PERIL WE FACE

In an atomic war the United States, despite its superiority, could expect to get hurt. This is the frank admission of the air force chief of staff, General Hoyt S. Vandenberg. It will not be possible, to keep all enemy planes out, or even the majority. In the battle for Britain the British knocked down only eight per cent of the invading planes. When the allied planes swarmed Germany in the latter days of the war, they lost only four per cent of their planes.

What about radar and other possible new inventions? Will they not improve the score? Not too much. All that the air force hopes is to destroy twenty to thirty per cent of hostile aircraft. The others will get through, particularly if their crews are as willing to risk their lives as were the pilots of the Japanese suicide planes. Perhaps Russia would suffer more in an interchange of bombings, but the United States cannot expect to get off scot free.

'These Days'

LOYALTY

Loyalty is not a debatable question. No society can tolerate disloyalty to itself; otherwise it would decay from the vileness of its own members. Therefore, every government rejects the right of a traitor to be a traitor, even though, in a free society, the individual may claim freedom of thought and action. In old-fashioned wars, which were genteel to a degree, the spy and traitor performed unmistakable functions and therefore his labors could be readily evaluated and his character judged.

Recognizing these postulates as basic, it is not remarkable that such strong efforts have been put forth over the years to conceal, to cover up, to protect treason and traitors. The politicians in office, seeking only their private advancement, lack the knowledge to recognize modern treason for what it is. Modern treason is a non-military activity, performed constantly and unrelated to the time limits of a state of war. The Dies Committee, shabbily treated even by the Democratic Party of which Congressman Dies was a member, laid the foundation for a technique of discovering treason in peacetime Every effort was made by the administration, from the very start, to give to that committee the appearance of the ridiculous.

The Dies Committee performed an outstanding service to this country because it laid the foundation for a study of Marxist infiltration into American life. Its files are basic for any understanding of this problem; its reports remain the best source material for any study of treason as a continuous operation.

Parnell Thomas, long before he got into trouble over a salary kickback, was most viciously attacked, and I am not sure yet that he was not punished so severely for an infraction not as unusual as it may seem, because he headed an anti-Communist investigative committee.

The current House Committee on Un-American Activities has done some important investigating but it has also missed most of the available opportunities. In fact, it is this committee that should have investigated the Amerasia case which definitely involved treason, treachery, deceit, cover-up and dishonorable politics. It was because this committee failed to pursue the penetration and infiltration of the State Department and the Treasury by Communists that Senator Joe McCarthy stepped into the arena with his charges. This committee must now be regarded as inadequate.

The Tydings Committee made an altogether fruitless attempt to discover disloyalty within the government. In fact, it sought to try Senator Joe McCarthy with a view to his political destruction. The motives of Senator Millard Tydings have never been clear nor are they important. The fact is that his committee covered up and whitewashed disloyalty.

Now the Senate has appointed the McCarran Committee and provided it with initial funds to start all over again to root out disloyalty in government. The intentions of Senator Patrick McCarran are excellent, and should he find an adequate staff of well-oriented counsel and investigators, he could get at the roots of disloyalty.

But before the McCarran Committee can organize and get ready to do a suitable task, the President appointed his own commission to compete with the Senate committee. At the head of the President's commission is Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, an honored citizen whose name and rank and record should not be disposed of in this manner. Actually, Admiral Nimitz should not have accepted this appointment to compete with a Senate committee and thus provide muddied waters under which the disloyal can hide and possibly escape.

I object to the use of the phrases, "loyalty commission," "loyalty boards," "loyalty oaths." The word should be "disloyalty." Most Americans are loyal; only a few in the government are disloyal. The few should be exposed and eliminated.

Even in the matter of funds for the McCarran Committee, certain senators are trying to block this essential investigation on the ground of economy. It is as important to expose the disloyal as it is to maintain supplies for the army.

The commission appointed by the President contains distinguished names. But not a single person on it has established himself as an authority on this subject. A smart Marxist could make a monkey out of its members by the use of Aesopian language. The disloyal are still in luck.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

GALLSTONE PATIENTS

Physicians once believed that a patient who was "fair, fat and forty," was bound to have gallstones and liver disturbances. This was in the days when tight corsets prevented pressure on the liver from exercise and breathing. There was, therefore, less movement of the liver and thus a slower circulation of blood in the liver and interference with flow of bile to the gall bladder and small intestine. (Some years ago McGill University research workers established the fact that all movements, all exercise, stimulate circulation in the liver.)

The individual with gallstones is not necessarily overweight. In The Scandinavian Medical Journal, Dr. E. Schrodt (Aalborg, Denmark) reports that he found that the average weight of 19 men with gallstones corresponded exactly with the average weight of men of equal height and bodybuild. In 43 women with gallstones, weight was increased an average of less than 3 per cent. In 19 men and 43 women with medical diseases with gallstones, the average weight was about five per cent less than the average but nearly four per cent more than the average of those without liver ailments.

From the above it can be seen that overweight has little relationship to gallstones or other diseases of the liver. It is lack of exercise, lack of body movements, that is the big factor in causing these ailments.

A group of 208 men and 215 women with mental diseases showed an average of about three per cent underweight for men and an average overweight of about five per cent for women, which shows us that it is natural for women to carry a little extra fat whether or not they have body or mental ailments. With the exception of certain cases of heart disease (although most heart disease patients are allowed short walks), we can all do a little more exercise. Bending he body sideways while keeping knees straight (called the "liver squeezer") is most beneficial.

It has been truly said that life depends on the liver.

Liver and Gall Bladder

The liver does more different kinds of work than any other organ in the body. Anything that interferes with its work upsets all the body processes. The gall bladder also can cause many distressing symptoms. Sauce and Applesauce

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — President Truman and top advisers decided last week that the St. Lawrence waterway, a raging issue in Congress for two decades, must no longer be delayed if the United States is to maintain a strong defense in the future.

Most surprising endorsement of the seaway came from Mobilization Boss Charles Wilson, who once opposed it. However, even such implacable foes as Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Rep. Charles Buckley of New York have now promised not to impede the proposed canal joining Detroit and Chicago with the Atlantic ocean.

Citing the need for quick action, two-fisted Rep. John Blatnik on Minnesota, leading House crusader for the St. Lawrence waterway, told the White House meeting: "There is no need for long hearings on this. We know the whole story from previous hearings. We also know that we face a serious deficit of iron ore for defense (steel) in the next few years unless we draw on the vast deposits in Labrador the proposed waterway can bring us."

"There's still another reason," suggested President Truman. "Canada has been waiting 41 years for us to help her construct the waterway and is getting impatient. If we don't move now, Canada may go ahead with the construction of the canal and electric-power development without our partnership. If that happens, there will be no joint control of the waterway. Instead, Canada will have complete control and ownership.

"Isn't it a lot better," continued the President, "to accept the joint partnership control Canada has offered us and make sure that our interests in this vital link to Canadian ore deposits are safeguarded in the future?"

"I think so," agreed Wilson, former head of General Electric. "When electric power was the main factor of the proposed seaway, I was against it, because there were other ways to get power. But navigation and the need for Canadian ore are now the paramount considerations."

Texas Tom Yields

Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman also supported Truman, as did two other potent figures at the closed-door conference, Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of army engineers, and G.O.P. Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin.

Wiley remarked that if Truman "held a few more meetings like this one, I'll bet you could convince the railroad owners who have been blocking the seaway." Turning to Senator Connally, the Wisconsinite jibed: "Tom, you've done a little blocking yourself."

When the big Texan growled a denial, Wiley continued: "Well, then you've stacked subcommittees against the bill."

"What you mean to say is that I have refused to go along with you when you tried to get me to stack subcommittees with proponents of the St. Lawrence Waterway," shot back Connally.

However, Texas Tom made it clear that he wouldn't stand in the way if the majority of both Houses favored the waterway. He even managed a smile when, sitting close to Wiley for a news picture, the Wisconsin senator wisecracked: "I see you've shifted to my side."

Truman's Old Crony

It is now pretty well agreed that one of the best things Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia ever did was to stop the appointment of the President's crony, Mon Wallgreen, to be chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

Thanks in part to Senator Byrd, the ex-senator from Washington was shunted from the vitally important War Board to what was considered a safe roosting place, the chairmanship of the Federal Power Commission.

Here, however, Wallgren has been such a flop that even his old friend in the White House is reported disappointed with him.

Wallgren's latest dilettantism is a move to transfer the Federal Power Commission to Colorado Springs—because the climate is better. Also Mon would be nearer his home state of Washington where he wants to run for the Senate again. Finally, Mon has some real estate in Southern California and he wants to be closer to it than Washington, D. C.

On top of this, Wallgreen seems to have forgotten one of the most courageous battles ever staged by his friend in the White House—Kerr Natural Gas Bill.

Vigorous wire-pullers for this bill were Senator Kerr, Oklahoma, and his silent oil partner, Phillips Petroleum. Phillips is now up for investigation by the F.P.C. for unnecessary hiking rates to the state of Wisconsin and the city of Detroit. Fear of these high rates was one reason why Truman vetoed the Kerr Bill. But despite this, Wallgren voted against his old friend in the white House to sidetrack the probe.

The investigation of Phillips was requested by Wisconsin and Detroit two long years ago. In that year—1948—Phillips paid dividends of 18.7 per cent on common stock and surplus, but even so, hiked its rates to northern gas users.

Pipeline Politics

Most recent move by Wallgren which is against Truman policy is to O.K. a $58,000,000 natural gas pipeline to New England for Texas Eastern—which cooperates with and helps to protect Koppers Coke, a part of the Andrew Mellon industrial empire. This line was opposed by both Democrat and Republican leaders in New England, including Gov. Sherman Adams and Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, both Republicans; and Senators McMahon of Connecticut and Green of Rhode Island, both Democrats. They favor the cheaper $38,000,000 northeastern pipeline to New England, claim New England cannot afford to be saddled with two lines and such heavy expense.

Note—A lot of politics—both Democratic and Republican—is mixed up in this power commission maneuvering. On the Democratic side, it was Phillips Petroleum which conveniently put its private plane at the disposal of Democratic bigwigs to fly to Kansas City for the Bill Boyle dinner. On the Republican side it is Phillips Petroleum which hires Neil Tolman as its Washington lobbyist. Tolman, former campaign manager for GOP Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, is a potent means of reaching the Federal Power Commission. For Bridges packs powerful influence with Nelson Lee Smith, also from New Hampshire and GOP member of the commission.

The Miracle of the Cathedral of Cologne

In 1830 the King of Prussia ordered the architect Zwirner to complete the construction of the Cathedral of Cologne, unfinished for 600 years. The architect started a long search for the original building plans and finally located half of them in the National Library in Paris. The other half of the plans had simply vanished. He had given up hope when he stopped at an inn in Passy. Here he stumbled upon the half of the building plans while observing a beehive in the courtyard. The parchment had been used to line the hive. This miraculous discovery now enabled him to finish the great structure.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 1—Vindication for the principle of collective security has been slow in coming through at the United Nations meetings but the importance of the fact that it has finally come cannot be underestimated.

The American people naturally have been impatient about the months of talk and procrastination. It's the same kind of irritation which occasionally crops up when Congress dawdles along. But there is need for even more patience and sympathetic understanding where the United Nations is concerned. For here is a body that isn't really a world parliament or a superstate, and yet at times it has the seeming obligation to act as such under the compulsion of worldwide public opinion.

When it is considered that the debates in the U.N. are not printed widely and that slow methods of communicating messages and their import to the peoples of each country are still in use in some instances, the fact that an overwhelming majority can be obtained at all for a condemnation of aggression is remarkable.

The vote in the U.N. on the aggression resolution is in a proper sense a victory for the diplomacy of the United States and particularly for the ambassadors and ministers abroad who have been laboring so zealously in the past few weeks to explain to the different foreign offices of the world the true meaning of the American viewpoint in world affairs today. The Department of State can proudly chalk up a point gained, and the American people inevitably will increase their confidence in that department if it continues to hew to the straight line of moral principle.

For it was a moral principle of great significance which was at stake in the resolution of the General Assembly condemning Red China as an aggressor. To some observers this may seem to be merely a calling of names. But it isn't the characterization which counts but the fact that a world tribunal did pronounce its judgment so plainly after the fullest and frankest debate, such as is customary in democratic parliaments.

There is ground for satisfaction, too, that all those European countries which were hesitating a few weeks ago have now seen the wisdom of supporting a moral principle as the paramount duty of an assembly which represents free nations. By branding Red China as an aggressor, the same assembly can apply not merely its potential armed strength but also its moral force, which can penetrate the public opinion of all nations and forge a spirit of unity behind international policy.

It will be recalled that, in the 1920s, the idea of outlawing war and condemning aggression was the basic truth which the Kellogg-Briand treaties proclaimed. But, unhappily, there was then no accompanying definition of what the signatories were to do to protect the victims of aggression.

Today the implications of the U.N. resolution stand out clearly. A faction or regime or government which is branded the aggressor must desist from that course or suffer the consequences. Nor is physical punishment by force of arms the only thing that can follow Moral condemnation means that Red China has disqualified herself as a government capable of discharging international obligations. This disqualification for membership in the family of nations can mean withholding of diplomatic recognition, too, and it could mean economic blockade and further embargoes. It implies pressure of all kinds, but there is no reason to be too hasty about selecting the methods, especially when the first troops on the military front and job is to defeat Red China's troops on the military front and compel their withdrawal from Korea, where the aggression occurred.

To many casual observers the U. N. resolution and the fighting in Korea may seem purposeless, but the truth is that, as events unfold, it will be found that the firm action of the U. N., led as it was by a resolute American delegation, will have contributed a great deal toward prevention of large-scale war. And speaking of patience and understanding, the individual performance of Ambassador Warren Austin has been outstanding. His experience in the U. S. Senate, where for years he represented the state of Vermont, has taught him restraint as well as calmness under the fire of debates and under the provocation of obstructive filibusters. He has proved just the man to represent America in the U. N.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Jan. 31—I have received a copy of a dodger put out by Lee Keedick, a manager of lecturers, singers and miscellaneous trained seals, soliciting professional engagements for one Quentin Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds is described as a "world famous correspondent, author, editor." His topics include "the duties of citizenship." Mr. Reynolds has been hired to lecture at a dinner of the New York Credit and Financial Management Association on Feb. 14. Leslie Gould, the financial writer of the New York Journal-American, who maintains a vigorous anti-Communist theme in his copy asked a friend who holds an executive position in this association how the association happened to select Mr. Reynolds.

"He was picked by a special committee from a list sent by a speakers' bureau," Mr. Gould reports. "While these men are in the business of checking on us mortals and view with a jaundiced eye our financial standing, apparently they made no check as to Reynolds' associations." An officer of the association told Mr. Gould that no check was made beyond the blurb from the speakers' bureau. They wanted a noncontroversial speaker who would be entertaining. He asked what they were paying Reynolds, and mentioned $1,000. The official said ti was "half that." The association includes some of the biggest industrial companies in the United States.

As a public service, I provide herein information concerning Quentin Reynolds, which may be a guide to any organizations which may desire to hire him to instruct them in the duties of citizenship and other subjects in which he claims authority. It may also help the radio and television publics to evaluate his statements.

Mr. Reynolds appears to regard himself as a superior reporter. He disparaged the work of the American journalists who had been covering Moscow before he went there with the Harriman-Beaverbrook mission. The purpose of this mission was to thrust on the Soviet dictators the riches of the United States, including in the long run, vast amounts of stuff which was used to build up industrial Russia after the war.

Mr. Reynolds wrote that the longer he stayed in Russia the more he realized the "terrific misconceptions" held by the American and British people concerning the Soviet Union. The reason for this, he wrote, was that for years these people had been receiving their information from salesmen, not from reporters. He said the "writing salesmen" were trying to sell us communism or make us hate it.

Father Leopold Braun, the American Catholic priest who was stationed in Moscow, has told me that this reflection on the integrity and ability of the journalists stationed in Moscow offended some of them deeply.

Bearing in mind this phase of things, we come at once to Reynolds' description of Father Braun as "a little Jesuit priest."

Father Braun told me he was five feet eleven and one-half inches tall. He is not a Jesuit but a member of the Assumptionist

Questions — Answers

Q—Do birds have a method of communicating with one another?

A—Call notes form the principal language of birds. Anxiety, fear and other emotions can be expressed by them. Their song is heard most frequently during the nesting season, and usually only the males are able to sing.

Q—When were postal systems begun?

A—Postal delivery goes back to ancient times. Slaves and others carried letters more than 2000 years ago. Private mailing was established in the Middle Ages by the merchants and in England was taken over by the government in the 17th century.

Q—Why was a certain type of a vehicle known as a "coach"?

A—The coach, a four-wheeled carriage with springs and a roof, derives its name from Kocs, a town in Hungary, where the first coach was built.

Q—Is the Bald Cypress an evergreen?

A—Although the Bald Cypress is a conifer, it is not an evergreen. Every autumn it sheds its brown or yellow leaves and immature twigs.

Q—At what age do the cashew trees begin to bear fruit?

A—In their third year. But they don't yield a paying crop until their fifth or sixth year.

Most Retail Stores Seem to Be Static On Price of Foods

(By The Associated Press)

Despite scattered reports of retail food price boosting since the wage-price freeze was imposed, the vast majority of food stores appeared this week to be holding the price line.

A survey of prices quoted by leading store chains in nine key cities across the nation showed only minor changes on a list of several sensitive items.

Sirloin steak, for example, was two cents a pound cheaper in Detroit and six cents cheaper in Boston, compared with last week. Pork chops were a little lower in Washington, D. C.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Philadelphia—but as much as four cents a pound higher in New York. Leg of lamb was off slightly in the same cities.

Frying chickens edged lower in a few places, but were up two to four cents a pound in others, and the same narrow trend was evident for eggs and butter, although eggs were down six cents in one large chain in the Chicago area. All six items were unchanged in Los Angeles and Pittsburgh.

Holding Their Prices

Spokesmen for four different store chains in the big New York marketing area said they were holding prices steady for the time being, at least, until the Economic Stabilization Agency could issue specific regulations defining maximum mark-ups for wholesalers and retailers.

They agreed, however, that there was considerable confusion over their pricing obligations under the general freeze order, especially with regard to farm items which are exempt from controls so far.

Some large-volume supermarkets which base their retail prices on an original cost basis rather than on replacement costs said they already were being squeezed.

One company, for example, said its suppliers had boosted wholesale prices of about 500 items during January, yet only half of these increases have been passed on to consumers so far because the stores still are selling stocks bought before the suppliers' increases went into effect.

Wholesale Prices Climb

Wholesale prices of many farm commodities have continued climbing since the freeze was ordered. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week was up 9 cents to $7.17 (this index is computed on a Tuesday-to-Tuesday basis) and at the highest level since Aug. 10, 1948. The record high is $7.36, established in July of 1948. This index represents the tota' wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods and 19 of those foods rose during the index period, with only two declining (coffee and sugar).

The rise in wholesale meat prices was attributed chiefly to storms and icy roads in the midwest which reduced shipment of livestock from farms. Market sources reported, however, that wholesale meat buying in several cities was very slow because retailers dared not make heavy buying commitments when their own pricing status was so uncertain.

No Discernible Change

The wage-price freeze caused no discernible chance in normal consumer food buying, and food authorities said no general shortages of any food staples appeared likely at this time.

The Agriculture Department reported that farmers are producing meat now at the average rate of about 147 pounds a year for each consumer, compared with 125 pounds before World War 2 and with 160 or more pounds shortly after the end of the war. However, Agriculture Secretary Brannan has said consumer demand for meat may again be approaching the 160-pound level because of increased buying power. Rationing might become necessary he said, because output at that rate could not be maintained under present manpower limits imposed by the defense program and the armed services.

Here's the departmet's national list of plentiful foods for thrifty buying in February; apples, grapefruit, oranges, onions, potatoes, sauerkraut, eggs, broiler and fryer chickens, turkeys, frozen fish fillets, shrimp, cottage cheese, honey and peanut butter.

Most Retail Stores Seem to Be Static On Price of Foods

(By The Associated Press)

Despite scattered reports of retail food price boosting since the wage-price freeze was imposed, the vast majority of food stores appeared this week to be holding the price line.

A survey of prices quoted by leading store chains in nine key cities across the nation showed only minor changes on a list of several sensitive items.

Sirloin steak, for example, was two cents a pound cheaper in Detroit and six cents cheaper in Boston, compared with last week. Pork chops were a little lower in Washington, D. C.; Jacksonville, Fla., and Philadelphia—but as much as four cents a pound higher in New York. Leg of lamb was off slightly in the same cities.

Frying chickens edged lower in a few places, but were up two to four cents a pound in others, and the same narrow trend was evident for eggs and butter, although eggs were down six cents in one large chain in the Chicago area. All six items were unchanged in Los Angeles and Pittsburgh.

Holding Their Prices

Spokesmen for four different store chains in the big New York marketing area said they were holding prices steady for the time being, at least, until the Economic Stabilization Agency could issue specific regulations defining maximum mark-ups for wholesalers and retailers.

They agreed, however, that there was considerable confusion over their pricing obligations under the general freeze order, especially with regard to farm items which are exempt from controls so far.

Some large-volume supermarkets which base their retail prices on an original cost basis rather than on replacement costs said they already were being squeezed.

One company, for example, said its suppliers had boosted wholesale prices of about 500 items during January, yet only half of these increases have been passed on to consumers so far because the stores still are selling stocks bought before the suppliers' increases went into effect.

Wholesale Prices Climb

Wholesale prices of many farm commodities have continued climbing since the freeze was ordered. The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week was up 9 cents to $7.17 (this index is computed on a Tuesday-to-Tuesday basis) and at the highest level since Aug. 10, 1948. The record high is $7.36, established in July of 1948. This index represents the tota' wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 foods and 19 of those foods rose during the index period, with only two declining (coffee and sugar).

The rise in wholesale meat prices was attributed chiefly to storms and icy roads in the midwest which reduced shipment of livestock from farms. Market sources reported, however, that wholesale meat buying in several cities was very slow because retailers dared not make heavy buying commitments when their own pricing status was so uncertain.

No Discernible Change

The wage-price freeze caused no discernible chance in normal consumer food buying, and food authorities said no general shortages of any food staples appeared likely at this time.

The Agriculture Department reported that farmers are producing meat now at the average rate of about 147 pounds a year for each consumer, compared with 125 pounds before World War 2 and with 160 or more pounds shortly after the end of the war. However, Agriculture Secretary Brannan has said consumer demand for meat may again be approaching the 160-pound level because of increased buying power. Rationing might become necessary he said, because output at that rate could not be maintained under present manpower limits imposed by the defense program and the armed services.

Here's the departmet's national list of plentiful foods for thrifty buying in February; apples, grapefruit, oranges, onions, potatoes, sauerkraut, eggs, broiler and fryer chickens, turkeys, frozen fish fillets, shrimp, cottage cheese, honey and peanut butter.

When I was young and practiced scales,
I thought, "Could anything be worse?"
It could. For now, in agony,
I listen to my child do hers.
—Lois Shelling

Many a man who thinks he has a clear conscience, has only a poor memory of his past.

At a medical conference held recently in Washington, it was stated that smoking by mothers ranks high among the cause of eye accidents among very young children and that seems difficult to believe. Mothers are warned against smoking while feeding, dressing or otherwise ministering their young children. It seems incredible that such advice should be considered necessary.

Restaurant Patron — I can't quite make out his custom of eating to music.

Friend—What puzzles you?

Patron — I can't understand whether the food is intended to take your mind off the music or the music is intended to take your mind off the food.

There is no limit to what good a man can do, as long as he don't care who gets credit for it.

A great many people think they are thinking when they are merely re-arranging their prejudices.
—William James.

Barbara — So you won the breach of promise suit. Did you get the whole $10,000?

Peggy—Yes. My lawyer was going to charge me $50,000 as his share of the damages and so I've married him to keep it all in the family.

To eliminate embarrassment in addressing woman of unknown marital status, someone in Tulsa Letter Clinic has suggested writing to all women as "Ms."—equivalent of "Mr."

A mother with six children boarded a train and gave the conductor so much trouble that he said, at the end of the trip.

Conductor — I wonder why you did not leave half your youngsters at home!

Mother—(looking up at him sadly)—I did.

Small minds talk about people; average minds talk about things; great minds talk about ideas.

Woman Is Found Dead in Her Home

Gertrude Ellsworth, 86, of Port Ewen, was found dead in her home this morning.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly said death was due to a heart attack and it is believed that she died sometime during the night or this morning.

Roland Myers, of Port Ewen, notified the sheriff's office at 9:50 a. m., today that the aged woman, who lived alone, had not been active about the place for some time.

County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith went to the house and found the woman dead. The body was turned over to Coroner Kelly.

The nearest surviving relatives, the coroner said, are several nieces and nephews. The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Harry Christiana, of the Port Ewen Reformed Church. Burial will be in the family plot in the Port Ewen Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home between 7 and 9 p. m. Friday.

Pencil Company Strike

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—About 650 employes struck today at the Eagle Pencil Company's Manhattan plant, said to be the largest pencil manufacturing place in the world. A company official said a union contract expired last night and the CIO United Pencil Workers began picketing this morning. The official, who declined to be identified, said the union turned down a ten per cent wage increase offer, declaring it would "wait for a formula" from the Wage Stabilization Board.

Allies Push Ahead

American elements were reported earlier Thursday to have rammed into blazing Red counterattacks near Chipyong, 12 miles north of Yoju.

Sign of Main Defense

"When you find mines, artillery and an enemy as solidly entrenched as these are, the chances are good that you have hit his main lines," a division staff officer said.

For the third straight day Chinese artillery hit U.N. lines in what was described as a moderate barrage. Mortar shells burst in allied positions.

Turks in the Anyang area routed the Reds out of their holes with bayonets, a spokesman said. Probably a Chinese battalion was bloodied. Front line officers said more than 400 Red bodies were left in the muck.

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton said some Chinese abandoned their empty guns and fled before the American tank task force which swept into Wonchon. U. S. infantrymen captured 44 important hills Thursday, with Red resistance apparently waning in that region.

Allied troops were using deep foxholes dug and abandoned by the Reds. American pilots reported many Communists withdrawing acros the Han river ahead of the Allied drive. However, it appeared later that at least some of these were not retreating but were hastening to the area of the counterattack around Chipyong.

While the battle raged, Korean President Syngman Rhee declared:

"I hope to be back in Seoul soon."

In the west, resistance to the U.N. advance had sharpened. Puerto Ricans on the western flank moved forward at dawn after an all-night artillery bombardment of enemy lines, moving deeper into the main body of Chinese resistance massed near the Han.

Screaming 'manzai, manzai," wildly leaping North Koreans launched their counterattack in the central-western front junction area at 5 a. m. This assault was made in the region immediately southwest of Sinchon, a point north of Yoju reached by Allied forces Wednesday.

Meter Collection

The city treasurer's office today reported $2,750 collected from the city's parking meters in January. This was $300 less than the previous month's total, and $290 less than the January 1950 total.

POP QUIZ—Little Billy Armstrong gives his dad a couple of pointers in his geometry exam at Hartwick College, Oneonta, N. Y., as the professor, Dr. Ethel B. Callahan, looks on. Stuck with baby-sitting chores at the same time he was due to take the exams, William Armstrong, Sr., bundled Junior off to class with him—for a new angle in geometry exams.

Numerous Traffic Tie-Ups Today in City and County

A rise in temperature made Ulster county a slushy mess this morning but probably saved electric and telephone companies from a great deal of damage to their systems.

Heavy coatings of ice on wires and tree branches threatened to down wires in many sections, but the ice began melting before more than slight damage was done.

Numerous traffic tie-ups were reported early today on city and county highways, and several accidents were reported. There were no serious personal injuries, however.

Precipitation ranged from snow Wednesday during the daytime to sleet in the evening and rain this morning. As a result, no one seemed to know just how much snow fell, as it began compacting and then melting midway through the storm. The Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity reported a total of 1.89 inches of precipitation at Brown Station at the Ashokan reservoir in the 24-hour period ended 8 a. m. today.

Tired sanding and plow crews were sent home this morning for a few hours rest before tackling the job of keeping highways passable again this afternoon. State Highway Department, County Highway Department and Kingston Board of Public Works employes worked all night.

The storm was the type which highway officials said "kept ahead of them" all night. Almost as soon as a given place was sanded, the rain or sleet would wash the sand away it was reported.

At 1 a. m. today, police reported Wurts and Broadway hills tied-up, and called for sand crews. At 6:55 a. m. a tractor trailer became mired in the slush and slid crossways on Wurts street, again blocking the hill.

The sheri's office received a report at about 7 a. m. that Route 9W was blocked between the Rondout Creek bridge and Port Ewen. Lake Katrine troopers were attempting to get traffic moving at the Glenerie hill at 10:30 a. m., and about an hour later two trailer trucks were involved in an accident on the 9-W by-pass, which again tied up traffic. No injuries were reported.

Local police said that because of tieups on the Wurts street hill traffic was rerouted during part of this morning from Wurts street over Abeel street and up Broadway.

Trucks and tractor-trailers stalled several times on the hill and traffic was also tied up on the Washington avenue viaduct when a truck failed to negotiate the overpass. Similar tieups were reported on the Port Ewen side of the Rondout creek bridge.

Truman Sees No Future

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—President Truman sees "no future" in his job. He said so last night at an informal dinner in honor of 21 new Democrats elected to the House last November. The dinner was given by the Democratic National Congressional Committee. Citing the cases of Vice President Barkley, Speaker Sam Rayburn and Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, all of whom once served in the House, as examples of the prospect that lies ahead of new congressmen, Mr. Truman said: "There's one thing about this job (the presidency), it has no future in it. Every young man wants something to look forward to."

Assessments Hiked

Bevin Had Good Night

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who has pneumonia, was reported by his physician today to have had a "very good night."

Accidents took approximately 89,000 lives in the United States in 1950. About 35,000 people were killed in traffic accidents.

Locomotive Strike

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—C.I.O. workers were on strike today at three upstate plants of the American Locomotive Company. Pickets were posted in Schenectady, Auburn and Dunkirk. About 7,000 are employed at the three plants. The strike by members of the United Steelworkers began formally at midnight at the Schenectady plant. But round-the-clock negotiations continued at the Auburn and Dunkirk plants, and night crews worked through until 7 a. m.

Try to Burn Consulate

Athens, Greece, Feb. 1 (AP)—Angry mobs, remembering the wartime occupation by Italy, tried unsuccessfully for the second time in two weeks today to burn down the newly set up Italian consulate on the Island of Rhodes.

DITTUS—In this city, Tuesday, January 30, 1951, Lena Rarey, wife of Henry L. Dittus, sister of Mrs. Elizabeth Stoerzer and Michael Rarey.

Funeral will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, thence to St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered. Interment in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery. Friends may call at any time.

ELLSWORTH—Suddenly at her residence on South Broadway, Port Ewen, N. Y., Thursday, February 1, 1951, Gertrude Ellsworth.

Funeral at the funeral home of Ernest A. Kelly, 111 West Chester street, Saturday, at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends invited. Interment in the Port Ewen Cemetery. Friends will be received at the funeral home Friday evening, between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Frank F. Longto, who passed away February 1, 1933.

We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind,
The day we do not think of you
Is very hard to find.

It's said time heals all sorrows
And helps us to forget,
But so far time has only proved
How much we miss you yet.

Signed,
SONS, DAUGHTERS and GRANDCHILDREN.

Fares Are Raised

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—An increase of between eight and nine per cent on commutation fares within New York state became effective at midnight last night on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. The higher fare within the state was ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission after it found that the fares were so low they were unduly burdening interstate travel on the New Haven road. The state commission brought a federal court action to set aside the I.C.C. order, but lost.

Taylor-Stanwyck Divorce

Los Angeles, Feb. 1 (AP)—The 11-year marriage of screen stars Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck has reached the divorce court. She filed suit yesterday, alleging unspecified cruelty. The couple separated last Dec. 15, shortly after Taylor returned from a year of movie-making in Italy. The couple has no children. She has a son, Dion, whom she adopted with her first husband, Frank Fay, of the New York stage.

Threat of More Ice

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Freezing rain and thick fog blanketed the northeastern states today in the wake of a storm that covered the area with four to 12 inches of snow and sleet. Highway traffic slowed to a crawl in many sections and airlines were grounded in the New York and Boston metropolitan areas. Rising temperatures during the early morning turned the ice-covered highways and streets into thick slush. However, a forecase of rain changing to snow and lower temperatures tonight brought a threat of more ice.

Truman Sees No Future

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—President Truman sees "no future" in his job. He said so last night at an informal dinner in honor of 21 new Democrats elected to the House last November. The dinner was given by the Democratic National Congressional Committee. Citing the cases of Vice President Barkley, Speaker Sam Rayburn and Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, all of whom once served in the House, as examples of the prospect that lies ahead of new congressmen, Mr. Truman said: "There's one thing about this job (the presidency), it has no future in it. Every young man wants something to look forward to."

Assessments Hiked

Bevin Had Good Night

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who has pneumonia, was reported by his physician today to have had a "very good night."

Accidents took approximately 89,000 lives in the United States in 1950. About 35,000 people were killed in traffic accidents.

Locomotive Strike

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—C.I.O. workers were on strike today at three upstate plants of the American Locomotive Company. Pickets were posted in Schenectady, Auburn and Dunkirk. About 7,000 are employed at the three plants. The strike by members of the United Steelworkers began formally at midnight last night on the Schenectady plant. But round-the-clock negotiations continued at the Auburn and Dunkirk plants, and night crews worked through until 7 a. m.

Try to Burn Consulate

Athens, Greece, Feb. 1 (AP) — Angry mobs, remembering the wartime occupation by Italy, tried unsuccessfully for the second time in two weeks today to burn down the newly set up Italian consulate on the Island of Rhodes.

Fares Are Raised

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—An increase of between eight and nine per cent on commutation fares within New York state became effective at midnight last night on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. The higher fare within the state was ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission after it found that the fares were so low they were unduly burdening interstate travel on the New Haven road. The state commission brought a federal court action to set aside the I.C.C. order, but lost.

Taylor-Stanwyck Divorce

Los Angeles, Feb. 1 (AP)—The 11-year marriage of screen stars Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck has reached the divorce court. She filed suit yesterday, alleging unspecified cruelty. The couple separated last Dec. 15, shortly after Taylor returned from a year of movie-making in Italy. The couple has no children. She has a son, Dion, whom she adopted with her first husband, Frank Fay, of the New York stage.

Threat of More Ice

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Freezing rain and thick fog blanketed the northeastern states today in the wake of a storm that covered the area with four to 12 inches of snow and sleet. Highway traffic slowed to a crawl in many sections and airlines were grounded in the New York and Boston metropolitan areas. Rising temperatures during the early morning turned the ice-covered highways and streets into thick slush. However, a forecase of rain changing to snow and lower temperatures tonight brought a threat of more ice.

Woman Is Found Dead in Her Home

Gertrude Ellsworth, 86, of Port Ewen, was found dead in her home this morning.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly said death was due to a heart attack and it is believed that she died sometime during the night or this morning.

Roland Myers, of Port Ewen, notified the sheriff's office at 9:50 a. m., today that the aged woman, who lived alone, had not been active about the place for some time.

County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith went to the house and found the woman dead. The body was turned over to Coroner Kelly.

The nearest surviving relatives, the coroner said, are several nieces and nephews. The funeral will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Ernest A. Kelly Funeral Home. The service will be conducted by the Rev. Harry Christiana, of the Port Ewen Reformed Church. Burial will be in the family plot in the Port Ewen Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home between 7 and 9 p. m. Friday.

Pencil Company Strike

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—About 650 employes struck today at the Eagle Pencil Company's Manhattan plant, said to be the largest pencil manufacturing place in the world. A company official said a union contract expired last night and the CIO United Pencil Workers began picketing this morning. The official, who declined to be identified, said the union turned down a ten per cent wage increase offer, declaring it would "wait for a formula" from the Wage Stabilization Board.

Allies Push Ahead

American elements were reported earlier Thursday to have rammed into blazing Red counterattacks near Chipyong, 12 miles north of Yoju.

Sign of Main Defense

"When you find mines, artillery and an enemy as solidly entrenched as these are, the chances are good that you have hit his main lines," a division staff officer said.

For the third straight day Chinese artillery hit U.N. lines in what was described as a moderate barrage. Mortar shells burst in allied positions.

Turks in the Anyang area routed the Reds out of their holes with bayonets, a spokesman said. Probably a Chinese battalion was bloodied. Front line officers said more than 400 Red bodies were left in the muck.

Associated Press Correspondent Stan Swinton said some Chinese abandoned their empty guns and fled before the American tank task force which swept into Wonchon. U. S. infantrymen captured 44 important hills Thursday, with Red resistance apparently waning in that region.

Allied troops were using deep foxholes dug and abandoned by the Reds. American pilots reported many Communists withdrawing acros the Han river ahead of the Allied drive. However, it appeared later that at least some of these were not retreating but were hastening to the area of the counterattack around Chipyong.

While the battle raged, Korean President Syngman Rhee declared:

"I hope to be back in Seoul soon."

In the west, resistance to the U.N. advance had sharpened. Puerto Ricans on the western flank moved forward at dawn after an all-night artillery bombardment of enemy lines, moving deeper into the main body of Chinese resistance massed near the Han.

Screaming 'manzai, manzai," wildly leaping North Koreans launched their counterattack in the central-western front junction area at 5 a. m. This assault was made in the region immediately southwest of Sinchon, a point north of Yoju reached by Allied forces Wednesday.

The city treasurer's office today reported $2,750 collected from the city's parking meters in January. This was $300 less than the previous month's total, and $290 less than the January 1950 total.

Numerous Traffic Tie-Ups Today in City and County

A rise in temperature made Ulster county a slushy mess this morning but probably saved electric and telephone companies from a great deal of damage to their systems.

Heavy coatings of ice on wires and tree branches threatened to down wires in many sections, but the ice began melting before more than slight damage was done.

Numerous traffic tie-ups were reported early today on city and county highways, and several accidents were reported. There were no serious personal injuries, however.

Precipitation ranged from snow Wednesday during the daytime to sleet in the evening and rain this morning. As a result, no one seemed to know just how much snow fell, as it began compacting and then melting midway through the storm. The Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity reported a total of 1.89 inches of precipitation at Brown Station at the Ashokan reservoir in the 24-hour period ended 8 a. m. today.

Tired sanding and plow crews were sent home this morning for a few hours rest before tackling the job of keeping highways passable again this afternoon. State Highway Department, County Highway Department and Kingston Board of Public Works employes worked all night.

The storm was the type which highway officials said "kept ahead of them" all night. Almost as soon as a given place was sanded, the rain or sleet would wash the sand away it was reported.

At 1 a. m. today, police reported Wurts and Broadway hills tied-up, and called for sand crews. At 6:55 a. m., a tractor trailer became mired in the slush and slid crossways on Wurts street, again blocking the hill.

The sheri's office received a report at about 7 a. m. that Route 9W was blocked between the Rondout Creek bridge and Port Ewen. Lake Katrine troopers were attempting to get traffic moving at the Glenerie hill at 10:30 a. m., and about an hour later two trailer trucks were involved in an accident on the 9-W by-pass, which again tied up traffic. No injuries were reported.

Local police said that because of tieups on the Wurts street hill traffic was rerouted during part of this morning from Wurts street over Abeel street and up Broadway.

Trucks and tractor-trailers stalled several times on the hill and traffic was also tied up on the Washington avenue viaduct when a truck failed to negotiate the overpass. Similar tieups were reported on the Port Ewen side of the Rondout creek bridge.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP) — A simplified state budget designed to show taxpayers what they get for their money was proposed today by a Republican legislator.

Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh said he would introduce a bill to require the governor to submit a simplified budget every year along with his detailed financial plan.

Desmond's proposed "performance" budget would require each department to state briefly the type and amount of work to be done with the requested appropriation.

Desmond said such a report would "bring into the open planned expenditures now hidden in a tangle of allocations."

He said it also would help legislators "put their fingers on items which may be cut" from the budget.

Two Republicans introduced bills to require a 40-hour, five-day week for all municipal policemen in the state.

The measure, sponsored by the Police Conference of the State of New York, was submitted by Senator Seymour Halpern of Queens and Assemblyman Julius Volker of Lancaster.

A similar bill died in the Senate last year after passing the Assembly.

Call It 'Out of Step'

Halpern and Volker said most policemen now work 48 hours a week. They contended this was "out of step with the social and economic working conditions in our state and nation."

The 40-hour week would not apply in time of emergency.

Another bill would clarify Governor Dewey's power to lengthen enlistments in the state militia during an emergency.

The measure was sponsored by Assemblyman Frank Becker, Lynbrook Republican, who heads the joint legislative committee on military law revision.

Under the bill, the governor could extend the enlistment of State Guard or National Guard members for an indefinite period up to six months after the end of a period of emergency.

If the enlistment period of federal forces were extended in an emergency, the governor would be required to extend State Guard enlistments by a like period.

National Guard enlistments normally are for a three-year period, and those in the State Guard are for two years.

Assemblyman Nathan A. Lashin, Bronx Democrat, introduced two series of bills, one to end what he called "profiteering in sorrow" by cemetery firms, and the other to aid the state's mentally ill.

Two other bills would:

Boost teachers salaries by 50 per cent of the rate they received in 1939. (Senator Halpern and Assemblyman Samuel Rabin, R.-Queens).

Make it a misdemeanor to jam a telephone line by repeated calls to "injure a business" or sabotage defense preparations. (Assemblyman Anthony Savarese, Jr., R.-Queens).

Extinguishers Urged For Olive Bridge Area

Olive Bridge, Feb. 1—Anticipating a reduction in the force of young firefighters, due to the national emergency, the Olive Bridge Fire Department is recommending that residents of the area purchase fire extinguishers for protection.

Letters are being sent describing the various types of extinguishers available, and later a house to house canvass is to be made to demonstrate samples of extinguishers. Displays will be arranged in the various stores in the town.

It has been announced by the fire department that it will handle refills for the extinguishers.

No Radiation Damage

Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 1 (AP)—A survey shows no radiation damage from atomic detonations last Saturday and Sunday, an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman says. The blasts, which took place on the vast air force gunnery range 40 miles northwest of here, caused no levels of radiation that could conceivably produce damage to humans, animals or water supplies, said a survey team that monitored the entire area.

$85,000 for Polio

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Erie county officials of the March of Dimes busily added up today the results of a mothers' house-to-house drive and announced the total would top $85,000. All of Erie county was canvassed by women last night during a one-hour period.

Dewey Supports

called for no tax increases, despite a $68,700,000 proposed boost in spending for the fiscal year beginning April 1. But, Dewey served notice he would not hesitate to demand more tax revenues if they were mandated by defense needs before the legislature adjourned.

High sources indicated that if any new or higher tax were adopted at this session, it would be the big truck levy. They scoffed at talk of increases in the state's present four-cent-a-gallon levy on gasoline.

Some opposition to the proposed new truck tax was voiced, however, by other official sources. They contended that such a levy would hit out-of-state truckers. Neighboring states then might take reciprocal steps against New York trucks, they argued.

Manning's bill probably will be introduced before his committee's report is formally completed and submitted to the Legislature. Some capitol sources claimed this was a further indication that Dewey was pushing the proposal.

The senator said recently that the weight-distance tax might be "the most effective means of distributing the highway tax burden in proportion to the highway use benefit derived."

At the Manning committee hearing, trucking spokesmen said a weight-distance levy would net the state from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 annually in new money. The trucking industry is sure to fight any such plan.

Under Manning's plan, the state would set a rate for the gross weight of trucks, and possibly buses. This would be multiplied by the distance each vehicle traveled within the state. The vehicles' owners would file a report on the number of miles traveled by their trucks or buses, on a monthly or quarterly basis. The state fees would be computed from these reports.

Under present law, the state registration fee for empty trucks weighing 1,800 pounds or more is 80 cents for each 100 pounds. Buses now are taxed according to seating capacity. These fees range from $15 to $67.50, plus $2 for each passenger space in excess of 30.

Blair Will Return

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Capt. Charles Blair, new holder of the New York-London speed flying record, will start back for America tonight—as a passenger. The 41-year-old Pan-American Airways pilot booked a seat on an airliner leaving London at 11 p. m. It will be his 401st trans-Atlantic flight, and his first with somebody else at the stick. Blair blazed the 3,500-mile New York-to-London route yesterday in a converted Mustang fighter plane in seven hours, 48 minutes. The Mustang will go home later by boat. Blair will be back in London Sunday at the controls of a Pan-Am airliner, on his regular run. If the wind is right, Blair said, he has hopes of beating the airliner record from New York to London, which now stands at eight hours, 55 minutes.

Number of Taxpayers Increases

America had about four million income taxpayers before World War II. There are about 56 million now.

The term "collective bargaining" was first used by Beatrice Webb in 1891.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Mr. Mack, the new truant officer for downtown, stopped in at the Downtown Recreation Center and left me some old local newspapers covering the 250th Anniversary of Kingston. There is a drawing of the Stockade of 1658 by E. R. Weiner of Kingston according to the description he found in old books and papers. These papers, which are so worn with age, due to the fact that at that time (1908), paper was no longer made from durable rags, but from wood pulp that they disintegrate the minute you touch them. I know some of my readers have asked me, how come you say papers as far back as 1795 you can handle like a good handkerchief, while newspapers of 30 or 40 years ago, fall apart, on handling. Well, it's sad but true.

Bill Van Keuren, custodian of the Recreation Department, was looking through some of the pictures of these 1908 local newspapers and found one of the Weiner Hose, No. 6 company. He said, "Look, that's me. Next to me stands David Heaney, next to him is John McGovern. The dog on the wagon is a coach dog which we named 'Ike,' after Ike Wiener. It was given to us by Aaron Cohen. I went over there to get it myself from him. That dog would watch our truck so that nobody could touch the equipment but our own men. And when the fire bells would ring he'd be the first on the wagon." I have heard some remarkable stories about fire-horses. I was told that they had two horses, I think at the Wiltwyck Hose Co. at 267 Fair street. When the bells would ring those two horses would back right up to the proper places by their respective wagons ready to be harnessed. Maybe some old time firemen can remember the details of these old fire-horses and famous dogs which rode on the wagon.

Perhaps you would like to look back to Thursday, February 8, 1863, as recorded by "The Kingston Journal and Weekly Freeman" loaned me by Charles O'Connor. The front page covers "Ulster County News, facts from the correspondents." Esopus was having a busy season for they said, "Nearly every house in this vicinity is full with boarders. The West Shore railroad makes business for those who take boarders . . . David Jackson has been building a pair of bob-sleighs for drawing wood from the Roat wood lot." That from Cedar Hill. From Esopus itself, "Work is progressing on the West Shore Railroad rapidly under management of new contractors, Messrs. Beckwith and Quackenbush . . . Sleighing is taken advantage of by the many sports . . . Our village blacksmiths are doing a rushing business . . . The Esopus and Rondout Express (no doubt horse-bus) is doing a thriving business . . . Our village barber, Jas. Burger, has a large run of customers . . . Our village school, under Miss Woodward's management, is doing finely. 'Jumbo' the porter of the Esopus Hotel, is about the liveliest person in this place."

From Hurley, "Prof. Richard Ready has an evening class of over 40 scholars to whom he is giving instructions in writing . . . The Ulster & Delaware Plank Road Co. is taking the bridge stone from the upper end of the road to points near Kingston. Stone cutters are figuring on big wages for the coming season. Politics are very dull, roads are very icy." So reported the 68 year old paper.

"Your Federal Income Tax" the guide to figuring your 1950 income tax is available at the Freeman offices.

Bills in Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP) — A simplified state budget designed to show taxpayers what they get for their money was proposed today by a Republican legislator.

Senator Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh said he would introduce a bill to require the governor to submit a simplified budget every year along with his detailed financial plan.

Desmond's proposed "performance" budget would require each department to state briefly the type and amount of work to be done with the requested appropriation.

Desmond said such a report would "bring into the open planned expenditures now hidden in a tangle of allocations."

He said it also would help legislators "put their fingers on items which may be cut" from the budget.

Two Republicans introduced bills to require a 40-hour, five-day week for all municipal policemen in the state.

The measure, sponsored by the Police Conference of the State of New York, was submitted by Senator Seymour Halpern of Queens and Assemblyman Julius Volker of Lancaster.

A similar bill died in the Senate last year after passing the Assembly.

Call It 'Out of Step'

Halpern and Volker said most policemen now work 48 hours a week. They contended this was "out of step with the social and economic working conditions in our state and nation."

The 40-hour week would not apply in time of emergency.

Another bill would clarify Governor Dewey's power to lengthen enlistments in the state militia during an emergency.

The measure was sponsored by Assemblyman Frank Becker, Lynbrook Republican, who heads the joint legislative committee on military law revision.

Under the bill, the governor could extend the enlistment of State Guard or National Guard members for an indefinite period up to six months after the end of a period of emergency.

If the enlistment period of federal forces were extended in an emergency, the governor would be required to extend State Guard enlistments by a like period.

National Guard enlistments normally are for a three-year period, and those in the State Guard are for two years.

Assemblyman Nathan A. Lashin, Bronx Democrat, introduced two series of bills, one to end what he called "profiteering in sorrow" by cemetery firms, and the other to aid the state's mentally ill.

Two other bills would:

Boost teachers salaries by 50 per cent of the rate they received in 1939. (Senator Halpern and Assemblyman Samuel Rabin, R.-Queens).

Make it a misdemeanor to jam a telephone line by repeated calls to "injure a business" or sabotage defense preparations. (Assemblyman Anthony Savarese, Jr., R.-Queens).

Extinguishers Urged For Olive Bridge Area

Olive Bridge, Feb. 1—Anticipating a reduction in the force of young firefighters, due to the national emergency, the Olive Bridge Fire Department is recommending that residents of the area purchase fire extinguishers for protection.

Letters are being sent describing the various types of extinguishers available, and later a house to house canvass is to be made to demonstrate samples of extinguishers. Displays will be arranged in the various stores in the town.

It has been announced by the fire department that it will handle refills for the extinguishers.

No Radiation Damage

Las Vegas, Nev., Feb. 1 (AP)—A survey shows no radiation damage from atomic detonations last Saturday and Sunday, an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman says. The blasts, which took place on the vast air force gunnery range 40 miles northwest of here, caused no levels of radiation that could conceivably produce damage to humans, animals or water supplies, said a survey team that monitored the entire area.

$85,000 for Polio

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Erie county officials of the March of Dimes busily added up today the results of a mothers' house-to-house drive and announced the total would top $85,000. All of Erie county was canvassed by women last night during a one-hour period.

Dewey Supports

called for no tax increases, despite a $68,700,000 proposed boost in spending for the fiscal year beginning April 1. But, Dewey served notice he would not hesitate to demand more tax revenues if they were mandated by defense needs before the legislature adjourned.

High sources indicated that if any new or higher tax were adopted at this session, it would be the big truck levy. They scoffed at talk of increases in the state's present four-cent-a-gallon levy on gasoline.

Some opposition to the proposed new truck tax was voiced, however, by other official sources. They contended that such a levy would hit out-of-state truckers. Neighboring states then might take reciprocal steps against New York trucks, they argued.

Manning's bill probably will be introduced before his committee's report is formally completed and submitted to the Legislature. Some capitol sources claimed this was a further indication that Dewey was pushing the proposal.

The senator said recently that the weigh-distance tax might be "the most effective means of distributing the highway tax burden in proportion to the highway use benefit derived."

At the Manning committee hearing, trucking spokesmen said a weight-distance levy would net the state from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 annually in new money. The trucking industry is sure to fight any such plan.

Under Manning's plan, the state would set a rate for the gross weight of trucks, and possibly buses. This would be multiplied by the distance each vehicle traveled within the state. The vehicles' owners would file a report on the number of miles traveled by their trucks or buses, on a monthly or quarterly basis. The state fees would be computed from these reports.

Under present law, the state registration fee for empty trucks weighing 1,800 pounds or more is 80 cents for each 100 pounds. Buses now are taxed according to seating capacity. These fees range from $15 to $67.50, plus $2 for each passenger space in excess of 30.

Blair Will Return

London, Feb. 1 (AP)—Capt. Charles Blair, new holder of the New York-London speed flying record, will start back for America tonight—as a passenger. The 41-year-old Pan-American Airways pilot booked a seat on an airliner leaving London at 11 p. m. It will be his 401st trans-Atlantic flight, and his first with somebody else at the stick. Blair blazed the 3,500-mile New York-to-London route yesterday in a converted Mustang fighter plane in seven hours, 48 minutes. The Mustang will go home later by boat. Blair will be back in London Sunday at the controls of a Pan-Am airliner, on his regular run. If the wind is right, Blair said, he has hopes of beating the airliner record from New York to London, which now stands at eight hours, 55 minutes.

Number of Taxpayers Increases

America had about four million income taxpayers before World War II. There are about 56 million now.

The term "collective bargaining" was first used by Beatrice Webb in 1891.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Mr. Mack, the new truant officer for downtown, stopped in at the Downtown Recreation Center and left me some old local newspapers covering the 250th Anniversary of Kingston. There is a drawing of the Stockade of 1658 by E. R. Weiner of Kingston according to the description he found in old books and papers. These papers, which are so worn with age, due to the fact that at that time (1908), paper was no longer made from durable rags, but from wood pulp that they disintegrate the minute you touch them. I know some of my readers have asked me, how come you say papers as far back as 1795 you can handle like a good handkerchief, while newspapers of 30 or 40 years ago, fall apart, on handling. Well, it's sad but true.

Bill Van Keuren, custodian of the Recreation Department, was looking through some of the pictures of these 1908 local newspapers and found one of the Weiner Hose, No. 6 company. The West Shore railroad makes business for those who take boarders . . . David Jackson has been building a pair of bob-sleighs for drawing wood from the Roat wood lot." That from Cedar Hill. From Esopus itself, "Work is progressing on the West Shore Railroad rapidly under management of new contractors, Messrs. Beckwith and Quackenbush . . . Sleighing is taken advantage of by the many sports . . . Our village blacksmiths are doing a rushing business . . . The Esopus and Rondout Express (no doubt horse-bus) is doing a thriving business . . . Our village barber, Jas. Burger, has a large run of customers . . . Our village school, under Miss Woodward's management, is doing finely. 'Jumbo' the porter of the Esopus Hotel, is about the liveliest person in this place."

From Hurley, "Prof. Richard Ready has an evening class of over 40 scholars to whom he is giving instructions in writing . . . The Ulster & Delaware Plank Road Co. is taking the bridge stone from the upper end of the road to points near Kingston. Stone cutters are figuring on big wages for the coming season. Politics are very dull, roads are very icy." So reported the 68 year old paper.

"Your Federal Income Tax" the guide to figuring your 1950 income tax is available at the Freeman offices.

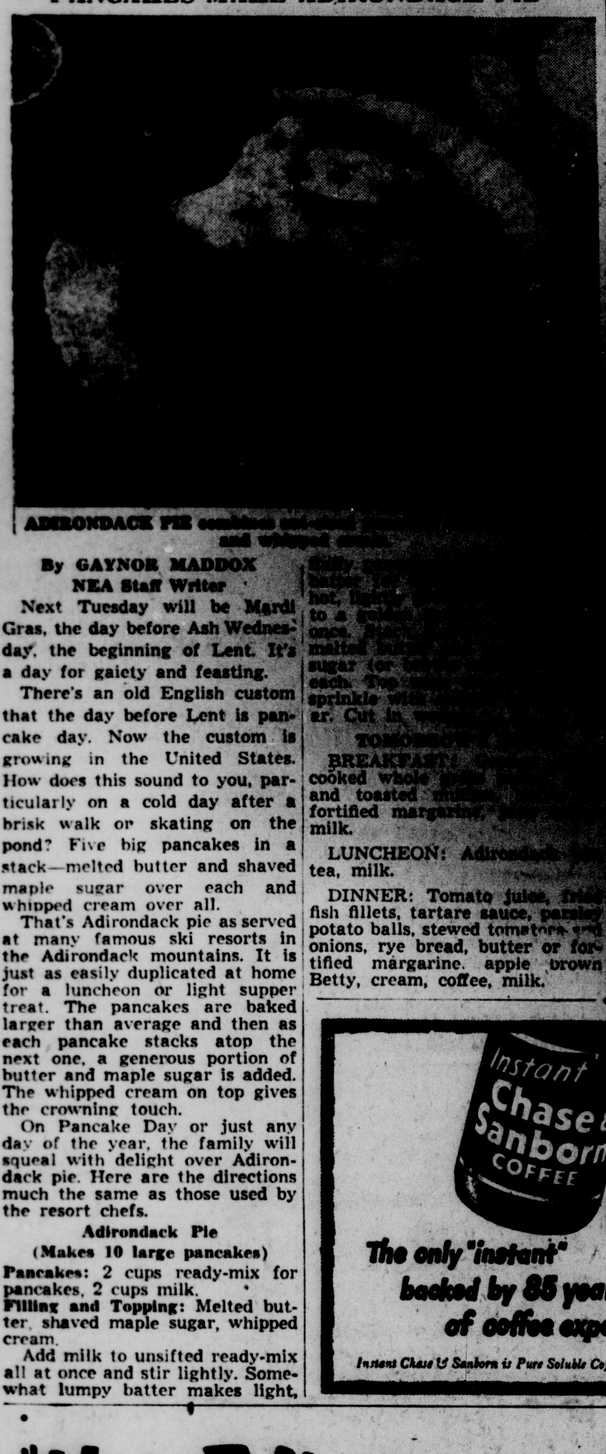
PANCAKES MAKE ADIRONDACK PIE



By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Next Tuesday will be Mardi Gras, the day before Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent. It's a day for gaiety and feasting.

There's an old English custom that the day before Lent is pancake day. Now the custom is growing in the United States. How does this sound to you, particularly on a cold day after a brisk walk or skating on the pond? Five big pancakes in a stack—melted butter and shaved maple sugar over each and whipped cream over all.

That's Adirondack pie as served at many famous ski resorts in the Adirondack mountains. It is just as easily duplicated at home for a luncheon or light supper treat. The pancakes are baked larger than average and then as each pancake stacks atop the next one, a generous portion of butter and maple sugar is added. The whipped cream on top gives the crowning touch.

On Pancake Day or just any day of the year, the family will squeal with delight over Adirondack pie. Here are the directions much the same as those used by the resort chefs.

Adirondack Pie
(Makes 10 large pancakes)

Pancakes: 2 cups ready-mix for pancakes, 2 cups milk.
Filling and Topping: Melted butter, shaved maple sugar, whipped cream.

Add milk to unsifted ready-mix all at once and stir lightly. Somewhat lumpy batter makes light,

ADIRONDACK PIE [illegible]

[illegible] sugar over each.

BREAKFAST: [illegible] cooked whole [illegible] and toasted [illegible] fortified margarine, [illegible] milk.

LUNCHEON: Adirondack [illegible] tea, milk.

DINNER: Tomato juice, [illegible] fish fillets, tartare sauce, parsley potato balls, stewed tomatoes and onions, rye bread, butter or fortified margarine, apple brown Betty, cream, coffee, milk.

Too Much Advice

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—West German tax advisers whose business it is to save their client's money had better be soft-spoken about how they do it. One such enterprising counselor proudly listed in a newspaper ad his gimmicks for easing the taxpayer's burden. State authorities promptly arrested suit and a fine of $23.80 was levied against the man. It was said the court, illegal to explain publicly the weaknesses of the tax laws.

Too Much Advice

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—West German tax advisers whose business it is to save their client's money had better be soft-spoken about how they do it. One such enterprising counselor proudly bared in a newspaper ad his gimmicks for easing the taxpayer's burden. State authorities promptly brought suit and a fine of $23.80 was levied against the man. It was said the court, illegal to exploit publicly the weaknesses of the tax laws.

"Mrs. Filbert, my husband just won't have any Margarine but yours!"

writes Mrs. V. Connell, 712 Defense Rd., Chester, Pa.

Start his day right—coffee-cake and sunny-sweet Mrs. Filbert's!

"I first made my margarine to please my own family!" says Mrs. Filbert.

"Men are the toughest judges of food I know—so I'm doubly proud when I hear they like my margarine. I make it up fresh every day from the finest ingredients—fortify every pound with 15,000 units of Vitamin A.

"Read these other nice compliments I've gotten lately in the mail: Richmond, Va.—'Your margarine's our favorite, Mrs. Filbert. We've used it for years!' Akron, Ohio—'No matter what I bake with Mrs. Filbert's, it's simply delicious!' Springfield, Mass.—'Flavors vegetables so nicely!' Washington, D. C.—'I've recommended Mrs. Filbert's to all my friends!'

"Buy my Mrs. Filbert's Margarine today and try it at your own dinner table. I'll be delighted to hear how your family likes it!"

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

How to Lay a Nest Egg
By Edgar Scott—68 pages

This is a "Little but Oh, My" volume. In plain every day language, divested of the usual mumbo-jumbo by which the average investment banker and broker has been accustomed to bewilder his clients. Mr. Scott shows in a few brief chapters all that anyone needs to know in order to plan and follow a wise investment course.

He addresses his remarks to women investors; first because of their importance in the financial world, for instance the women of this country control 70 per cent of the nation's private wealth, own over half the shares of American Tel. and Tel. Co., nearly half of the Penn R. R., U. S. Steel and General Motors. Eighty per cent of inheritance taxes are paid by women, 42 per cent of income taxes, likewise 66 per cent of all war bonds are held by women, etc. Secondly because of the moth-eaten tradition, largely fostered by the women themselves, that women are by nature unable to comprehend anything but the simplest discussion of the solemn subject of finances, which makes it necessary to have their financial problems simplified.

The author packs a whale of a lot of authentic, useful information covering definition of stock, common and preferred, bonds, investment trusts, what constitutes a safe, moderately safe, a risky investment. How to study the market trends, various classes of stock and how they are affected by various conditions, such as social and world upheavals, how to diversify your holdings, to name a few.

Mr. Scott takes you gently by the hand and leads you to banks, trust companies and brokerage houses, introduces you and explains the functions of each. He shows you how inexpensive are their services each can give you and how warmly they welcome thoughtful investors, especially the small ones. In these days of heavy surtaxes the power of many small accounts is of vastly greater importance than a few large ones. He explains all about that. He tells you how to find a good broker and then take him into your confidence. Don't treat your investments like secret sins. The more your broker knows about your personal finances, the better he can advise you. There is a chapter about the Stock Exchange—how it started and what service it performs and one about wills. The author bids you to remember that a nest egg is the only kind that goes on growing after it is laid. It is really a thoughtful book, but spiked with humor so that you'll enjoy reading it again and again. So will the men of your family, surreptitiously of course.

There is a gay introduction by Emily Eimbrough and amusing sketches by Richard Decker.

A Guide to Profitable Investment
by Howard B. Gruver, 118 pages

This another equally helpful little book to show how best to make your money work for you.

The author discusses and explains very clearly such puzzlers as "The Business Cycle," "Yardsticks and Barometers;" "The Fallacy of Profits;" "The Effect of War;" the "Specifics of Capital Enchantment." Surprisingly you come out of a study of these chapters with a good working knowledge of what it all means to you—instead of leaving you completely muddled as so many other studies of this subject usually do.

He gives 12 basic rules for profitable investment, which, if followed, could not fail to result in great enchantment in the value of your holdings. Rules 1 and 2 tell you just about all you need to know about what to do to acquire a fortune. The other 10 tell you what you need to know in order to apply the rules.

Unfortunately most of us either cannot or will not stick closely to the rules. But the rules are good and well worth considering. There is more understandable information about a perplexing subject in this small volume than can be found in many financial libraries.

So now you know the way to amass a fortune. Remember when you make your first million, you owe me 10 per cent.

Iowa Farm Plan Discussed

Des Moines (AP)—A system of wheat and corn production goals for Iowa farms is under study here. The new plan, if adopted, would replace the present allotment programs. The goal system would call for state-desired goals both on state and county levels. County totals would be broken down to township levels on the basis of the ability of various townships to produce needed amounts of grain. Promoters of the plan say it would give farmers increased production on a long term basis.

Named for Priest

Priest Lake, northern Idaho, was named for a priest, Father Johann Philip Roothan, who, according to legend, drowned while crossing the lake to aid a stricken Indian.

As Pegler Sees It

order. I shall offer as the conclusion of this story Father Braun's comments on the truthfulness, intelligence and accuracy of the remarks on religion which Mr. Reynolds offered as facts. Reynolds said there was no "anti-religion" in Russia that he ever saw. He said Stalin just separated the church from the state, which, in his opinion, was "the same thing we did in our country in 1776." If he refers to the adoption of the Constitution, with the Bill of Rights, whose first article forbids the establishment of a state religion, Mr. Reynolds is 15 years out of line. The Constitution, with the Bill of Rights, was finally ratified in 1791.

Mr. Reynolds said people did go to the church in Russia. He had seen them.

Then he said that if we had ever troubled to read the Soviet constitution we might get a true picture. He said he look up this constitution. He "talked with" Father Braun. And he "mentally apologized, as a Catholic," for the things which he had thought about Russia's attitude toward religion. He believed that the money and time spent toward on Congressional investigations of Soviet propaganda in our country might better have been spent on investigations of anti-Soviet propaganda. This is exactly what the Communist traitors in the United States have been arguing for years. This is not the only time that Mr. Reynolds has lent such weight as he carries to the attack on the Congressional anti-Communist inquiries.

Commenting on this particular phase of Reynold's work, Father Braun said for publication.

"The statement made by Quentin Reynolds is analogous to the one made by Lord Beaverbrook on his return to England after the negotiation of the first clauses of lend lease in conjunction with Averell Harriman. Beaverbrook flatly declared there was no religious persecution in Russia, which is a bland untruth and completely misleading. Mr. Reynolds apparently is under the impression that the only statement the Soviet government has made regarding religion is contained in Article 124 of the Constitution decreed Dec. 5, 1936, which article, Mr. Reynolds seems to forget, not only guarantees religious freedom but also guarantees freedom of anti-religious propaganda. This latter freedom has been used by all the public appeal systems — press, radio, films and theatre—to turn religion to derision from the voting of the Constitution down to the very morning of the German invasion of the Soviet Union. This occurred at 4:30 a. m., June 22, 1941. This repression diminished only after the Germans, as their armies advanced, opened up all the churches which the Russians had closed.

"Because of a lack of knowledge of the Russian language, Mr. Reynolds ignored the fact that the government publishing house bookshop right next door to the hotel where he spoke to me, had on sale and display Stalin's official pronouncement against God and religion of any kind.

"Seventy-eight legal articles of two special laws of 1918 and 1929, never abrogated and still enforced to this day, govern a tolerated semblance of religious freedom in Soviet Russia. Mr. Reynolds should take the trouble of reading the Soviet criminal code, especially that of the Russian Socialist Federation of Soviet Republics, where one particular article practically renders null and void the proclaimed freedom of the Constitution."

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

By Edgar Scott—63 pages

This is a "Little but Oh, My" volume. In plain every day language, divested of the usual mumbo-jumbo by which the average investment banker and broker has been accustomed to bewilder his clients. Mr. Scott shows in a few brief chapters all that anyone needs to know in order to plan and follow a wise investment course.

He addresses his remarks to women investors; first because of their importance in the financial world, for instance the women of this country control 70 per cent of the nation's private wealth, own over half the shares of American Tel. and Tel. Co., nearly half of the Penn R. R., U. S. Steel and General Motors. Eighty per cent of inheritance taxes are paid by women, 42 per cent of income taxes, likewise 66 per cent of all war bonds are held by women, etc. Secondly because of the moth-eaten tradition, largely fostered by the women themselves, that women are by nature unable to comprehend anything but the simplest discussion of the solemn subject of finances, which makes it necessary to have their financial problems simplified.

The author packs a whale of a lot of authentic, useful information covering definition of stock, common and preferred, bonds, investment trusts, what constitutes a safe, moderately safe, a risky investment. How to study the market trends, various classes of stock and how they are affected by various conditions, such as social and world upheavals, how to diversify your holdings, to name a few.

Mr. Scott takes you gently by the hand and leads you to banks, trust companies and brokerage houses, introduces you and explains the functions of each. He shows you how inexpensive are their services each can give you and how warmly they welcome thoughtful investors, especially the small ones. In these days of heavy surtaxes the power of many small accounts is of vastly greater importance than a few large ones. He explains all about that. He tells you how to find a good broker and then take him into your confidence. Don't treat your investments like secret sins. The more your broker knows about your personal finances, the better he can advise you. There is a chapter about the Stock Exchange—how it started and what service it performs and one about wills. The author bids you to remember that a nest egg is the only kind that goes on growing after it is laid. It is really a thoughtful book, but spiked with humor so that you'll enjoy reading it again and again. So will the men of your family, surreptitiously of course.

There is a gay introduction by Emily Eimbrough and amusing sketches by Richard Decker.

A Guide to Profitable Investment
by Howard B. Gruver, 118 pages

This another equally helpful little book to show how best to make your money work for you.

The author discusses and explains very clearly such puzzlers as "The Business Cycle," "Yardsticks and Barometers;" "The Fallacy of Profits;" "The Effect of War;" the "Specifics of Capital Enchantment." Surprisingly you come out of a study of these chapters with a good working knowledge of what it all means to you—instead of leaving you completely muddled as so many other studies of this subject usually do.

He gives 12 basic rules for profitable investment, which, if followed, could not fail to result in great enchantment in the value of your holdings. Rules 1 and 2 tell you just about all you need to know about what to do to acquire a fortune. The other 10 tell you what you need to know in order to apply the rules.

Unfortunately most of us either cannot or will not stick closely to the rules. But the rules are good and well worth considering. There is more understandable information about a perplexing subject in this small volume than can be found in many financial libraries.

So now you know the way to amass a fortune. Remember when you make your first million, you owe me 10 per cent.

Iowa Farm Plan Discussed

Des Moines (AP)—A system of wheat and corn production goals for Iowa farms is under study here. The new plan, if adopted, would replace the present allotment programs. The goal system would call for state-desired goals both on state and county levels. County totals would be broken down to township levels on the basis of the ability of various townships to produce needed amounts of grain. Promoters of the plan say it would give farmers increased production on a long term basis.

Named for Priest

Priest Lake, northern Idaho, was named for a priest, Father Johann Philip Roothan, who, according to legend, drowned while crossing the lake to aid a stricken Indian.

As Pegler Sees It

order. I shall offer as the conclusion of this story Father Braun's comments on the truthfulness, intelligence and accuracy of the remarks on religion which Mr. Reynolds offered as facts. Reynolds said there was no "anti-religion" in Russia that he ever saw. He said Stalin just separated the church from the state, which, in his opinion, was "the same thing we did in our country in 1776." If he refers to the adoption of the Constitution, with the Bill of Rights, whose first article forbids the establishment of a state religion, Mr. Reynolds is 15 years out of line. The Constitution, with the Bill of Rights, was finally ratified in 1791.

Mr. Reynolds said people did go to the church in Russia. He had seen them.

Then he said that if we had ever troubled to read the Soviet constitution we might get a true picture. He said he look up this constitution. He "talked with" Father Braun. And he "mentally apologized, as a Catholic," for the things which he had thought about Russia's attitude toward religion. He believed that the money and time spent toward on Congressional investigations of Soviet propaganda in our country might better have been spent on investigations of anti-Soviet propaganda. This is exactly what the Communist traitors in the United States have been arguing for years. This is not the only time that Mr. Reynolds has lent such weight as he carries to the attack on the Congressional anti-Communist inquiries.

Commenting on this particular phase of Reynold's work, Father Braun said for publication.

"The statement made by Quentin Reynolds is analogous to the one made by Lord Beaverbrook on his return to England after the negotiation of the first clauses of lend lease in conjunction with Averell Harriman. Beaverbrook flatly declared there was no religious persecution in Russia, which is a bland untruth and completely misleading. Mr. Reynolds apparently is under the impression that the only statement the Soviet government has made regarding religion is contained in Article 124 of the Constitution decreed Dec. 5, 1936, which article, Mr. Reynolds seems to forget, not only guarantees religious freedom but also guarantees freedom of anti-religious propaganda. This latter freedom has been used by all the public appeal systems — press, radio, films and theatre—to turn religion to derision from the voting of the Constitution down to the very morning of the German invasion of the Soviet Union. This occurred at 4:30 a. m., June 22, 1941. This repression diminished only after the Germans, as their armies advanced, opened up all the churches which the Russians had closed.

"Because of a lack of knowledge of the Russian language, Mr. Reynolds ignored the fact that the government publishing house bookshop right next door to the hotel where he spoke to me, had on sale and display Stalin's official pronouncement against God and religion of any kind.

"Seventy-eight legal articles of two special laws of 1918 and 1929, never abrogated and still enforced to this day, govern a tolerated semblance of religious freedom in Soviet Russia. Mr. Reynolds should take the trouble of reading the Soviet criminal code, especially that of the Russian Socialist Federation of Soviet Republics, where one particular article practically renders null and void the proclaimed freedom of the Constitution."

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

By Edgar Scott—63 pages

This is a "Little but Oh, My" volume. In plain every day language, divested of the usual mumbo-jumbo by which the average investment banker and broker has been accustomed to bewilder his clients. Mr. Scott shows in a few brief chapters all that anyone needs to know in order to plan and follow a wise investment course.

He addresses his remarks to women investors; first because of their importance in the financial world, for instance the women of this country control 70 per cent of the nation's private wealth, own over half the shares of American Tel. and Tel. Co., nearly half of the Penn R. R., U. S. Steel and General Motors. Eighty per cent of inheritance taxes are paid by women, 42 per cent of income taxes, likewise 66 per cent of all war bonds are held by women, etc. Secondly because of the moth-eaten tradition, largely fostered by the women themselves, that women are by nature unable to comprehend anything but the simplest discussion of the solemn subject of finances, which makes it necessary to have their financial problems simplified.

The author packs a whale of a lot of authentic, useful information covering definition of stock, common and preferred, bonds, investment trusts, what constitutes a safe, moderately safe, a risky investment. How to study the market trends, various classes of stock and how they are affected by various conditions, such as social and world upheavals, how to diversify your holdings, to name a few.

Mr. Scott takes you gently by the hand and leads you to banks, trust companies and brokerage houses, introduces you and explains the functions of each. He shows you how inexpensive are their services each can give you and how warmly they welcome thoughtful investors, especially the small ones. In these days of heavy surtaxes the power of many small accounts is of vastly greater importance than a few large ones. He explains all about that. He tells you how to find a good broker and then take him into your confidence. Don't treat your investments like secret sins. The more your broker knows about your personal finances, the better he can advise you. There is a chapter about the Stock Exchange—how it started and what service it performs and one about wills. The author bids you to remember that a nest egg is the only kind that goes on growing after it is laid. It is really a thoughtful book, but spiked with humor so that you'll enjoy reading it again and again. So will the men of your family, surreptitiously of course.

There is a gay introduction by Emily Eimbrough and amusing sketches by Richard Decker.

A Guide to Profitable Investment
by Howard B. Gruver, 118 pages

This another equally helpful little book to show how best to make your money work for you.

The author discusses and explains very clearly such puzzlers as "The Business Cycle," "Yardsticks and Barometers;" "The Fallacy of Profits;" "The Effect of War;" the "Specifics of Capital Enchantment." Surprisingly you come out of a study of these chapters with a good working knowledge of what it all means to you—instead of leaving you completely muddled as so many other studies of this subject usually do.

He gives 12 basic rules for profitable investment, which, if followed, could not fail to result in great enchantment in the value of your holdings. Rules 1 and 2 tell you just about all you need to know about what to do to acquire a fortune. The other 10 tell you what you need to know in order to apply the rules.

Unfortunately most of us either cannot or will not stick closely to the rules. But the rules are good and well worth considering. There is more understandable information about a perplexing subject in this small volume than can be found in many financial libraries.

So now you know the way to amass a fortune. Remember when you make your first million, you owe me 10 per cent.

Iowa Farm Plan Discussed

Des Moines (AP)—A system of wheat and corn production goals for Iowa farms is under study here. The new plan, if adopted, would replace the present allotment programs. The goal system would call for state-desired goals both on state and county levels. County totals would be broken down to township levels on the basis of the ability of various townships to produce needed amounts of grain. Promoters of the plan say it would give farmers increased production on a long term basis.

Priest Lake, northern Idaho, was named for a priest, Father Johann Philip Roothan, who, according to legend, drowned while crossing the lake to aid a stricken Indian.

As Pegler Sees It

order. I shall offer as the conclusion of this story Father Braun's comments on the truthfulness, intelligence and accuracy of the remarks on religion which Mr. Reynolds offered as facts. Reynolds said there was no "anti-religion" in Russia that he ever saw. He said Stalin just separated the church from the state, which, in his opinion, was "the same thing we did in our country in 1776." If he refers to the adoption of the Constitution, with the Bill of Rights, whose first article forbids the establishment of a state religion, Mr. Reynolds is 15 years out of line. The Constitution, with the Bill of Rights, was finally ratified in 1791.

Mr. Reynolds said people did go to the church in Russia. He had seen them.

Then he said that if we had ever troubled to read the Soviet constitution we might get a true picture. He said he look up this constitution. He "talked with" Father Braun. And he "mentally apologized, as a Catholic," for the things which he had thought about Russia's attitude toward religion. He believed that the money and time spent toward on Congressional investigations of Soviet propaganda in our country might better have been spent on investigations of anti-Soviet propaganda. This is exactly what the Communist traitors in the United States have been arguing for years. This is not the only time that Mr. Reynolds has lent such weight as he carries to the attack on the Congressional anti-Communist inquiries.

Commenting on this particular phase of Reynold's work, Father Braun said for publication.

"The statement made by Quentin Reynolds is analogous to the one made by Lord Beaverbrook on his return to England after the negotiation of the first clauses of lend lease in conjunction with Averell Harriman. Beaverbrook flatly declared there was no religious persecution in Russia, which is a bland untruth and completely misleading. Mr. Reynolds apparently is under the impression that the only statement the Soviet government has made regarding religion is contained in Article 124 of the Constitution decreed Dec. 5, 1936, which article, Mr. Reynolds seems to forget, not only guarantees religious freedom but also guarantees freedom of anti-religious propaganda. This latter freedom has been used by all the public appeal systems — press, radio, films and theatre—to turn religion to derision from the voting of the Constitution down to the very morning of the German invasion of the Soviet Union. This occurred at 4:30 a. m., June 22, 1941. This repression diminished only after the Germans, as their armies advanced, opened up all the churches which the Russians had closed.

"Because of a lack of knowledge of the Russian language, Mr. Reynolds ignored the fact that the government publishing house bookshop right next door to the hotel where he spoke to me, had on sale and display Stalin's official pronouncement against God and religion of any kind.

"Seventy-eight legal articles of two special laws of 1918 and 1929, never abrogated and still enforced to this day, govern a tolerated semblance of religious freedom in Soviet Russia. Mr. Reynolds should take the trouble of reading the Soviet criminal code, especially that of the Russian Socialist Federation of Soviet Republics, where one particular article practically renders null and void the proclaimed freedom of the Constitution."

Churches Are Working to Put Christianity on Practical Basis

By GEORGE CORNELL

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—With a Bible under one arm and a stack of pronouncements under the other, a new, reinvigorated figure has stepped into the U. S. public arena.

He represents American churches.

Usually on the sidelines in the past, you'll find him today in the chambers of government, in the halls of labor and industry and sitting with the Council of Nations. In a strengthened voice, he states what he stands for.

He is a symbol of a new milestone in U. S. religious annals that h focused the basic creed of the churches on the conduct of the country.

Never before have churches moved on such a broad, allied front in seeking to inject the ethics of their faith into practical, working problems of society.

"Too often in the past the churches have not given expression to the Christian conscience of the nation and community," said Episcopal Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, president of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

"Events of the world have made it essential for the church to speak out."

No New Concept

The concept itself is not a new one, but it is only in recent times that i. has gained its present stature, and won the support of most denominations.

It has been a bit-by-bit thing, slowly gathering strength and now emerging with new force as the earth resounds with ideological strife, and threats of new, scientific catastrophe. It has blended the once-sporadic, disconnected voice of American churches into a rising, more articulate chorus.

And what do the churches say?

"They proclaim," said Dr. O. Frederick Nolde, church expert on international affairs, "that moral law must become controlling, not only in the lives of men as individuals, but also in their corporate lives as nations."

While churches regard the individual as the bedrock of good and evil, most of them now also view the wider social order as a sphere where spiritual values must be reinforced.

Interest Is Declared

Most religious bodies at present declare their interest in such fields as: Economic practices, labor-management relations, foreign policies, racial problems, marriage and domestic matters, the United Nations and international justice, immigration measures, education and overseas relief.

Some denominations have shunned any part in considering such issues, feeling that to do so would bring their religion down to the level of secular controversy and politics.

But the majority of U. S. Protestant churches, as well as Jewish and Catholic leaders, now see not only man, but man's communal affairs, as their mission.

"Church people have come to realize," said the Rev. Charles E. Warren of the American Baptist Convention, "that man isn't saved just to sit around and wait to accept heaven. But that man has a responsibility here on earth to fulfill the Lord's Prayer that 'Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven'."

For Effective Action

To make the "Christian conscience" effective in government and society, the programs of the newly established national council and that of many individual denominations embrace such actions as these:

Testimony before congressional committees, consultation with high government officials on major issues, presentation of views to the U.N. and other bodies, sponsoring of conferences, institutes, research and surveys on various subjects, and the broadcasting of the Christian stand via modern communication channels and literature.

In at least one instance last year, churches joined in filing a friend-of-the-court brief in behalf of a Negro student's efforts to enroll in the University of Texas.

Special nationwide observances —such as the annual "Labor Sunday," "Economic Life Week," and "Race Relations Sunday" — also point up the growing religious emphasis on social problems. Some denominations now maintain observers at the U.N. Many have begun sponsoring member visits to the U.N. and to the U. S. Capitol.

With Wider Impact

Through the national council, most major Protestant and Orthodox faiths now can speak with wider impact than ever before.

In a modern era, whose large cities and fast communications have dissipated the influence of single denominations, the members have combined their weight in behalf of principles on which they are generally agreed.

At the same time, they retain their separate modes of worship.

All but two leading Protestant bodies are represented in the 29-denomination council, which drafts its conclusions through a democratic, consultative process that reaches down to the individual churches.

Dr. Walter Van Kirk, head of the council's department on international justice and good will, said the council avoids commitments on specific legislation, and concentrates on moral issues.

"We don't button-hole congressmen or threaten retaliation at the polls or take any steps contrary to the separation of church and state," he said. "Our purpose is to give utterance to the Christian idea, and make it effective in the actions of our society."

Impetus to this objective has stemmed from the rise of world communism, and the accentuated cleavage between religion, its stress on individual dignities and rights, and regimented materialism.

Feeds Communism

Most church leaders feel that a spiritual vacuum feeds the dynamics of communism. To overcome this force, they believe religion must become even more dynamic in bringing justice and fraternity into situations dominated by social conflict.

Against this backdrop, Catholics and Jewish groups, as well as Protestants, have become increasingly vocal on social issues. The efforts for a stronger, bolder religious strategy has repeatedly brought joint and separate expressions from leaders of the three faiths.

"The simple, old-fashioned concept of the priestly role is no longer realistic . . .," says an officially circulated Catholic article. "We must operate on the assumption that the faithful laity will enter a program of social action under the dynamic leadership of the social-minded priest."

Catholic labor schools have sparked new Catholic activity in trade unionism. Recent Papal encyclicals have stressed the moral issues of economic systems.

Much More Emphasis

The Rev. R. C. Hartnett, editor-in-chief of the official Catholic national weekly, America, said Catholic school curricula today put "much more emphasis on the application of religion to economic and social problems."

Jewish organizations increasingly have stressed the relevance of Biblical teachings to current questions. On a recent Saturday in New York, a check of sermons in five synagogues showed that each had touched on international issues.

Jews and Protestants have joined in opposing the Communist-inspired Stockholm peace petition, in urging Senate ratification of the anti-genocide convention, and in opposing discriminatory immigration policies.

Dr. Van Kirk said most debate over the propriety of the churches entering secular affairs has died out.

"Christians now see that they are so much involved in these affairs," he said, "that they cannot extricate themselves and live in an isolated self-defined kingdom."

Almost Inconceivable

Dr. F. Eppling Reinertz, a United Lutheran Church spokesman, said that a decade ago it was "almost inconceivable" for his church to consider making an overture to the President or Congress. It isn't anymore.

"We tended toward confusion of the separation of church and state with the separation of good citizenship and religion," he commented.

Some denominations not in the National Council also have enlarged their programs in the field of community and national affairs.

Consider the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church, one of the two major Protestant bodies outside the council. (The other is the Southern Baptist Convention.)

"While we regard the Gospel of Christ as our primary mission," said Rev. Oswald C. J. Hoffman, a Lutheran spokesman, "we now recognize we have an obligation to see that moral law is upheld. This is a responsibility that in the past hasn't been carried out as it should have been."

Has to Be Applied

Louis Minsky, managing editor of Religious News Service, said that "churches are realizing increasingly over the years that religion has to be applied to life and current issues, and they are expressing themselves more and more on those problems."

This activity by churches is the historical child of the old "Social Gospel" preached by crusading, individual ministers around the turn of the century.

It was carried on by the founders in 1908 of the Federal Council of Churches, which grew from a small beginning to form the foundation of the new National Council.

In their present approach to social problems, the churches have sought to employ practical realism. While seeking to better the character of civilization and combat deep-seated social evils, they spurn the illusions of a world Utopia, or sudden moral regeneration.

"The church can't prevent war now, if war's going to come," said Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the National Council. "But in the long run, it can. Not by itself, but by developing understanding and bringing an enlarged lesson to the people.

An Ambitious Fellow

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—This is how Maurice Di Gran, 41, was making ends meet. He drew unemployment insurance under two names at $26 per week per name. At the same time, he worked as a postoffice mail handler by day, an $80 a week clothes presser by night and a commissioned jewelry salesman to boot. The state called Di Gran the worst violator in the unemployment relief setup's 13-year history and Magistrate Charles E. Ramsgate gave him a year in jail yesterday.

Thieves With Purpose

Clinton Gardner Is Safe in Albany Jail

Clinton Gardner, 38, who walked away from a 90-day jail sentence on January 18 while serving as a trusty at the Ulster county jail, walked into a similar sentence for the same charge, public intoxication, in Albany and is now spending 90 days in the Albany penitentiary.

Gardner, who has made many appearances in local police circles, was engaged in janitorial duties at the county court house when he took French leave by means of a rear window late in the evening just two weeks ago. Since that time police have been looking for him about his usual haunts and Wednesday County Investigator Leonard Belmore was notified by the Albany authorities that Gardner had been picked up by Officers Joseph Hagen and Harry McGowan in Albany on the same old charge and given 90 days in the pen.

A detainer will be filed with the Albany officials and Gardner will be brought back at the termination of his present sentence. At the time he escaped from the local jail, Gardner was serving a sentence imposed in City Court on January 4.

Churches Are Working to Put Christianity on Practical Basis

By GEORGE CORNELL

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—With a Bible under one arm and a stack of pronouncements under the other, a new, reinvigorated figure has stepped into the U. S. public arena.

He represents American churches.

Usually on the sidelines in the past, you'll find him today in the chambers of government, in the halls of labor and industry and sitting with the Council of Nations. In a strengthened voice, he states what he stands for.

He is a symbol of a new milestone in U. S. religious annals that h focused the basic creed of the churches on the conduct of the country.

Never before have churches moved on such a broad, allied front in seeking to inject the ethics of their faith into practical, working problems of society.

"Too often in the past the churches have not given expression to the Christian conscience of the nation and community," said Episcopal Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, president of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

"Events of the world have made it essential for the church to speak out."

No New Concept

The concept itself is not a new one, but it is only in recent times that i. has gained its present stature, and won the support of most denominations.

It has been a bit-by-bit thing, slowly gathering strength and now emerging with new force as the earth resounds with ideological strife, and threats of new, scientific catastrophe. It has blended the once-sporadic, disconnected voice of American churches into a rising, more articulate chorus.

And what do the churches say?

"They proclaim," said Dr. O. Frederick Nolde, church expert on international affairs, "that moral law must become controlling, not only in the lives of men as individuals, but also in their corporate lives as nations."

While churches regard the individual as the bedrock of good and evil, most of them now also view the wider social order as a sphere where spiritual values must be reinforced.

Interest Is Declared

Most religious bodies at present declare their interest in such fields as: Economic practices, labor-management relations, foreign policies, racial problems, marriage and domestic matters, the United Nations and international justice, immigration measures, education and overseas relief.

Some denominations have shunned any part in considering such issues, feeling that to do so would bring their religion down to the level of secular controversy and politics.

But the majority of U. S. Protestant churches, as well as Jewish and Catholic leaders, now see not only man, but man's communal affairs, as their mission.

"Church people have come to realize," said the Rev. Charles E. Warren of the American Baptist Convention, "that man isn't saved just to sit around and wait to accept heaven. But that man has a responsibility here on earth to fulfill the Lord's Prayer that 'Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven'."

For Effective Action

To make the "Christian conscience" effective in government and society, the programs of the newly established national council and that of many individual denominations embrace such actions as these:

Testimony before congressional committees, consultation with high government officials on major issues, presentation of views to the U.N. and other bodies, sponsoring of conferences, institutes, research and surveys on various subjects, and the broadcasting of the Christian stand via modern communication channels and literature.

In at least one instance last year, churches joined in filing a friend-of-the-court brief in behalf of a Negro student's efforts to enroll in the University of Texas.

Special nationwide observances —such as the annual "Labor Sunday," "Economic Life Week," and "Race Relations Sunday" — also point up the growing religious emphasis on social problems. Some denominations now maintain observers at the U.N. Many have begun sponsoring member visits to the U.N. and to the U. S. Capitol.

With Wider Impact

Through the national council, most major Protestant and Orthodox faiths now can speak with wider impact than ever before.

In a modern era, whose large cities and fast communications have dissipated the influence of single denominations, the members have combined their weight in behalf of principles on which they are generally agreed.

At the same time, they retain their separate modes of worship.

All but two leading Protestant bodies are represented in the 29-denomination council, which drafts its conclusions through a democratic, consultative process that reaches down to the individual churches.

Dr. Walter Van Kirk, head of the council's department on international justice and good will, said the council avoids commitments on specific legislation, and concentrates on moral issues.

"We don't button-hole congressmen or threaten retaliation at the polls or take any steps contrary to the separation of church and state," he said. "Our purpose is to give utterance to the Christian idea, and make it effective in the actions of our society."

Impetus to this objective has stemmed from the rise of world communism, and the accentuated cleavage between religion, its stress on individual dignities and rights, and regimented materialism.

Feeds Communism

Most church leaders feel that a spiritual vacuum feeds the dynamics of communism. To overcome this force, they believe religion must become even more dynamic in bringing justice and fraternity into situations dominated by social conflict.

Against this backdrop, Catholics and Jewish groups, as well as Protestants, have become increasingly vocal on social issues. The efforts for a stronger, bolder religious strategy has repeatedly brought joint and separate expressions from leaders of the three faiths.

"The simple, old-fashioned concept of the priestly role is no longer realistic . . .," says an officially circulated Catholic article. "We must operate on the assumption that the faithful laity will enter a program of social action under the dynamic leadership of the social-minded priest."

Catholic labor schools have sparked new Catholic activity in trade unionism. Recent Papal encyclicals have stressed the moral issues of economic systems.

Much More Emphasis

The Rev. R. C. Hartnett, editor-in-chief of the official Catholic national weekly, America, said Catholic school curricula today put "much more emphasis on the application of religion to economic and social problems."

Jewish organizations increasingly have stressed the relevance of Biblical teachings to current questions. On a recent Saturday in New York, a check of sermons in five synagogues showed that each had touched on international issues.

Jews and Protestants have joined in opposing the Communist-inspired Stockholm peace petition, in urging Senate ratification of the anti-genocide convention, and in opposing discriminatory immigration policies.

Dr. Van Kirk said most debate over the propriety of the churches entering secular affairs has died out.

"Christians now see that they are so much involved in these affairs," he said, "that they cannot extricate themselves and live in an isolated self-defined kingdom."

Almost Inconceivable

Dr. F. Eppling Reinertz, a United Lutheran Church spokesman, said that a decade ago it was "almost inconceivable" for his church to consider making an overture to the President or Congress. It isn't anymore.

"We tended toward confusion of the separation of church and state with the separation of good citizenship and religion," he commented.

Some denominations not in the National Council also have enlarged their programs in the field of community and national affairs.

Consider the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church, one of the two major Protestant bodies outside the council. (The other is the Southern Baptist Convention.)

"While we regard the Gospel of Christ as our primary mission," said Rev. Oswald C. J. Hoffman, a Lutheran spokesman, "we now recognize we have an obligation to see that moral law is upheld. This is a responsibility that in the past hasn't been carried out as it should have been."

Has to Be Applied

Louis Minsky, managing editor of Religious News Service, said that "churches are realizing increasingly over the years that religion has to be applied to life and current issues, and they are expressing themselves more and more on those problems."

This activity by churches is the historical child of the old "Social Gospel" preached by crusading, individual ministers around the turn of the century.

It was carried on by the founders in 1908 of the Federal Council of Churches, which grew from a small beginning to form the foundation of the new National Council.

In their present approach to social problems, the churches have sought to employ practical realism. While seeking to better the character of civilization and combat deep-seated social evils, they spurn the illusions of a world Utopia, or sudden moral regeneration.

"The church can't prevent war now, if war's going to come," said Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the National Council. "But in the long run, it can. Not by itself, but by developing understanding and bringing an enlarged lesson to the people.

An Ambitious Fellow

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—This is how Maurice Di Gran, 41, was making ends meet. He drew unemployment insurance under two names at $26 per week per name. At the same time, he worked as a postoffice mail handler by day, an $80 a week clothes presser by night and a commissioned jewelry salesman to boot. The state called Di Gran the worst violator in the unemployment relief setup's 13-year history and Magistrate Charles E. Ramsgate gave him a year in jail yesterday.

Thieves With Purpose

Clinton Gardner Is Safe in Albany Jail

Clinton Gardner, 38, who walked away from a 90-day jail sentence on January 18 while serving as a trusty at the Ulster county jail, walked into a similar sentence for the same charge, public intoxication, in Albany and is now spending 90 days in the Albany penitentiary.

Gardner, who has made many appearances in local police circles, was engaged in janitorial duties at the county court house when he took French leave by means of a rear window late in the evening just two weeks ago. Since that time police have been looking for him about his usual haunts and Wednesday County Investigator Leonard Belmore was notified by the Albany authorities that Gardner had been picked up by Officers Joseph Hagen and Harry McGowan in Albany on the same old charge and given 90 days in the pen.

A detainer will be filed with the Albany officials and Gardner will be brought back at the termination of his present sentence. At the time he escaped from the local jail, Gardner was serving a sentence imposed in City Court on January 4.

Churches Are Working to Put Christianity on Practical Basis

By GEORGE CORNELL

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—With a Bible under one arm and a stack of pronouncements under the other, a new, reinvigorated figure has stepped into the U. S. public arena.

He represents American churches.

Usually on the sidelines in the past, you'll find him today in the chambers of government, in the halls of labor and industry and sitting with the Council of Nations. In a strengthened voice, he states what he stands for.

With Wider Impact

Through the national council, most major Protestant and Orthodox faiths now can speak with wider impact than ever before.

In a modern era, whose large cities and fast communications have dissipated the influence of single denominations, the members have combined their weight in behalf of principles on which they are generally agreed.

At the same time, they retain their separate modes of worship.

All but two leading Protestant bodies are represented in the 29-denomination council, which drafts its conclusions through a democratic, consultative process that reaches down to the individual churches.

Dr. Walter Van Kirk, head of the council's department on international justice and good will, said the council avoids commitments on specific legislation, and concentrates on moral issues.

"We don't button-hole congressmen or threaten retaliation at the polls or take any steps contrary to the separation of church and state," he said. "Our purpose is to give utterance to the Christian idea, and make it effective in the actions of our society."

Impetus to this objective has stemmed from the rise of world communism, and the accentuated cleavage between religion, its stress on individual dignities and rights, and regimented materialism.

Feeds Communism

Most church leaders feel that a spiritual vacuum feeds the dynamics of communism. To overcome this force, they believe religion must become even more dynamic in bringing justice and fraternity into situations dominated by social conflict.

Against this backdrop, Catholics and Jewish groups, as well as Protestants, have become increasingly vocal on social issues. The efforts for a stronger, bolder religious strategy has repeatedly brought joint and separate expressions from leaders of the three faiths.

"The simple, old-fashioned concept of the priestly role is no longer realistic . . .," says an officially circulated Catholic article. "We must operate on the assumption that the faithful laity will enter a program of social action under the dynamic leadership of the social-minded priest."

Catholic labor schools have sparked new Catholic activity in trade unionism. Recent Papal encyclicals have stressed the moral issues of economic systems.

Much More Emphasis

The Rev. R. C. Hartnett, editor-in-chief of the official Catholic national weekly, America, said Catholic school curricula today put "much more emphasis on the application of religion to economic and social problems."

Jewish organizations increasingly have stressed the relevance of Biblical teachings to current questions. On a recent Saturday in New York, a check of sermons in five synagogues showed that each had touched on international issues.

Jews and Protestants have joined in opposing the Communist-inspired Stockholm peace petition, in urging Senate ratification of the anti-genocide convention, and in opposing discriminatory immigration policies.

Dr. Van Kirk said most debate over the propriety of the churches entering secular affairs has died out.

"Christians now see that they are so much involved in these affairs," he said, "that they cannot extricate themselves and live in an isolated self-defined kingdom."

Almost Inconceivable

Dr. F. Eppling Reinertz, a United Lutheran Church spokesman, said that a decade ago it was "almost inconceivable" for his church to consider making an overture to the President or Congress. It isn't anymore.

"We tended toward confusion of the separation of church and state with the separation of good citizenship and religion," he commented.

Some denominations not in the National Council also have enlarged their programs in the field of community and national affairs.

Consider the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church, one of the two major Protestant bodies outside the council. (The other is the Southern Baptist Convention.)

"While we regard the Gospel of Christ as our primary mission," said Rev. Oswald C. J. Hoffman, a Lutheran spokesman, "we now recognize we have an obligation to see that moral law is upheld. This is a responsibility that in the past hasn't been carried out as it should have been."

Has to Be Applied

Louis Minsky, managing editor of Religious News Service, said that "churches are realizing increasingly over the years that religion has to be applied to life and current issues, and they are expressing themselves more and more on those problems."

This activity by churches is the historical child of the old "Social Gospel" preached by crusading, individual ministers around the turn of the century.

It was carried on by the founders in 1908 of the Federal Council of Churches, which grew from a small beginning to form the foundation of the new National Council.

In their present approach to social problems, the churches have sought to employ practical realism. While seeking to better the character of civilization and combat deep-seated social evils, they spurn the illusions of a world Utopia, or sudden moral regeneration.

"The church can't prevent war now, if war's going to come," said Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the National Council. "But in the long run, it can. Not by itself, but by developing understanding and bringing an enlarged lesson to the people.

An Ambitious Fellow

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—This is how Maurice Di Gran, 41, was making ends meet. He drew unemployment insurance under two names at $26 per week per name. At the same time, he worked as a postoffice mail handler by day, an $80 a week clothes presser by night and a commissioned jewelry salesman to boot. The state called Di Gran the worst violator in the unemployment relief setup's 13-year history and Magistrate Charles E. Ramsgate gave him a year in jail yesterday.

Thieves With Purpose

Clinton Gardner Is Safe in Albany Jail

Clinton Gardner, 38, who walked away from a 90-day jail sentence on January 18 while serving as a trusty at the Ulster county jail, walked into a similar sentence for the same charge, public intoxication, in Albany and is now spending 90 days in the Albany penitentiary.

Gardner, who has made many appearances in local police circles, was engaged in janitorial duties at the county court house when he took French leave by means of a rear window late in the evening just two weeks ago. Since that time police have been looking for him about his usual haunts and Wednesday County Investigator Leonard Belmore was notified by the Albany authorities that Gardner had been picked up by Officers Joseph Hagen and Harry McGowan in Albany on the same old charge and given 90 days in the pen.

A detainer will be filed with the Albany officials and Gardner will be brought back at the termination of his present sentence. At the time he escaped from the local jail, Gardner was serving a sentence imposed in City Court on January 4.

Girl, 9, Says Boy Pushed Her Off 75-Foot Cliff

Nine-year-old Bernice Weeks fell or was pushed from Lighthouse drive in Saugerties down 75 feet into the water about 4 p. m. Wednesday.

She and a would-be rescuer were pulled to sefety 45 minutes later by police and firemen using ropes and ladders.

Bernice, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weeks of Lighthouse drive, tumbled down the cliff and into the creek, where she was seen by William Mauterstock, about 28, also of Saugreties.

He went down to the girl, who was standing with her feet in the icy water. He was unable to carry her up the steep and slippery embankment, however.

The plight of the two persons was noticed by others, and police were notified. Under the direction of Police Chief Richter, and Patrolman Gordon Keeley, the Washington Hook and Ladder Company was called out. Lowering two ladders and ropes, the girl and Mauterstock were finally brought to safety by 4:50 p. m.

Taken to the office of Dr. Lester Sonking in a police car, the girl was examined and ordered to Dale's Sanitarium, where it was reported to police this morning that she complained of back injuries and was scheduled for X-rays.

The girl told police that she was pushed off the road by a "12-year-old boy," but she could not furnish any other description.

Meyers Released On Parole Today

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Bennett E. Meyers, former major general in the air force was paroled from prison today.

Since 1948, he has been serving time in the federal reformatory at Lorton, Va., after being convicted of inducing a civilian associate to lie about his sideline business activities during World War 2.

He was immediately picked up by U. S. marshals to answer a federal income tax evasion indictment pending against him at Baltimore.

Meyers, removed from Lorton to the District of Columbia jail, was later taken before U. S. Commissioner Cyril Lawrence, who fixed his bond on the income tax charge at $5,000.

Meyers' associates said the bond would be posted promptly.

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Bennett E. Meyers, former major general in the air force was paroled from prison today.

Since 1948, he has been serving time in the federal reformatory at Lorton, Va., after being convicted of inducing a civilian associate to lie about his sideline business activities during World War 2.

He was immediately picked up by U. S. marshals to answer a federal income tax evasion indictment pending against him at Baltimore.

Meyers, removed from Lorton to the District of Columbia jail, was later taken before U. S. Commissioner Cyril Lawrence, who fixed his bond on the income tax charge at $5,000.

Meyers' associates said the bond would be posted promptly.

Elected at the January meeting of the Home Bureau as officers for the coming year were Mrs. Jack Friedman, chairman; Mrs. Wilbur Palmatier, Jr., vice chairman; Mrs. E. H. Faust, secretary; Mrs. Alvin Stiller, treasurer. These officers begin their erms in September. Mrs. Herman Sandy reported for the nominating committee. Miss Helen Rowe, assistant home demonstration agent for the county was present and demonstrated how to use sewing machine attachments. At the meeting February 26 Mrs. William Russell, member of the County Home Bureau executive board will demonstrate how to remove scratches and blemishes from furniture. She will also outline the food and nutrition program, also other topics for next year. Mrs. Peter Butdash, toothbrush rug leader, reported that the materials ordered have not yet arrived. This class therefore has to postpone this line of work. Mrs. Alvin Stiller is to complete the leaders' training course in braided rugs. New members are joining the class. Monday night, the 29th, the class met in the activity room. The first lesson in preparing the material was given. Mrs. Stiller and Mrs. Anthony Williams are leaders in the tray class and Wednesday afternoon the class was to meet at Mrs. Williams' home for a lesson in etching. Mrs. George Wilklow is leader for plastic bags and members can obtain the address for material and bag clasps by telephoning her. The group had a letter from Parker Decker, chairman of the March of Dimes, asking for a contribution. A collection taken netted the sum of $6.50. The new members joining are Mrs. Pecora, Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Canino, Mrs. Cassio, Mrs. Lipardi, Mrs. Kedenburg. Mrs. Philip Wilklow, vice chairman, reported 61 paid memberships.

Youth Sunday was observed in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning with Ernest Kreth presiding for the Call to Worship, the Invocation and Lord's Prayer was led by Elizabeth Coutant; responsive reading, Wilfred Relyea; Scripture lesson, Robert Churchwell; pastoral prayer, Miss Doris Mills; offertory prayer, William Thompson. The sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Oscar Jelsma was The Friendship of David and Jonathan.

Mrs. Charles Champlin will be hostess to the meeting of the U. D. Society Saturday afternoon.

Girl, 9, Says Boy Pushed Her Off 75-Foot Cliff

Nine-year-old Bernice Weeks fell or was pushed from Lighthouse drive in Saugerties down 75 feet into the water about 4 p. m. Wednesday.

She and a would-be rescuer were pulled to sefety 45 minutes later by police and firemen using ropes and ladders.

Bernice, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weeks of Lighthouse drive, tumbled down the cliff and into the creek, where she was seen by William Mauterstock, about 28, also of Saugreties.

He went down to the girl, who was standing with her feet in the icy water. He was unable to carry her up the steep and slippery embankment, however.

The plight of the two persons was noticed by others, and police were notified. Under the direction of Police Chief Richter, and Patrolman Gordon Keeley, the Washington Hook and Ladder Company was called out. Lowering two ladders and ropes, the girl and Mauterstock were finally brought to safety by 4:50 p. m.

Taken to the office of Dr. Lester Sonking in a police car, the girl was examined and ordered to Dale's Sanitarium, where it was reported to police this morning that she complained of back injuries and was scheduled for X-rays.

The girl told police that she was pushed off the road by a "12-year-old boy," but she could not furnish any other description.

New Paltz Air Observation Post

An air observation post to serve the entire New Paltz area will go into operation on top of the new student union building at New Paltz State Teachers College, according to President William J. Haggerty, chairman of the College Committee on Civilian Defense. The post will be manned by members of the College Committee on Civilian Defense, and student and faculty volunteers. Instruction to the spotters will be given by Dr. William J. Jahoda, air force reservist.

The post is being organized in cooperation with Lou Rolling, local civilian defense director, and the United States Air Force, working with officials at Stewart Field who are in charge of the Ground Observer Corps for this part of the state. The project is under the general direction of the Continental Air Command at Mitchel Air Force Base.

Supervisor of the New Paltz air observation program is Donald G. Whittredge, dean of students. Miss Edith G. Pratt, assistant dean of students, has been appointed chief observer with Miss Henrietta Harvin, director of College Hall and Student Union, as assistant chief observer.

Housemother Held On Larceny Counts

Tarrytown, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—A 27-year-old housemother at a private school and her parents were held on larceny charges yesterday, accused of taking school property over a period of several years.

Tarrytown police said the Tarrytown school, operated by physical culturist Bernarr McFadden, had misses linens and other property repeatedly for some time.

Police in Queens, New York city, where two of the arrests were made, said the school had lost property valued at $2,000. They listed towels, sheets, pillow cases and health books.

The housemother, Mrs. Margaret A. Robinson, was arrested at the school.

Her parents, Samuel Brown, 60, and Mrs. Nellie May Brown, 55, were arrested at their home in Forest Hills, Queens.

The arrests were made on warrants issued by Tarrytown Police Judge Morrie Slifkin.

Arraigned, Released

All three were arraigned yesterday and released in $500 bail each with the approval of the district attorney's office.

Police said they understood Mrs. Robinson had been married to an Alabama man, whom they did not identify.

In Alabama, Chilton County Sheriff Luther Kendrick said he had recovered property from a farm tagged "Brooklyn Home for Children," and "Tarrytown McFadden School."

He said it was called to his attention by John Robinson, a tenant farmer of this central Alabama section.

Kendrick said he found large quantities of children's clothing, bed linens and blankets, toys, books, phonograph records, a recording machine, cases of cheese, hams and bacon.

He notified Tarrytown authorities.

Kendrick quoted the farmer as saying he discovered the property when he looked around his farm after his English wife left him three months ago following a domestic quarrel.

Robinson explained he married an English girl while serving overseas. He said she came to this country after the war, accompanied by her parents. He said the parents got jobs in New York schools.

"I knew they were sending things, but I thought it was just to help out," the sheriff quoted Robinson as saying.

Cattle Surplus

Leopoldvile, Belgian Congo (AP)—Belgian officials, in Ruanda-Urundi territory, held by Belgium under a U.N. trust, are trying to persuade natives here to get rid of a half-million head of surplus cattle to conserve grazing pastures. The cattle surplus in the area has proven a headache for the authorities because a native's social prestige arises in direct proportion to the number of cattle he owns. The administration has announced that a cooperative industry for the sale and canning of surplus beef will be established. It is hoped that the lure of francs for the loss of cattle will make up for the loss of prestige.

Fire Chief Asks

were for new residential construction at $1,379,390. The 87 for non-residential purposes represented an estimated cost of $2,980,190.

For alterations, additions and repairs to residential structures 261 permits were issued at $152,675, and for the same purposes on non-residential buildings, 65 permits were issued at $288,139. The chief issued 138 permits for oil burners and tanks at $69,255, seven for gasoline tanks installed at $6,800, and three for buildings moved to new locations at $4,950.

"During the year 1950," the report said, the department responded to 514 calls, classified as follows: 53 bell alarms, one of which was a second alarm, 31 false alarms, 350 telephone alarms, 20 no cause for alarm, 37 verbal reports of fire, four calls for investigation of fire extinguished by citizens, nine out-of-city calls, 'mutual aid,' 38 emergency calls other than for fire."

'Successful Year'

The report stressed that the "department has had a very successful year. The fire loss is lower than the previous year, and the building of residents and non-resident buildings has increased."

The department answered 130 calls for grass, rubbish and brush fires, 58 for auto, truck and bus fires, 47 for oil burners out of adjustment, 14 chimney fires and 16 caused by cigarettes. Six alarms were for fires caused by blow torches, 12 for electric wires burning on poles and trees, 10 due to short circuits in fixtures, three due to refrigerator motors, and eight for dump fires.

Many other causes were listed, and among emergency calls was one for the landing of an airplane, six for leaking refrigerators, four for bursted water pipes and the same for water in cellars. Five calls were for getting cats out of trees, and one for the rescue of a dog caught in a basement window.

There was one call for accidental death by carbon monoxide, and one for a person overcome by gas. Other calls were for a bird caught in a house, a man who fell out of bed. Two calls were for children locked in a bathroom and two were for persons locked out of houses.

The chief's "classification in which fires occurred," showed 84 were in frame dwellings, 17 in brick, 14 in brick apartment, 12 frame apartment, three frame mercantile-apartment and nine in brick mercantile apartments. There were five in mercantile brick, four in brick factories, three frame sheds and three frame garages, with a large variety of single classifications.

Firemen made 613 dance hall and theatre inspections, 342 building inspections, 84 building reinspections, 174 investigations of complaints, for a total of 1,213.

The equipment report showed 21 engine pumping hours at fires, 125 gallons of soda chemical used, 11,700 feet of 1½-inch hose used, 41,050 feet of 2½-inch hose, and 29 salvage covers spread.

The report said "One person died of burns received when attempting to leave a building by way of a stairway which was involved in a fire," (Jack Vanoy).

The volunteers need new equipment, the chief's report said, and he added, "I feel sure that at least one piece of equipment will be purchased this year."

The report told of the purchase early last year of the Peter Pirsch 65-foot aerial truck now at Wiltwyck station as Truck 2. It replaced a Seagrave City Service truck which was placed in service at the A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Co., and assigned to second-alarm fires.

Praises Mutual Aid

The mutual aid plan in the county "is being carried out with great effectiveness," the chief said, and the report noted that on two occasions the department "requested assistance from our neighbors." The local department answered nine calls for help from points outside of the city.

"To the officers and members of the paid fire force and to the fire alarm electrician I extend my sincere thanks for their efficient work and cooperation during the year," the chief said.

"To the volunteer firemen, I sincerely extend my gratitude for the service rendered during the past year, and especially for their quick response to the second alarm fire at Clayton Elmendorf's garage in February, 1950. Also for giving unselfishly of their time for mutual aid calls and for the extinguishment of grass fires in our city. My thanks also to the Port Ewen Fire Company, Ulster Hose Company No. 5, and to the East Kingston Department for offering to stand by during our second alarm emergency fire. Although the volunteer fire service is nearing the 200-year mark, the companies are still rendering valuable service for which I am most grateful.

"In conclusion, I wish to extend my sincere thanks to His Honor, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, the president and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners, our two fire department chaplains, The Kingston Daily Freeman, the Ulster County News, the several city departments, and to the citizens of Kingston for their cooperation during the past year."

Charge Against Paulhus Dismissed

A charge of burglary, third degree, against Antonio Paulhus, 40, of 614 Broadway, was dismissed today when the defendant appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

A report on the dismissal said "The district attorney of Ulster county moved to dismiss the information because the grand jury had failed to return an indictment for the same crime alleged in the information."

The defendant's attorney, Guido J. Napoletano, on this basis, moved that the information be dismissed, and the motion was granted.

Paulhus was arrested Jan. 3, following the investigation of a burglary early in December at the factory of Kingsley Fashions, Inc., 17 Cornell street, when it was reported that $573 had been taken from a cash box.

Police said Paulhus had been in Maine for some time prior to his arrest here. He was picked up on a disorderly conduct charge and after questioning was booked on the burglary charge.

New Paltz Air Observation Post

An air observation post to serve the entire New Paltz area will go into operation on top of the new student union building at New Paltz State Teachers College, according to President William J. Haggerty, chairman of the College Committee on Civilian Defense. The post will be manned by members of the College Committee on Civilian Defense, and student and faculty volunteers. Instruction to the spotters will be given by Dr. William J. Jahoda, air force reservist.

The post is being organized in cooperation with Lou Rolling, local civilian defense director, and the United States Air Force, working with officials at Stewart Field who are in charge of the Ground Observer Corps for this part of the state. The project is under the general direction of the Continental Air Command at Mitchel Air Force Base.

Supervisor of the New Paltz air observation program is Donald G. Whittredge, dean of students. Miss Edith G. Pratt, assistant dean of students, has been appointed chief observer with Miss Henrietta Harvin, director of College Hall and Student Union, as assistant chief observer.

Housemother Held On Larceny Counts

Tarrytown, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—A 27-year-old housemother at a private school and her parents were held on larceny charges yesterday, accused of taking school property over a period of several years.

Tarrytown police said the Tarrytown school, operated by physical culturist Bernarr McFadden, had misses linens and other property repeatedly for some time.

Police in Queens, New York city, where two of the arrests were made, said the school had lost property valued at $2,000. They listed towels, sheets, pillow cases and health books.

The housemother, Mrs. Margaret A. Robinson, was arrested at the school.

Her parents, Samuel Brown, 60, and Mrs. Nellie May Brown, 55, were arrested at their home in Forest Hills, Queens.

The arrests were made on warrants issued by Tarrytown Police Judge Morrie Slifkin.

Arraigned, Released

All three were arraigned yesterday and released in $500 bail each with the approval of the district attorney's office.

Police said they understood Mrs. Robinson had been married to an Alabama man, whom they did not identify.

In Alabama, Chilton County Sheriff Luther Kendrick said he had recovered property from a farm tagged "Brooklyn Home for Children," and "Tarrytown McFadden School."

He said it was called to his attention by John Robinson, a tenant farmer of this central Alabama section.

Kendrick said he found large quantities of children's clothing, bed linens and blankets, toys, books, phonograph records, a recording machine, cases of cheese, hams and bacon.

He notified Tarrytown authorities.

Kendrick quoted the farmer as saying he discovered the property when he looked around his farm after his English wife left him three months ago following a domestic quarrel.

Robinson explained he married an English girl while serving overseas. He said she came to this country after the war, accompanied by her parents. He said the parents got jobs in New York schools.

"I knew they were sending things, but I thought it was just to help out," the sheriff quoted Robinson as saying.

Cattle Surplus

Leopoldvile, Belgian Congo (AP)—Belgian officials, in Ruanda-Urundi territory, held by Belgium under a U.N. trust, are trying to persuade natives here to get rid of a half-million head of surplus cattle to conserve grazing pastures. The cattle surplus in the area has proven a headache for the authorities because a native's social prestige arises in direct proportion to the number of cattle he owns. The administration has announced that a cooperative industry for the sale and canning of surplus beef will be established. It is hoped that the lure of francs for the loss of cattle will make up for the loss of prestige.

The report said "One person died of burns received when attempting to leave a building by way of a stairway which was involved in a fire," (Jack Vanoy).

The volunteers need new equipment, the chief's report said, and he added, "I feel sure that at least one piece of equipment will be purchased this year."

The report told of the purchase early last year of the Peter Pirsch 65-foot aerial truck now at Wiltwyck station as Truck 2. It replaced a Seagrave City Service truck which was placed in service at the A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Co., and assigned to second-alarm fires.

Praises Mutual Aid

The mutual aid plan in the county "is being carried out with great effectiveness," the chief said, and the report noted that on two occasions the department "requested assistance from our neighbors." The local department answered nine calls for help from points outside of the city.

"To the officers and members of the paid fire force and to the fire alarm electrician I extend my sincere thanks for their efficient work and cooperation during the year," the chief said.

"To the volunteer firemen, I sincerely extend my gratitude for the service rendered during the past year, and especially for their quick response to the second alarm fire at Clayton Elmendorf's garage in February, 1950. Also for giving unselfishly of their time for mutual aid calls and for the extinguishment of grass fires in our city. My thanks also to the Port Ewen Fire Company, Ulster Hose Company No. 5, and to the East Kingston Department for offering to stand by during our second alarm emergency fire. Although the volunteer fire service is nearing the 200-year mark, the companies are still rendering valuable service for which I am most grateful.

"In conclusion, I wish to extend my sincere thanks to His Honor, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, the president and members of the Board of Fire Commissioners, our two fire department chaplains, The Kingston Daily Freeman, the Ulster County News, the several city departments, and to the citizens of Kingston for their cooperation during the past year."

Charge Against Paulhus Dismissed

A charge of burglary, third degree, against Antonio Paulhus, 40, of 614 Broadway, was dismissed today when the defendant appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

A report on the dismissal said "The district attorney of Ulster county moved to dismiss the information because the grand jury had failed to return an indictment for the same crime alleged in the information."

The defendant's attorney, Guido J. Napoletano, on this basis, moved that the information be dismissed, and the motion was granted.

Paulhus was arrested Jan. 3, following the investigation of a burglary early in December at the factory of Kingsley Fashions, Inc., 17 Cornell street, when it was reported that $573 had been taken from a cash box.

Police said Paulhus had been in Maine for some time prior to his arrest here. He was picked up on a disorderly conduct charge and after questioning was booked on the burglary charge.

Use Experts' Advice With Due Caution

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Somebody ought to lock up all the bridge experts," complains an Akron reader. "They're always telling us how to bid or play, but when I follow their advice, I am sure to land right on my nose.

"For example, in this hand, I decided to use the Lightner Slam Double. Now as I understand it, this double asks your partner to make an unusual opening lead. I wanted my partner to lead hearts so that I could make one of my small trumps; and I therefore doubled six spades.

"Very often my partner doesn't understand me when I imitate the experts. Everything would have been all right if he had not understood me this time. But he had to pick this time to be a genius.

"He opened a heart and I ruffed. Thereupon declarer proceeded to make his slam. If I hadn't doubled, or if West had ignored my double, South would not have made his slam. I'd have made my trump trick, and West would have made his heart trick.

"What can you say in defense of the experts?"

I think my Akron correspondent will know better than to make such a double the next time. It must be pretty clear that the fault lies not in the idea of the Lightner Slam Double, but in the particular time that East chose to double.

Opening lead—♥ 3

Many slams can be defended only if an unusual opening lead is demanded. This does not mean that you double without due thought. Whenever you ask your partner to lead declarer's side suit (as East did in this case) you must always ask yourself this question: Will this lead sacrifice a trick that my partner could have made by just sitting tight? Unless you can answer this question to your satisfaction, you should not make use of the slam double.

From the way my Akron friend writes, it is clear that he is a good player. If he continues to use the Lightner Slam Double, he will soon learn not only when to use this fine convention, but also when not to use it.

GARDINER

Gardiner, Feb. 1—Miss Helen Moran of Theills spent the week-end at her home here.

Frank Jayne of Albany spent a few days this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne.

Ernest Andersen of Camp Edwards spent the week-end with his father, Hans Andersen and on Sunday both visited Hans Andersen, Jr., at the Veterans Memorial Hospital at Fort Hamilton, L. I.

Mrs. Stella Woolsey spent Thursday in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jayne and son, Billy of Schenectady and Jacqueline Jayne of New Paltz were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne Monday.

Jack Gibbons who is attending Cornell University spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbons.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moran and daughter of Wallkill and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moran of Newburgh were Sunday guests of Miss Carrie Scrivens.

Mr. and Mrs. James George and Eleanor Conklin and guest, their daughter, Mrs. Harold Hendrickson of New York were Sunday guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Poughkeepsie.

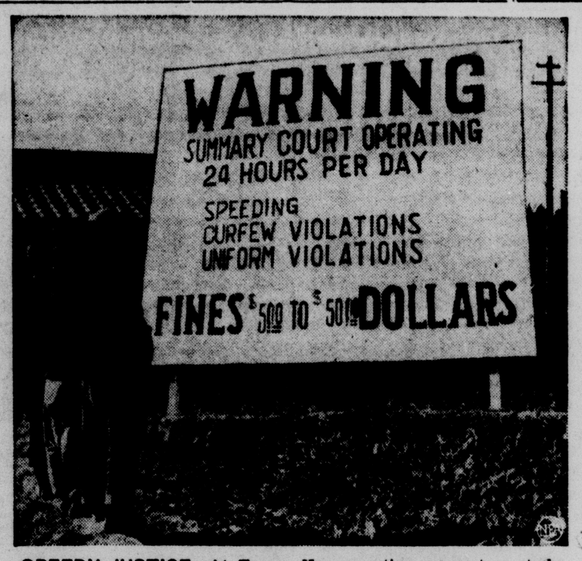
Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lasher and sons, Robert and Roy of Binnewater were Sunday guests of Mrs. Arthur Wood.

Jonas Goumas, who will be graduated from the New Paltz State Teachers' College in February, has been named to replace Edward Fox, fourth, fifth and sixth grade teacher at the Gardiner School by the New Paltz Central Board of Education. Mr. Fox was called to report for army duty and is now stationed in Texas.

The Dutch Circle will sponsor a card party Thursday, Feb. 15, at the church hall instead of Wednesday night, Feb. 14, as previously announced.

At the Youth Fellowship meeting Sunday night plans were made for a skating party to be held Wednesday, Feb. 7. All young people of the community are invited. The group will meet at the church at 6:15 p. m.

The Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church will meet at the hall Wednesday, Feb. 7, beginning at 10 a. m. The purpose of the all-day meeting will be to sew for the church world service. Mrs. Frank Slack of New Paltz will attend the meeting with materials and instructions. Each member is to bring sewing equipment. Others who have portable machines are requested to bring them. All are requested to bring lunch. Dessert and coffee will be furnished by the committee including Mrs. Joseph Simmons, Mrs. Margaret Simmons, Mrs. John Van Strien and Mrs. Myron Wells.



SPEEDY JUSTICE—At Taegu, Korea, native youngsters study a sign erected on a road leading to the UN front lines. Woman Released After Shooting

Malden Bridge, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Anetha Lorraine Radewitz has been released without charge after questioning in the fatal shooting of a 31-year-old state game protector.

The 35-year-old woman told state police she accidentally shot Thomas J. Hall, Jr., of Valatie.

In releasing Mrs. Radewitz, who lives in Chatham Center, District Attorney John N. McLaren said:

"We have no evidence for a criminal charge against Mrs. Radewitz. However, we plan to continue our investigation."

The shooting occurred about a half mile from this Columbia county community on a farm owned by C. E. Lopez, an executive of the Autocar Company of America, Buffalo.

State police said Mrs. Radewitz and Hall, both of whom were married, went to the farm where Hall worked as a caretaker in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Lopez.

Said He Showed Guns

The woman said Hall showed her a collection of guns and after firing a shotgun once or twice he handed the weapon to her and gave instructions on how to fire it.

Mrs. Radewitz said she was standing in a hallway and aimed at a tree. Police quoted her as saying Hall walked into the line of fire as she pulled the trigger.

Hall was hit in the chest by the blast from the .12 gauge shotgun.

Mrs. Radewitz said she started to drive Hall's car home and intended to notify authorities on arrival. The car slid into a ditch and she hitched a ride to a garage.

Hall is survived by a wife and a child less than a year old.

After she was released, Mrs. Radewitz returned to her home, where she lives with her husband and a four-year-old daughter.

Whenever you ask your partner to lead declarer's side suit (as East did in this case) you must always ask yourself this question: Will this lead sacrifice a trick that my partner could have made by just sitting tight? Unless you can answer this question to your satisfaction, you should not make use of the slam double.

From the way my Akron friend writes, it is clear that he is a good player. If he continues to use the Lightner Slam Double, he will soon learn not only when to use this fine convention, but also when not to use it.

GARDINER

Gardiner, Feb. 1—Miss Helen Moran of Theills spent the week-end at her home here.

Frank Jayne of Albany spent a few days this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne.

Ernest Andersen of Camp Edwards spent the week-end with his father, Hans Andersen and on Sunday both visited Hans Andersen, Jr., at the Veterans Memorial Hospital at Fort Hamilton, L. I.

Mrs. Stella Woolsey spent Thursday in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Jayne and son, Billy of Schenectady and Jacqueline Jayne of New Paltz were callers of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jayne Monday.

Jack Gibbons who is attending Cornell University spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gibbons.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moran and daughter of Wallkill and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moran of Newburgh were Sunday guests of Miss Carrie Scrivens.

Mr. and Mrs. James George and Eleanor Conklin and guest, their daughter, Mrs. Harold Hendrickson of New York were Sunday guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lasher and sons, Robert and Roy of Binnewater were Sunday guests of Mrs. Arthur Wood.

Jonas Goumas, who will be graduated from the New Paltz State Teachers' College in February, has been named to replace Edward Fox, fourth, fifth and sixth grade teacher at the Gardiner School by the New Paltz Central Board of Education. Mr. Fox was called to report for army duty and is now stationed in Texas.

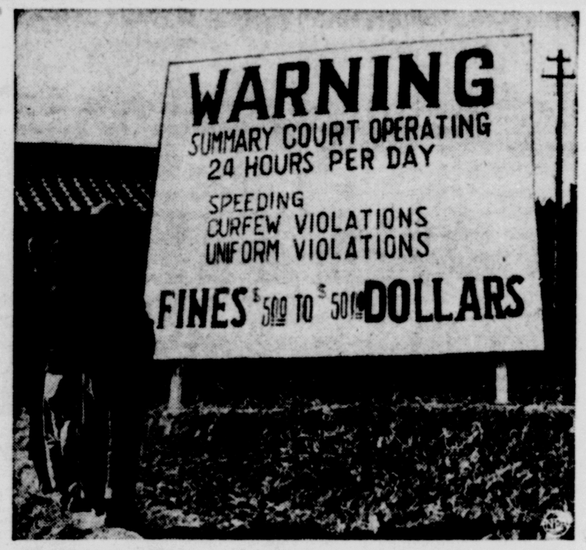
The Ladies' Aid of the Reformed Church will meet at the hall Wednesday, Feb. 7, beginning at 10 a. m. The purpose of the all-day meeting will be to sew for the church world service. Mrs. Frank Slack of New Paltz will attend the meeting with materials and instructions. Each member is to bring sewing equipment. Others who have portable machines are requested to bring them. All are requested to bring lunch. Dessert and coffee will be furnished by the committee including Mrs. Joseph Simmons, Mrs. Margaret Simmons, Mrs. John Van Strien and Mrs. Myron Wells.



SPEEDY JUSTICE—At Taegu, Korea, native youngsters study a sign erected on a road leading to the UN front lines. The sign warns G.I.'s that even though this is the combat zone, it's still against the law to speed or dress improperly. Offenders are promised speedy, round-the-clock court martial service. Woman Released After Shooting

Malden Bridge, N. Y., Feb. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Anetha Lorraine Radewitz has been released without charge after questioning in the fatal shooting of a 31-year-old state game protector.

The 35-year-old woman told state police she accidentally shot Thomas J. Hall, Jr., of Valatie.

In releasing Mrs. Radewitz, who lives in Chatham Center, District Attorney John N. McLaren said:

"We have no evidence for a criminal charge against Mrs. Radewitz. However, we plan to continue our investigation."

The shooting occurred about a half mile from this Columbia county community on a farm owned by C. E. Lopez, an executive of the Autocar Company of America, Buffalo.

State police said Mrs. Radewitz and Hall, both of whom were married, went to the farm where Hall worked as a caretaker in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Lopez.

Said He Showed Guns

The woman said Hall showed her a collection of guns and after firing a shotgun once or twice he handed the weapon to her and gave instructions on how to fire it.

Mrs. Radewitz said she was standing in a hallway and aimed at a tree. Police quoted her as saying Hall walked into the line of fire as she pulled the trigger.

Hall was hit in the chest by the blast from the .12 gauge shotgun.

Mrs. Radewitz said she started to drive Hall's car home and intended to notify authorities on arrival. The car slid into a ditch and she hitched a ride to a garage.

Hall is survived by a wife and a child less than a year old.

Saugerties Legion Helping Paraplegic Vet With Home

PHILIP DeGREGORIA

Saugerties Post, American Legion, has started a campaign to raise $1,800 to provide an elevator in the home of Philip DeGregoria (above), paraplegic veteran of Glasco.

A specially designed home for DeGregoria is being constructed at Glasco under the federal government's program for paraplegic veterans. The cost of the elevator is not included in government assistance. The home will be open for public inspection when it is completed.

Supervisor Peter Williams of Saugerties is chairman of the fund-raising drive.

DeGregoria is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael DeGregoria of Glasco. A member of the 413th Infantry, Timber Wolf Division, he holds the Silver Star for gallantry in action and a Purple Heart with cluster. He was first wounded in Belgium, October, 1944. Returning to duty, he was hit in both legs, the right shoulder and right thigh in March, 1945, in Germany. His service records note a citation received for invention of the "DeGregoria Cocktail," a tank-stopping device similar to the "Molotov Cocktail."

DeGregoria is married to the former Emma Perry of Kingston and they have one daughter, Phyllis Ann.

Gullian to Attend State Town Parley

Reupen Gullian, councilman from the Town of Esopus, will speak during the 18th annual meeting of the Association of Towns of the State of New York which opens February 6 in Buffalo, it was announced today.

Gullian will speak on "Revaluation of the Town of Esopus during the 10 a. m. session Wednesday, Feb. 7, when the assessors convene. He also will be on a panel during the 2:15 p. m. session on February 7.

Between 2,500 and 3,500 town officers of the state are expected to attend the annual three-day meeting.

Col. Lawrence A. Wilkinson, chairman of the New York State Civil Defense Commission, headlines the opening of the meeting with an address on "Protecting Ourselves and Neighbors."

All sessions will be held at the Hotel Statler in Buffalo.

Reappointments Made

The Board of Fire Commissioners last night reappointed Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, of St. Joseph's Church, and the Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church as fire department chaplains. The board also reappointed Dr. Kenneth H. LeFever and Dr. Jack Lehner as department physicians, and received and filed the annual report of the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company by Capt. A. Foster Winfield; as well as the paid department's annual report by Fire Chief Josejh L. Murphy.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Feb. 1—Mrs. Kathryn Dayton who has been ill at her home on Plattekill avenue is improving. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harriet Dayton spent Tuesday with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Van Siclen have arrived at Boynton Beach, Fla.

Others attending the supervisor's dinner at the Williams Lake Hotel last week were Frank Elliott, Dr. Robert Reid and Emory Jacobs.

Mrs. Albina Orlowski of Plattekill called on Mrs. William Thompson Saturday.

Mrs. Harry Olivett and daughter, Karen of Pleasant Valley spent Tuesday in this vicinity.

Miss Isadore Livingston and Mrs. Harold Walker have been substituting in the Clintondale school for Mrs. Gregory and Mrs. Zimmerman who have been ill.

Mrs. George Ronk has returned from Vassar Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred DuBois, Jr., were hosts at the Huguenot Grange meeting Tuesday nght.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker are entertaining their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kingston Johns and children of Ithaca.

Having recently completed aviation cadet training, Second Lt. Richard Hornbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hornbeck of New Paltz, has arrived at the Craig Air Force Base in Alabama and is a student in the pilot instructor school. Upon completion of this course, Lt. Hornbeck will be assigned to air training command pilot training base for duty as an advance for basic flight instructor. He entered the service in 1943 at New York.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bennett and children spent Sunday in Allaben and Spruceton visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Carter, Jr., are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bragg in Clintondale.

Mrs. Comma Cole spent the week-end in Poughkeepsie with her granddaughter, Mrs. William Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Decker of Kerhonkson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Decker, Sr. last Sunday.

Miss Helen M. Crook of Newburgh whose engagement was recently announced to Frederick W. Mohlmann of Bellport, L. I., formerly attended the local college.

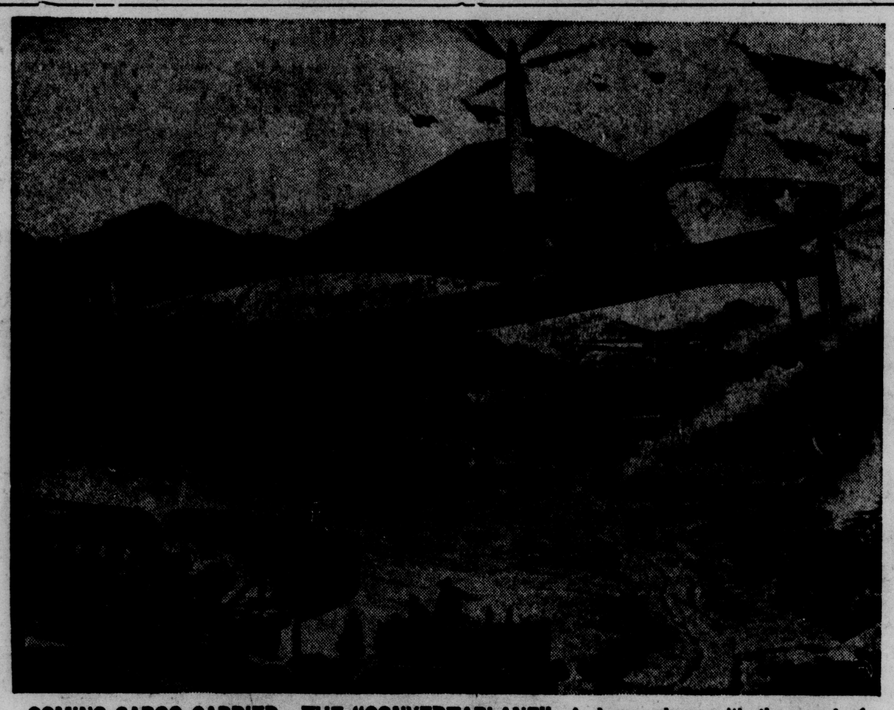
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean and daughter, Geryl were the week-end guests of Mr. Dean's mother, Mrs. E. L. Clark.

Several members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion attended the county meeting in Wallkill Thursday night.

The consistory of the Reformed Church will meet at the social rooms Thursday, Feb. 8. Plans for renovation and redecoration of the interior of the church will be discussed.

The Drum and Bugle Corps held its first meeting of the year last week.

Paul E. Mahler, New Paltz, was one of the 400 candidates graduating Thursday from R. P. I. in Troy. He received the degree of management endingeering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Mahler, R. F. D. 2, New Paltz. He also is a member of Pi Kappa Phi faternity and Epsilon Delta Sigma, honorary management fraternity and a member of the varsity soccer team in 1948.



COMING CARGO CARRIER—THE "CONVERTAPLANE"—A dream plane, with the speed of an airliner and the landing qualities of a helicopter, is the "Convertaplane," envisioned by the editors of Mechanix Illustrated magazine. The revolutionary craft, as visualized in the sketch above, would be able to land wherever a helicopter can—eliminating the long, expensive runways where 90 per cent of all air accidents occur during landing and take-off at high speeds. Pioneers of the new craft, the magazine says, are already perfecting it, with the backing of the U. S. government.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Economic dictatorship and defense regimentation are now in force. The price-and-wage edict of last week will make everyone conscious that Washington, and not the free-enterprise system, is now in control of American business.

It had to come, in the Ruminator's opinion, but it will cause grumbling and complaining for months perhaps years.

It is an interesting commentary on public psychology to observe people's feeling and comments. Prior to the price-freeze order the public was clamoring for protection against the swift rise in the cost of living. As soon as the edict was released, people immediately complained: "Oh, for heaven's sakes, they've frozen prices at the highest levels in history! I thought they were going to roll back prices."

Workers and unions immediately complained, of course, about the inequities in freezing wages.

We shall find as the weeks pass that there will be hundreds of adjustments. Instead of a price "freeze" it will turn out that price and wages—that is, the inflation—will simply be curbed, or "controlled." There will be so many adjustments (all of them upward, with a few exceptions) that many will wonder why a blanket "freeze" was attempted.

It is exceedingly unfortunate that the term "roll back" has been used so commonly in Washington over the past months, because it has led people to believe that prices would be reduced all along the line. It would be impossible to roll back prices in general, and why the government persistently fools the public as it does in these economic terms is beyond me. It seems to be a part of politics to make announcements that are popular at the moment, without looking ahead to the probable kick-backs when it is found that the popular idea just isn't workable.

In the meantime, confusion and complaints will multiply.

However, as time goes on the situation will clarify — but the hard fact remains that we are in for a long period of mibilization and "controlled economics." It is simply necessary to recognize it and not fight the facts.

This week General Eisenhower will set the stage for the final arguments in the "great debate" over foreign policy and war policies.

Soon, therefore, the nation will knuckle down to hard work, long hours, and an era unknown before in this country; namely, all-out preparation for a possible war that, if it occurs, will be far more catastrophic than anything experienced previously.

Looking on the bright side of things for a moment, it seems to the Ruminator that we have cause for greater optimism at this moment than we had a year ago.

The nation at last faces the worst, in place of wishfully thinking that everything will be all right.

We are at last moving from a negative, defensive policy to one of forthright girding for what-may-come. In Korea, the U.N. forces are proving a great surprise to the Red Chinese, who thought they could push our forces off the peninsula in a month if they wished to.

At home, we are telling the world that we are quite willing to spend upwards of a hundred billion dollars in the next years, if necessary, to show Russia we have no intention of buckling under or of being licked by anyone.

In Nevada the most powerful propaganda agent of all has just released two "messages" that no one will misinterpret! Atomic explosions tell a story that even Russia understands. And Russia's satellites must be pondering, since last week's experimental blasts in Nevada, just how many atomic weapons we do have. Certainly, we must have a good supply or we wouldn't be setting them off for experiment. Secondly, it is clear that other atomic weapons, beside the bomb, are in process of development—perhaps perfected. Atomic artillery shells are supposedly in work.

It is evident that the world will know—the Russian and Chinese world—now that we mean business. Soon, as the western European nations join in the defense perimeter, it is an even guess that Russia may drop her aggressive attitude. In any event, we shall be ready.

Depicts Surrender

New York (AP)—Gibbs and Cox, naval architects, have announced the completion of a detailed model of the 45,000 ton U.S.S. Missouri which shows tiny tables, documents, pens and pen-holders representing those used in the Japanese surrender on board the dreadnought in 1945. The model measures a little more than 18 feet, seven inches in length and weighs 1,500 pounds. It was built for the navy and will be exhibited in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. More than a year was required to construct the sleek reproduction of the famous warship.

New Insecticide Produced

Washington (AP) — Industrial chemists, aided by government scientists, have produced a new insecticide called allethrin which has proved highly effective against houseflies and mosquitoes. The insecticide was commercially produced within one year after its discovery by a team of scientists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Discovery of allethrin as a synthethic chemical followed long studies of the active insect poison in pyrethrum by chemists in the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. The new insecticide can be used effectively against flies and mosquitoes which have built up a resistance to DDT.

No matter how severe the winter...

See how well your car can perform

With today's "CALSO"... the NEW BIG NAME in gasoline specially formulated for cold-weather driving

If you're like most motorists, you know that your car requires special winter-grade motor oils and lubricants for protection during the cold-weather season. But did you know you need to make the same kind of change in motor fuel for best possible winter performance? You get it with today's Calso Gasoline.

Winter-grade "Calso" has the higher volatility and increased vapor pressure you need in cold weather. It quickly snaps the most sluggish engine into action . . . shortens the warm-up period . . . results in less oil dilution and engine wear. And you get every bit of the smooth pick-up and long mileage you enjoyed with "Calso" all summer!

The "Calso" stations in your neighborhood are now pumping winter-grade. Drive in at the big red "Calso" sign today and tank up. Winter-grade "Calso" costs you no more . . . but what a difference it makes in the way your car performs.

Stop at the big red sign...

NEW FINANCE PLAN Available to Business Operators

Poughkeepsie, New York

Electric Products, Inc., 357 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie, New York has just announced a revised finance plan for restaurant and tavern owners planning conversion of existing premises to serve more people or for the conservation and dispensing of foods and beverages or modernizing and air-conditioning their properties.

This finance plan was devised to help such owners make needed replacements of obsolete equipment and to install such other equipment as will enable them to operate with a possible decreased working force, in the interests of a contemplated influx of defense workers in this area.

Mr. Edwin J. Stoll states that the terms extended include several plans, starting with a basic period of 24 months without the necessity of making a down payment. In special instances, it is stated that the repayment period will be extended to 36 months. There is also a plan by which repayments are made daily on the EPI Meter Plan, with payments made from profits derived through the cost-reducing use of more modern equipment, and other variations of these three repayment plans.

Mr. Stoll advises that this plan is limited to the purchase of imperative needs for refrigerated equipment required for the proper serving and conservation of foods and beverages and to make existing premises comfortable during the summer with a minimum use of critical materials.—Adv.

NEW FINANCE PLAN Available to Business Operators

Poughkeepsie, New York

Electric Products, Inc., 357 Mill Street, Poughkeepsie, New York has just announced a revised finance plan for restaurant and tavern owners planning conversion of existing premises to serve more people or for the conservation and dispensing of foods and beverages or modernizing and air-conditioning their properties.

This finance plan was devised to help such owners make needed replacements of obsolete equipment and to install such other equipment as will enable them to operate with a possible decreased working force, in the interests of a contemplated influx of defense workers in this area.

Mr. Edwin J. Stoll states that the terms extended include several plans, starting with a basic period of 24 months without the necessity of making a down payment. In special instances, it is stated that the repayment period will be extended to 36 months. There is also a plan by which repayments are made daily on the EPI Meter Plan, with payments made from profits derived through the cost-reducing use of more modern equipment, and other variations of these three repayment plans.

Mr. Stoll advises that this plan is limited to the purchase of imperative needs for refrigerated equipment required for the proper serving and conservation of foods and beverages and to make existing premises comfortable during the summer with a minimum use of critical materials.—Adv.

COMING CARGO CARRIER—THE "CONVERTAPLANE"—A dream plane, with the speed of an airliner and the landing qualities of a helicopter, is the "Convertaplane," envisioned by the editors of Mechanix Illustrated magazine. The revolutionary craft, as visualized in the sketch above, would be able to land wherever a helicopter can—eliminating the long, expensive runways where 90 per cent of all air accidents occur during landing and take-off at high speeds. Pioneers of the new craft, the magazine says, are already perfecting it, with the backing of the U. S. government.

THE RUMINATOR

A Column of Contrary Opinion
By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

Economic dictatorship and defense regimentation are now in force. The price-and-wage edict of last week will make everyone conscious that Washington, and not the free-enterprise system, is now in control of American business.

It had to come, in the Ruminator's opinion, but it will cause grumbling and complaining for months perhaps years.

It is an interesting commentary on public psychology to observe people's feeling and comments. Prior to the price-freeze order the public was clamoring for protection against the swift rise in the cost of living. As soon as the edict was released, people immediately complained: "Oh, for heaven's sakes, they've frozen prices at the highest levels in history! I thought they were going to roll back prices."

Workers and unions immediately complained, of course, about the inequities in freezing wages.

We shall find as the weeks pass that there will be hundreds of adjustments. Instead of a price "freeze" it will turn out that price and wages—that is, the inflation—will simply be curbed, or "controlled." There will be so many adjustments (all of them upward, with a few exceptions) that many will wonder why a blanket "freeze" was attempted.

It is exceedingly unfortunate that the term "roll back" has been used so commonly in Washington over the past months, because it has led people to believe that prices would be reduced all along the line. It would be impossible to roll back prices in general, and why the government persistently fools the public as it does in these economic terms is beyond me. It seems to be a part of politics to make announcements that are popular at the moment, without looking ahead to the probable kick-backs when it is found that the popular idea just isn't workable.

In the meantime, confusion and complaints will multiply.

However, as time goes on the situation will clarify — but the hard fact remains that we are in for a long period of mibilization and "controlled economics." It is simply necessary to recognize it and not fight the facts.

This week General Eisenhower will set the stage for the final arguments in the "great debate" over foreign policy and war policies.

Soon, therefore, the nation will knuckle down to hard work, long hours, and an era unknown before in this country; namely, all-out preparation for a possible war that, if it occurs, will be far more catastrophic than anything experienced previously.

Looking on the bright side of things for a moment, it seems to the Ruminator that we have cause for greater optimism at this moment than we had a year ago.

The nation at last faces the worst, in place of wishfully thinking that everything will be all right.

We are at last moving from a negative, defensive policy to one of forthright girding for what-may-come. In Korea, the U.N. forces are proving a great surprise to the Red Chinese, who thought they could push our forces off the peninsula in a month if they wished to.

At home, we are telling the world that we are quite willing to spend upwards of a hundred billion dollars in the next years, if necessary, to show Russia we have no intention of buckling under or of being licked by anyone.

In Nevada the most powerful propaganda agent of all has just released two "messages" that no one will misinterpret! Atomic explosions tell a story that even Russia understands. And Russia's satellites must be pondering, since last week's experimental blasts in Nevada, just how many atomic weapons we do have. Certainly, we must have a good supply or we wouldn't be setting them off for experiment. Secondly, it is clear that other atomic weapons, beside the bomb, are in process of development—perhaps perfected. Atomic artillery shells are supposedly in work.

It is evident that the world will know—the Russian and Chinese world—now that we mean business. Soon, as the western European nations join in the defense perimeter, it is an even guess that Russia may drop her aggressive attitude. In any event, we shall be ready.

Depicts Surrender

New York (AP)—Gibbs and Cox, naval architects, have announced the completion of a detailed model of the 45,000 ton U.S.S. Missouri which shows tiny tables, documents, pens and pen-holders representing those used in the Japanese surrender on board the dreadnought in 1945. The model measures a little more than 18 feet, seven inches in length and weighs 1,500 pounds. It was built for the navy and will be exhibited in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. More than a year was required to construct the sleek reproduction of the famous warship.

New Insecticide Produced

Washington (AP) — Industrial chemists, aided by government scientists, have produced a new insecticide called allethrin which has proved highly effective against houseflies and mosquitoes. The insecticide was commercially produced within one year after its discovery by a team of scientists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Discovery of allethrin as a synthethic chemical followed long studies of the active insect poison in pyrethrum by chemists in the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. The new insecticide can be used effectively against flies and mosquitoes which have built up a resistance to DDT.

No matter how severe the winter...

See how well your car can perform

With today's "CALSO"... the NEW BIG NAME in gasoline specially formulated for cold-weather driving

If you're like most motorists, you know that your car requires special winter-grade motor oils and lubricants for protection during the cold-weather season. But did you know you need to make the same kind of change in motor fuel for best possible winter performance? You get it with today's Calso Gasoline.

Winter-grade "Calso" has the higher volatility and increased vapor pressure you need in cold weather. It quickly snaps the most sluggish engine into action . . . shortens the warm-up period . . . results in less oil dilution and engine wear. And you get every bit of the smooth pick-up and long mileage you enjoyed with "Calso" all summer!

The "Calso" stations in your neighborhood are now pumping winter-grade. Drive in at the big red "Calso" sign today and tank up. Winter-grade "Calso" costs you no more . . . but what a difference it makes in the way your car performs.

CALSO GASOLINE

Stop at the big red sign...

You'll KNOW it's Calso!

Holyoke Alumnae Council to Meet

South Hadley, Mass., Feb. 1—The 35th annual meeting of the Mount Holyoke college Alumnae Council, of which Mrs. Thomas L. Partlan of 254 Delaware avenue, Kingston is a member, will be held at the college February 8-11. Mrs. Partlan represents the Hudson Valley Alumnae Club.

President Roswell Gray Ham will discuss "College Heredity versus Environment" before more than 130 alumnae from 16 different states, keynoting the theme "A Heritage Develops." Panel discussions will show how the college is attempting to offer a liberal education and at the same time train its students to become effective leaders in the atomic age. The four day program will also include a review of college finances, and a discussion of alumnae funds at Mount Holyoke and elsewhere.

Local Boy Soprano To Appear Tuesday At Benefit Musical

ROCCO AUTORINO, JR.

Much anticipation and enthusiasm has been shown in behalf of the Benedictine Hospital Building Fund musical, it was announced today, when Rocco Autorino, Jr., talented local boy soprano, will appear with David Kuschner. The musical, scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 6, will be held in the Kingston High School auditorium.

David Kuschner of Ellenville, an accomplished 14-year-old pianist, and his co-star, Rocco Autorino Jr., have been reported "looking forward to a musical evening." Meanwhile reports also indicate that music lovers have shown great interest in the teen-age pianist.

Attendance at the musical, it has been stressed, will do much to further the careers of both boys, who are donating their services both for the hospital, and the pleasure of attending patrons.

Adult and student tickets for the event are on sale at the Rossi Music Shop, the Stuyvesant Barber Shop, the James Sweeney Music Studio, and Valeo's Hardware in Kingston, and at Deanie's Restaurant and the Hilda Lightstone Shop in Woodstock.

Miss Audrey Jane Kraus and Frank Lyons Are Married in Church Ceremony Sunday

Miss Audrey Jane Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Lyons of 3 North Front street, and Frank A. Kraus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kraus of 43 Jansen avenue, were married Sunday, Jan. 28 at 2 p. m. in St. Peter's Church here. The Rev. Henry E. Herdegen perfc med the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of blue faille taffeta, with matching mitts. Her shoulder length veil was caught to a blue net flower headpiece, and she carried a hand bouquet of gardenias and pink carnations, with pink showers.

Mrs. Gordon Anderson of 184 Lucas avenue, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina length gown was of dusty pink faille taffeta, completed with matching mitts, and a matching headpiece. For flowers she carried a hand bouquet of blue iris and yellow daffodils.

Chester Lyons, Jr., of 3 North Front street, brother of the bride, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at Roseland Restaurant, Washington avenue. Music was provided by Johnny Knapp, and his orchestra.

On their wedding trip the couple will vacation in Florida. The bride selected a deep wine suit for traveling, with navy blue accessories, and a gardenia corsage. Upon their return, the couple will make their home with the groom's parents at 43 Jansen avenue.

The bride attended Kingston High School, and is employed at the Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen.

THE "GOING STEADY" PROBELM

A thoughful mother writes: "In this community there is an accepted custom which I don't like. Young girls and boys 'go steady'—meaning they see each other exclusively and as long as this understanding exists it's hands off by others. Maybe it's true what my daughter says, that being able to count on one boy to take you to the school dances and parties, etc., has it advantages. But to me it's an easy way out for the girl who hasn't many social or personal assets. What's more, this should be a training period for young people to learn to mingle with and know all kinds of boys and girls. I do wish you'd discuss this because I'm told it's a rather general practice among the young."

Personally, this situation is entirely outside of my experience, but I have been told of it and apparently it is the custom in many smaller communities. From a worldly standpoint, it is unthinkable! In fact, it could so segregate a boy and a girl as to literally prevent their making any wide acquaintanceship and hence cripple their entire social life.

A Stalemate Between Engaged Families

Dear Mrs. Post: You have advised the girl's family to take the initiative when the man's family is slow to pay them a visit. You say that the girl's mother may invite them. That makes good sense. But how does her family get his family to write letters when they live at a distance and can't visit?

Answer: The girl could tell her fiance that her family is expecting to hear from his family. If this avails nothing, the best advice is for her mother to take the initiative and write to his mother instead of the other way round and say how gladly they have welcomed John into their family and that they are looking forward to meeting his parents.

Be Chary of Carrying Tales

Dear Mrs. Post: I've a friend who is obviously being "used" by certain people she works with. She doesn't know it. Would it be within the rights of a friend to tell her?

Answer: It usually is the best for the friend to keep out.

Religious Dispute Ended

Cairo (AP)—A centuries-old dispute between the Egyptian and Ethiopian branches of the Coptic Orthodox Church has finally been settled with the appointment of an Ethiopian patrairch for Ethiopia. The new church head, Archbishop Basilios, is the first Ethiopian to head the church in his home country in more than 15 centuries. He was recently consecrated in a ceremony here.

Holyoke Alumnae Council to Meet

South Hadley, Mass., Feb. 1—The 35th annual meeting of the Mount Holyoke college Alumnae Council, of which Mrs. Thomas L. Partlan of 254 Delaware avenue, Kingston is a member, will be held at the college February 8-11. Mrs. Partlan represents the Hudson Valley Alumnae Club.

President Roswell Gray Ham will discuss "College Heredity versus Environment" before more than 130 alumnae from 16 different states, keynoting the theme "A Heritage Develops." Panel discussions will show how the college is attempting to offer a liberal education and at the same time train its students to become effective leaders in the atomic age. The four day program will also include a review of college finances, and a discussion of alumnae funds at Mount Holyoke and elsewhere.

Local Boy Soprano To Appear Tuesday At Benefit Musical

ROCCO AUTORINO, JR.

Much anticipation and enthusiasm has been shown in behalf of the Benedictine Hospital Building Fund musical, it was announced today, when Rocco Autorino, Jr., talented local boy soprano, will appear with David Kuschner. The musical, scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 6, will be held in the Kingston High School auditorium.

David Kuschner of Ellenville, an accomplished 14-year-old pianist, and his co-star, Rocco Autorino Jr., have been reported "looking forward to a musical evening." Meanwhile reports also indicate that music lovers have shown great interest in the teen-age pianist.

Attendance at the musical, it has been stressed, will do much to further the careers of both boys, who are donating their services both for the hospital, and the pleasure of attending patrons.

Adult and student tickets for the event are on sale at the Rossi Music Shop, the Stuyvesant Barber Shop, the James Sweeney Music Studio, and Valeo's Hardware in Kingston, and at Deanie's Restaurant and the Hilda Lightstone Shop in Woodstock.

Miss Audrey Jane Kraus and Frank Lyons Are Married in Church Ceremony Sunday

Miss Audrey Jane Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Lyons of 3 North Front street, and Frank A. Kraus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kraus of 43 Jansen avenue, were married Sunday, Jan. 28 at 2 p. m. in St. Peter's Church here. The Rev. Henry E. Herdegen performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of blue faille taffeta, with matching mitts. Her shoulder length veil was caught to a blue net flower headpiece, and she carried a hand bouquet of gardenias and pink carnations, with pink showers.

Mrs. Gordon Anderson of 184 Lucas avenue, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina length gown was of dusty pink faille taffeta, completed with matching mitts, and a matching headpiece. For flowers she carried a hand bouquet of blue iris and yellow daffodils.

Chester Lyons, Jr., of 3 North Front street, brother of the bride, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception for 100 guests was held at Roseland Restaurant, Washington avenue. Music was provided by Johnny Knapp, and his orchestra.

On their wedding trip the couple will vacation in Florida. The bride selected a deep wine suit for traveling, with navy blue accessories, and a gardenia corsage. Upon their return, the couple will make their home with the groom's parents at 43 Jansen avenue.

The bride attended Kingston High School, and is employed at the Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen.

Good Taste Today

THE "GOING STEADY" PROBELM

A thoughful mother writes: "In this community there is an accepted custom which I don't like. Young girls and boys 'go steady'—meaning they see each other exclusively and as long as this understanding exists it's hands off by others. Maybe it's true what my daughter says, that being able to count on one boy to take you to the school dances and parties, etc., has it advantages. But to me it's an easy way out for the girl who hasn't many social or personal assets. What's more, this should be a training period for young people to learn to mingle with and know all kinds of boys and girls. I do wish you'd discuss this because I'm told it's a rather general practice among the young."

Personally, this situation is entirely outside of my experience, but I have been told of it and apparently it is the custom in many smaller communities. From a worldly standpoint, it is unthinkable! In fact, it could so segregate a boy and a girl as to literally prevent their making any wide acquaintanceship and hence cripple their entire social life.

A Stalemate Between Engaged Families

Dear Mrs. Post: You have advised the girl's family to take the initiative when the man's family is slow to pay them a visit. You say that the girl's mother may invite them. That makes good sense. But how does her family get his family to write letters when they live at a distance and can't visit?

Answer: The girl could tell her fiance that her family is expecting to hear from his family. If this avails nothing, the best advice is for her mother to take the initiative and write to his mother instead of the other way round and say how gladly they have welcomed John into their family and that they are looking forward to meeting his parents.

Be Chary of Carrying Tales

Dear Mrs. Post: I've a friend who is obviously being "used" by certain people she works with. She doesn't know it. Would it be within the rights of a friend to tell her?

Answer: It usually is the best for the friend to keep out.

Is it good manners to break crackers into soup? How should a baked potato be eaten? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but answers to the above questions are included in leaflet E-16, "Table Rules of Importance." Well Child Clinic Slated on Feb. 7th

A child health conference is scheduled by the Ulster County Health Department for Wednesday, February 7, at 25 West O'Reilly street 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Dr. Harry L. Bibby will be the physician in charge assisted by Miss Ann Hayes, R.N., public health nurse.

These are well child clinics limited to infant and preschool children only, for the mintenance of health and prevention of disease, and not for the care of the sick child. Their purpose is to improve child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administration of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted to these clinics unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the child health conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

Girl, 13, Shoots Cousin, Clubs Baby With Gun

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A 13-year-old schoolgirl went berserk with a pistol last night, firing four bullets into her cousin—a 26-year-old mother—and clubbing the woman's baby on the head.

Ida Laviano of (34-48 112th street Corona) Queens is to appear in Queen's Children's Court today. She is charged with juvenile delinquency. Her cousin, Mrs. Ruth Orione, is reported in critical condition with bullets in her right breast, abdomen, and both arms.

Police said the Laviano girl, who could give no explanation of her action, was still holding the smoking revolver when officers broke into the Orione kitchen. Mrs. Orione lay on the floor and her infant son sat crying in the high chair, his head battered.

The gun was a police revolver belonging to Mrs. Orione's husband, a patrolman who was not at home at the time.

Assistant District Attorney Victor Levin pieced together this story of the shooting:

Mrs. Orione, whose apartment is in the same building as that occupied by Ida and Ida's parents—Luigi and Mary Laviano—heard a gunshot upstairs a few moments after Ida had paid her a visit.

Mrs. Orione rushed to the Laviano apartment, found the door locked, and called to Ida, who was alone: "What are you doing?" The reply was a shot through the door. A bullet winged past Mrs. Orione and lodged in the wall.

Then the door opened and out came Ida, gun in hand. She stalked her screaming cousin into the downstairs kitchen where she fired four shots, all of which hit her. The baby began to cry and Ida clubbed him several times with the revolver.

To Take Fingerprints

Mrs. George Flemings, chief observer, today requested all aircraft spotters who have not been fingerprinted to report at police headquarters at the city hall Friday evening between 6:30 and 8 o'clock. Anyone wishing to volunteer for the ground observer corps may register at that time.

To Hold Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Rapid Hose Company will be held at 8 p. m. today. Important business will be discussed and all members are requested to attend.

Nelson's Descendant Dies

Singapore (AP) — Wing Commander Henry E. R. Nelson, great grand nephew of Admiral Lord Nelson, has died in Singapore age 51. One of the most popular R.A.F. officers in Singapore, Wing Commander Nelson joined the R.A.F. in 1931. During the Battle of Britain he flew Sunderlands for Coastal Command.

Planned Parenthood Group Holds Annual Luncheon Meeting

Members of the Planned Parenthood Committee from Kingston, Woodstock, and New Paltz met Wednesday afternoon at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the group's annual luncheon meeting. Guest speakers were Dr. Hamilton Boyd, Jr. and Dr. Eugene P. Link. They were introduced by Dr. Kenneth Howe. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom gave the blessing.

The luncheon was keynoted by Dr. Boyd, new medical director of the Maternal Health Center for Planned Parenthood, 578 Broadway, who, referring to the group's annual drive stated, "I'm sure the drive will be a great success."

Dr. Howe, chairman of Education at New Paltz State Teachers College, then introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Link, head of the social science department, and a newcomer to that college. In addition to his work at New Paltz, Dr. Link has taught at the University of Denver and Columbia University, where he received his degree as Doctor of Philosophy. Last summer Dr. and Mrs. Link traveled through several north European countries, where they plan to return again this year, to study general family patterns.

Speaking on "Planned Parenthood in a Democracy," Dr. Link refuted the popular conception that modern womanhood in this country has become the lost sex. History, he pointed out, also shows a definite, and unfair bias against womanhood, discrediting, or forgetting, women's achievments. Typical examples cited by the speaker included various contributions women have made to our culture from the cooking range, to the Georgian woman who suggested the principle of the cotton gin to Eli Whitney.

Women's Struggle

"Women," Dr. Link stressed, "have had a long struggle to share in the decisions which affect their lives."

The temperance movement, he explained, primarily fostered and carried out by the nation's women was, in reality, not a purely moralistic step, but an attempt to alleviate a situation which had adverse effects upon the home. Planned parenthood, he said, is merley another feminine movement, designed to further women's equality to men, and to better the family.

The speaker then touched on some of the more prominent figures who have helped further planned parenthood, as Robert Dale Owen and Frances Wright who founded New Harmony, Ind.; Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, the first woman doctor to be graduated in the United States, and the founder of the Women's and Children's Hospital in New York; and Dr. Mary Putnam Jacoby, and her husband, Dr. Abraham Jacoby, the great New York pediatrician.

"Women" he said, "have not only worked for temperance and peace, but for a decent, ordered family life."

Health Center Facts

The Maternal Health Center for Planned Parenthood, which is open every Thursday from 10 a. m. to 12 m., is for any married mother who cannot afford a private physician. Those mothers who are able to afford medical treatment are referred to a list of reliable physicians. No. patient is ever turned away because of inability to pay.

While at the center each patient is given a complete physical examination, and a patient needing medical, or surgical care is referred to her own doctor. A doctor, nurse, interviewer, and receptionist are present at each session.

Neon signs became popular in the United States toward the end of the '20's.

At Planned Parenthood Luncheon

Well Child Clinic Slated on Feb. 7th

A child health conference is scheduled by the Ulster County Health Department for Wednesday, February 7, at 25 West O'Reilly street 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Dr. Harry L. Bibby will be the physician in charge assisted by Miss Ann Hayes, R.N., public health nurse.

These are well child clinics limited to infant and preschool children only, for the mintenance of health and prevention of disease, and not for the care of the sick child. Their purpose is to improve child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administration of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted to these clinics unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the child health conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

Girl, 13, Shoots Cousin, Clubs Baby With Gun

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A 13-year-old schoolgirl went berserk with a pistol last night, firing four bullets into her cousin—a 26-year-old mother—and clubbing the woman's baby on the head.

Ida Laviano of (34-48 112th street Corona) Queens is to appear in Queen's Children's Court today. She is charged with juvenile delinquency. Her cousin, Mrs. Ruth Orione, is reported in critical condition with bullets in her right breast, abdomen, and both arms.

Police said the Laviano girl, who could give no explanation of her action, was still holding the smoking revolver when officers broke into the Orione kitchen. Mrs. Orione lay on the floor and her infant son sat crying in the high chair, his head battered.

The gun was a police revolver belonging to Mrs. Orione's husband, a patrolman who was not at home at the time.

Assistant District Attorney Victor Levin pieced together this story of the shooting:

Mrs. Orione, whose apartment is in the same building as that occupied by Ida and Ida's parents—Luigi and Mary Laviano—heard a gunshot upstairs a few moments after Ida had paid her a visit.

Mrs. Orione rushed to the Laviano apartment, found the door locked, and called to Ida, who was alone: "What are you doing?" The reply was a shot through the door. A bullet winged past Mrs. Orione and lodged in the wall.

Then the door opened and out came Ida, gun in hand. She stalked her screaming cousin into the downstairs kitchen where she fired four shots, all of which hit her. The baby began to cry and Ida clubbed him several times with the revolver.

To Take Fingerprints

Mrs. George Flemings, chief observer, today requested all aircraft spotters who have not been fingerprinted to report at police headquarters at the city hall Friday evening between 6:30 and 8 o'clock. Anyone wishing to volunteer for the ground observer corps may register at that time.

To Hold Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Rapid Hose Company will be held at 8 p. m. today. Important business will be discussed and all members are requested to attend.

Planned Parenthood Group Holds Annual Luncheon Meeting

Members of the Planned Parenthood Committee from Kingston, Woodstock, and New Paltz met Wednesday afternoon at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the group's annual luncheon meeting. Guest speakers were Dr. Hamilton Boyd, Jr. and Dr. Eugene P. Link. They were introduced by Dr. Kenneth Howe. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom gave the blessing.

The luncheon was keynoted by Dr. Boyd, new medical director of the Maternal Health Center for Planned Parenthood, 578 Broadway, who, referring to the group's annual drive stated, "I'm sure the drive will be a great success."

Dr. Howe, chairman of Education at New Paltz State Teachers College, then introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Link, head of the social science department, and a newcomer to that college. In addition to his work at New Paltz, Dr. Link has taught at the University of Denver and Columbia University, where he received his degree as Doctor of Philosophy. Last summer Dr. and Mrs. Link traveled through several north European countries, where they plan to return again this year, to study general family patterns.

Speaking on "Planned Parenthood in a Democracy," Dr. Link refuted the popular conception that modern womanhood in this country has become the lost sex. History, he pointed out, also shows a definite, and unfair bias against womanhood, discrediting, or forgetting, women's achievments. Typical examples cited by the speaker included various contributions women have made to our culture from the cooking range, to the Georgian woman who suggested the principle of the cotton gin to Eli Whitney.

Women's Struggle

"Women," Dr. Link stressed, "have had a long struggle to share in the decisions which affect their lives."

The temperance movement, he explained, primarily fostered and carried out by the nation's women was, in reality, not a purely moralistic step, but an attempt to alleviate a situation which had adverse effects upon the home. Planned parenthood, he said, is merley another feminine movement, designed to further women's equality to men, and to better the family.

The speaker then touched on some of the more prominent figures who have helped further planned parenthood, as Robert Dale Owen and Frances Wright who founded New Harmony, Ind.; Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, the first woman doctor to be graduated in the United States, and the founder of the Women's and Children's Hospital in New York; and Dr. Mary Putnam Jacoby, and her husband, Dr. Abraham Jacoby, the great New York pediatrician.

"Women" he said, "have not only worked for temperance and peace, but for a decent, ordered family life."

Health Center Facts

The Maternal Health Center for Planned Parenthood, which is open every Thursday from 10 a. m. to 12 m., is for any married mother who cannot afford a private physician. Those mothers who are able to afford medical treatment are referred to a list of reliable physicians. No patient is ever turned away because of inability to pay.

While at the center each patient is given a complete physical examination, and a patient needing medical, or surgical care is referred to her own doctor. A doctor, nurse, interviewer, and receptionist are present at each session.

Neon signs became popular in the United States toward the end of the '20's.

Proper State of Mind Needed in Moulding Champs, Eagan Tells K.A.A.

Lauds Wicks, Dewey For Keen Interest In Sports World

Grayson Takes Issue On Draft Controversy

Boxing Commissioner Eddie Eagan and Harry Grayson, veteran NEA sports editor, made the principal speeches at the Kingston Athletic Association's fifth annual Hot Stove League dinner last night at the Barn.

More than 135 persons attended despite hazardous weather conditions and were rewarded with sock messages from the speakers.

In a speech cut short because of train commitments, Commissioner Eagan spoke briefly of his Olympic boxing career, his several trips around the world and his early associations with Jack Dempsey.

The former Rhodes scholar, who captured Olympic light heavyweight and heavyweight crowns in 1920 and 1924, told his audience that the proper state of the mind is the greatest single factor in moulding an athltic champion.

Eagan cited ex-heavyweight champion Gene Tunney as a prime example of this philosophy, pointing out that as early as 1917 Tunney had told him he would be world's heavyweight champion some day. It is a matter of ring history that Tunney achieved his goal nine years later.

Boxing in Comeback

The commissioner said he felt boxing is making a slow but steady comeback to pre-war heights and the general condition of the sport was good. He paid high praise to Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Governor Thomas E. Dewey as two state executives who were keenly interested in keeping professional sports at a high level in New York state.

Making his third appearance before the K.A.A., Harry Grayson delivered a typically vigorous commentary on all phases of sports, particularly college basketball and the controversial 4-F draft problem among professional athletes.

Grayson took issue with Gen. George Marshall for publicly singling out professional athletes in the 4-F draft controversy and listed a large number of pro athletes who tried to get into service the last time and were rejected for various physical ailments. He said it was not their fault that the draft laws and physical requirements were such that a man who could earn a living and stardom in athletics might not be acceptable to the armed services.

Defends Use of Garden

On the question of college basketball, Grayson defended Madison Square Garden as the home court for colleges like N.Y.U., C.C.N.Y., Long Island U. and Manhattan, with the assertion that it was a question of "the haves and have nots."

The gyms in these schools cannot possibly hope to accommodate the tremendous crowds who want to see modern college basketball, he said, and it is necessary to play in the Garden, where of course, there are all elements attracted.

Regarding the recent fix at Manhattan, Grayson observed that it merely proved that basketball lends itself to gambling more readily than any other sport, because of the "point spread" system of wagering.

"Under this system it is possible for a young man or a couple of basketball players to play winning ball for their alma mater and still help keep the point spread within the gamblers' desires. This sort of stuff furnishes strong temptation for some boys, particularly those who go to college primarily to play athletics."

"Competitive athletics is the greatest single asset of our country," Grayson concluded, "and so long as we teach our boys to think for themselves in tight spots in hard rock and sock body contact sports, we need never worry about their conduct on the battlefields of the future."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk praised the Kingston Athletic Association for maintaining its splendid junior baseball program and for helping the Kingston Recreation Department with its annual summer programs.

Mayor Pledges Support

The mayor predicted the Little League planned this year by K.A.A. would be a success and pledged the backing of the City of Kingston for any program designed to furnish healthful recreation for the youth of the city.

Bill Johnston spoke briefly and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra delivered the benediction.

Several outstanding local sports personalities were introduced by the master of ceremonies, Charles J. Tiano, among them Coaches G. Warren Kias, Bill Burke and Russ Cunningham of the K.H.S. athletic staff; Alderman-at-Large Joe Kelly, Bill Singer and Joe Vozdik of the boxing world; Addison Jones; Alvin Boice, Twaalfskill golf champion; Arthur Davis, Wiltwyck Golf Club president; past presidents Louis G. Bruhn and Thomas M. Davitt of K.A.A.; the organizations officers, Dick Ruth, secretary; Walt Hubbard, treasurer, and Walt May, vice-president.

In his opening remarks, Charles Tiano paid high tribute to the splendid work of President Robert Umpleby of K.A.A. and predicted the Little Baseball League of 1951 would be the outstanding promotion in the history of the club. He said Umpleby would rate among the best presidents the organization has had.

Schulers Win Third Straight Over Aces

Houghtaling Paces Club to 36-35 Win

As far as members of the Schuler's Inn squad are concerned, they'd like to meet the Newkirk Aces every night in the Y Basketball League.

Although the two clubs usually go right down to the wire before a decision is reached, Schulers have notched three victories over the Aces in the three meetings between the two quintets.

Last night it was the same story as Schulers pulled out a neat squeaker victory of 36 to 35 over the Aces in the second round play of the Y Basketball League for the B Division.

In previous games, Schulers knocked off the Aces by 43 to 37 and in last week's triple tie playoff for first half honors, Schulers did it again by 57 to 49.

The pattern almost was upset last night, however, as the Aces nearly came through with an upset victory. They trailed by 18-14 at the half but came back fast and took an early lead in the third session. At the third quarter, the Aces held a 26-21 margin.

With 50 seconds remaining in the close contest, Paul Houghtaling, who led the night's scorers with 19 points, picked up a loose ball and dribbled in for a layup. "Beaver" McCardle intercepted a Newkirk pass, passed out to Houghtaling who again found the range for two points to tie the count at the 30 second mark. Houghtaling, who was fouled in the final 10 seconds, arched the ball through the cords to decide the outcome by 36-35.

Houghtaling tossed in eight fields and three foul shots to lead Schulers with 19 markers. Smith was high for the Aces with nine.

Robins Stop Violets

The Robins, a club which has pennant designs on second half honors, looked vastly improved last night in knocking off the Violets by 56 to 52. The Robins led at the half by 29-25.

Three of the Robins hit the double figures with Madajeski showing the way with 14. Henville tossed in 14 and Fiore added 12. Berardi, Wolff and Burris were high for the losers with 17, 12 and 10 respectively.

Therkelsen, Aviation Figure, Dies on Coast

Death came to the 68-year-old aviation figure after a heart attack.

Therkelsen's own checkered flag—he was official timer of record-seeking flights originating on the west coast—bore the signatures of hundreds of aviation's great. Best known as the starter for the Bendix Air Races to Cleveland, Therkelsen scored many of the records set in aviation's record-breaking past 20 years.

Officially, Therkelsen was west coast representative of Federation Aeronautique Internationale, aviation records organization. He also was west coast events manager for the National Aeronautic Association.

• Bagatelles:

All is not horseplay when a couple of sweaty oafs become overenthusiastic in today's professional wrestling format—with an eye to the TV audience. Charles "Jimmy Turck", who was party to an interesting sidelight during the Ivan Gorky-John Heidmann brawl last Saturday night, will vouch for that.

Army's experience against Fordham revealed that the Cadets will be over their heads in water against Colgate, Syracuse, Villanova and Columbia in the remaining big games on the West Point slate. Capt. Jim Tixier is their tallest man at 6' 4", with Big Ed Weaver an inch shorter. The Rams, with their giant Carlson, 6' 8", murdered the Cadets under the boards and Army prospects against other major teams are not particularly enchanting at the moment. Coach John Mauer has switched Weaver to center and Tixier to a forward post in order to keep his two tallest players in the game at all times. The remainder of the Cadet squad looks like Singer midgets compared to the average major college team.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The death of Lawrence E. Van Etten in New Rochelle a few days ago recalls the fabulous tales of the old Leader baseball team. Many of the old timers regard the club as the greatest ever assembled in these parts. There is always a disposition on the part of oldies to make legend of athletic greats and teams of yesteryear, but we have always been a staunch advocate of the moderns. Were the old Leaders superior to Harry Schirick's Colonials? We doubt it. You may have heard of the phenomenal pitching exploits of one Myron Allen. If you were to believe the old folks, Allen was a Walter Johnson, Lefty Grove and Christy Mathewson all wrapped up in one. Allen was undoubtedly a man of superior pitching talents, but then we ask, any better than Bud Culloton? Hardly. Van Etten, who played with the Leaders, earned his greatest fame in the golf world as an architect. Three of Westchester's finest layouts—Wykagyl, Knollwood and Pelham Country Club—are monuments to his architectural genius. He was the Robert Trent Jones of his day.

• St. Bonnie Raves About Ronnie:

Ronnie Scheffel, one of Kingston High's all-time basketball greats, appears to have taken the small town of St. Bonaventure (pop. 22,000) by storm. Improving with every game, Scheffel has delighted coaches and fans alike. Nick Amato, the ex-Notre Dame thumper, who has transferred his allegiance to the Bonnies, writes:

"You should see the blows in the papers and over the local radio station Scheffel is getting. The boy has been terrific with a poor frosh squad. He is the only full scholarship man on the team, while one other fellow has a partial scholarship; the rest of the team are just out there playing.

"Yesterday, when I talked with Coach Milkovich, he went into raptures about Scheffel. Briefly, Milky said that Ronnie is a natural ball player, but, along with this, he likes Ron very much because of his whole attitude; the boy listens to what he is told and he is working hard on his studies.

"When I mentioned O'Connor (Big Ed, St. Patrick's, Newburgh) being 6 feet 7 inches, he remarked that if I could get him seven like Scheffel, he'd let me coach the team. The boy has impressed everyone in western New York and, if all goes well as far as the draft is concerned, Ronnie will be playing varsity ball next season.

"Within the last week, Ronnie hit for 30 against the Canisius frosh, 21 against a local team and 19 against Niagara. This is a small town and people get excited about their athletes. Yesterday I was getting my hair cut and in the course of the conversation we got to the Bona frosh and immediately the barber started to rave about Ronnie's ability.

"In all, Kingston has a fine advertisement in the boy."

From all this to-do about no 4-F athletes any more, you'd think American sports figures were professional cowards. Reading some of the articles, you get the impression the boys spend hours practicing up on their shirking.

Phils Shell Out $50,000 For College Infielder

Philadelphia, Feb. 1 (AP)—Bob Carpenter, owner of the Philadelphia phillies, looked back with no regrets today at the spending of over $300,000 in bonus money for promising ball players, including some $50,000 for Ben Tompkins of the University of Texas.

Tompkins, better known for his football feats than his baseball prowess, yesterday joined such famous Phillies bonus players as Curt Simmons, Robin Roberts, Stan Lopata, Richie Ashburn and Bob Miller.

Carpenter said Tompkins, a 21-year-old junior at the university, will leave school to join the Phillies. An infielder, Tompkins will be sent to the Phils' Wilmington, Del., club in the Class B Interstate League.

The youthful Phil owner declined to disclose the exact sum for which Tompkins signed. An informed source, however, said the Texas quarterback was paid a figure "slightly less than that paid Simmons."

Simmons, now in the army, received $65,000 when he stepped out of Egypt, Pa., high school into organized baseball.

Tompkins likewise may be in uniform soon.

Paddle Tourney Scheduled at Y

A doubles paddle ball tournament for two divisions of the Y.M.C.A. business men's gym class will be conducted every Monday and Thursday night, Lou Schafer announced today.

The tournament will embrace 18 players in each division with the doubles teams competing on a double elimination basis.

All contests are on a best two out of three basis, with 15 points for a game.

The pairings and ratings were made by the paddle ball committee consisting of Al Townsend, chairman; Lou Schafer, John Rosebrook, Dr. Murray Fletcher.

The pairings in the "A" division follow:

J. Trommer-C. Higgins vs. Dr. S. Pauker-Ed Coughlin.
J. Volker-H. Flowers vs. E. Skavina-A. Molyneaux.
A. Townsend-E. Minasian vs. J. Rosebrook-H.Getner.

Proper State of Mind Needed in Moulding Champs, Eagan Tells K.A.A.

Grayson Takes Issue On Draft Controversy

Boxing Commissioner Eddie Eagan and Harry Grayson, veteran NEA sports editor, made the principal speeches at the Kingston Athletic Association's fifth annual Hot Stove League dinner last night at the Barn.

More than 135 persons attended despite hazardous weather conditions and were rewarded with sock messages from the speakers.

In a speech cut short because of train commitments, Commissioner Eagan spoke briefly of his Olympic boxing career, his several trips around the world and his early associations with Jack Dempsey.

The former Rhodes scholar, who captured Olympic light heavyweight and heavyweight crowns in 1920 and 1924, told his audience that the proper state of the mind is the greatest single factor in moulding an athltic champion.

Eagan cited ex-heavyweight champion Gene Tunney as a prime example of this philosophy, pointing out that as early as 1917 Tunney had told him he would be world's heavyweight champion some day. It is a matter of ring history that Tunney achieved his goal nine years later.

Boxing in Comeback

The commissioner said he felt boxing is making a slow but steady comeback to pre-war heights and the general condition of the sport was good. He paid high praise to Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Governor Thomas E. Dewey as two state executives who were keenly interested in keeping professional sports at a high level in New York state.

Making his third appearance before the K.A.A., Harry Grayson delivered a typically vigorous commentary on all phases of sports, particularly college basketball and the controversial 4-F draft problem among professional athletes.

Grayson took issue with Gen. George Marshall for publicly singling out professional athletes in the 4-F draft controversy and listed a large number of pro athletes who tried to get into service the last time and were rejected for various physical ailments. He said it was not their fault that the draft laws and physical requirements were such that a man who could earn a living and stardom in athletics might not be acceptable to the armed services.

Defends Use of Garden

On the question of college basketball, Grayson defended Madison Square Garden as the home court for colleges like N.Y.U., C.C.N.Y., Long Island U. and Manhattan, with the assertion that it was a question of "the haves and have nots."

The gyms in these schools cannot possibly hope to accommodate the tremendous crowds who want to see modern college basketball, he said, and it is necessary to play in the Garden, where of course, there are all elements attracted.

Regarding the recent fix at Manhattan, Grayson observed that it merely proved that basketball lends itself to gambling more readily than any other sport, because of the "point spread" system of wagering.

"Under this system it is possible for a young man or a couple of basketball players to play winning ball for their alma mater and still help keep the point spread within the gamblers' desires. This sort of stuff furnishes strong temptation for some boys, particularly those who go to college primarily to play athletics."

"Competitive athletics is the greatest single asset of our country," Grayson concluded, "and so long as we teach our boys to think for themselves in tight spots in hard rock and sock body contact sports, we need never worry about their conduct on the battlefields of the future."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk praised the Kingston Athletic Association for maintaining its splendid junior baseball program and for helping the Kingston Recreation Department with its annual summer programs.

Mayor Pledges Support

The mayor predicted the Little League planned this year by K.A.A. would be a success and pledged the backing of the City of Kingston for any program designed to furnish healthful recreation for the youth of the city.

Bill Johnston spoke briefly and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra delivered the benediction.

Several outstanding local sports personalities were introduced by the master of ceremonies, Charles J. Tiano, among them Coaches G. Warren Kias, Bill Burke and Russ Cunningham of the K.H.S. athletic staff; Alderman-at-Large Joe Kelly, Bill Singer and Joe Vozdik of the boxing world; Addison Jones; Alvin Boice, Twaalfskill golf champion; Arthur Davis, Wiltwyck Golf Club president; past presidents Louis G. Bruhn and Thomas M. Davitt of K.A.A.; the organizations officers, Dick Ruth, secretary; Walt Hubbard, treasurer, and Walt May, vice-president.

In his opening remarks, Charles Tiano paid high tribute to the splendid work of President Robert Umpleby of K.A.A. and predicted the Little Baseball League of 1951 would be the outstanding promotion in the history of the club. He said Umpleby would rate among the best presidents the organization has had.

Schulers Win Third Straight Over Aces

Houghtaling Paces Club to 36-35 Win

As far as members of the Schuler's Inn squad are concerned, they'd like to meet the Newkirk Aces every night in the Y Basketball League.

Although the two clubs usually go right down to the wire before a decision is reached, Schulers have notched three victories over the Aces in the three meetings between the two quintets.

Last night it was the same story as Schulers pulled out a neat squeaker victory of 36 to 35 over the Aces in the second round play of the Y Basketball League for the B Division.

In previous games, Schulers knocked off the Aces by 43 to 37 and in last week's triple tie playoff for first half honors, Schulers did it again by 57 to 49.

The pattern almost was upset last night, however, as the Aces nearly came through with an upset victory. They trailed by 18-14 at the half but came back fast and took an early lead in the third session. At the third quarter, the Aces held a 26-21 margin.

With 50 seconds remaining in the close contest, Paul Houghtaling, who led the night's scorers with 19 points, picked up a loose ball and dribbled in for a layup. "Beaver" McCardle intercepted a Newkirk pass, passed out to Houghtaling who again found the range for two points to tie the count at the 30 second mark. Houghtaling, who was fouled in the final 10 seconds, arched the ball through the cords to decide the outcome by 36-35.

Houghtaling tossed in eight fields and three foul shots to lead Schulers with 19 markers. Smith was high for the Aces with nine.

Robins Stop Violets

The Robins, a club which has pennant designs on second half honors, looked vastly improved last night in knocking off the Violets by 56 to 52. The Robins led at the half by 29-25.

Three of the Robins hit the double figures with Madajeski showing the way with 14. Henville tossed in 14 and Fiore added 12. Berardi, Wolff and Burris were high for the losers with 17, 12 and 10 respectively.

Proper State of Mind Needed in Moulding Champs, Eagan Tells K.A.A.

Grayson Takes Issue On Draft Controversy

Boxing Commissioner Eddie Eagan and Harry Grayson, veteran NEA sports editor, made the principal speeches at the Kingston Athletic Association's fifth annual Hot Stove League dinner last night at the Barn.

More than 135 persons attended despite hazardous weather conditions and were rewarded with sock messages from the speakers.

In a speech cut short because of train commitments, Commissioner Eagan spoke briefly of his Olympic boxing career, his several trips around the world and his early associations with Jack Dempsey.

The former Rhodes scholar, who captured Olympic light heavyweight and heavyweight crowns in 1920 and 1924, told his audience that the proper state of the mind is the greatest single factor in moulding an athltic champion.

Eagan cited ex-heavyweight champion Gene Tunney as a prime example of this philosophy, pointing out that as early as 1917 Tunney had told him he would be world's heavyweight champion some day. It is a matter of ring history that Tunney achieved his goal nine years later.

Boxing in Comeback

The commissioner said he felt boxing is making a slow but steady comeback to pre-war heights and the general condition of the sport was good. He paid high praise to Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Governor Thomas E. Dewey as two state executives who were keenly interested in keeping professional sports at a high level in New York state.

Making his third appearance before the K.A.A., Harry Grayson delivered a typically vigorous commentary on all phases of sports, particularly college basketball and the controversial 4-F draft problem among professional athletes.

Grayson took issue with Gen. George Marshall for publicly singling out professional athletes in the 4-F draft controversy and listed a large number of pro athletes who tried to get into service the last time and were rejected for various physical ailments. He said it was not their fault that the draft laws and physical requirements were such that a man who could earn a living and stardom in athletics might not be acceptable to the armed services.

Defends Use of Garden

On the question of college basketball, Grayson defended Madison Square Garden as the home court for colleges like N.Y.U., C.C.N.Y., Long Island U. and Manhattan, with the assertion that it was a question of "the haves and have nots."

The gyms in these schools cannot possibly hope to accommodate the tremendous crowds who want to see modern college basketball, he said, and it is necessary to play in the Garden, where of course, there are all elements attracted.

Regarding the recent fix at Manhattan, Grayson observed that it merely proved that basketball lends itself to gambling more readily than any other sport, because of the "point spread" system of wagering.

"Under this system it is possible for a young man or a couple of basketball players to play winning ball for their alma mater and still help keep the point spread within the gamblers' desires. This sort of stuff furnishes strong temptation for some boys, particularly those who go to college primarily to play athletics."

"Competitive athletics is the greatest single asset of our country," Grayson concluded, "and so long as we teach our boys to think for themselves in tight spots in hard rock and sock body contact sports, we need never worry about their conduct on the battlefields of the future."

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk praised the Kingston Athletic Association for maintaining its splendid junior baseball program and for helping the Kingston Recreation Department with its annual summer programs.

Mayor Pledges Support

The mayor predicted the Little League planned this year by K.A.A. would be a success and pledged the backing of the City of Kingston for any program designed to furnish healthful recreation for the youth of the city.

Bill Johnston spoke briefly and the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra delivered the benediction.

Several outstanding local sports personalities were introduced by the master of ceremonies, Charles J. Tiano, among them Coaches G. Warren Kias, Bill Burke and Russ Cunningham of the K.H.S. athletic staff; Alderman-at-Large Joe Kelly, Bill Singer and Joe Vozdik of the boxing world; Addison Jones; Alvin Boice, Twaalfskill golf champion; Arthur Davis, Wiltwyck Golf Club president; past presidents Louis G. Bruhn and Thomas M. Davitt of K.A.A.; the organizations officers, Dick Ruth, secretary; Walt Hubbard, treasurer, and Walt May, vice-president.

In his opening remarks, Charles Tiano paid high tribute to the splendid work of President Robert Umpleby of K.A.A. and predicted the Little Baseball League of 1951 would be the outstanding promotion in the history of the club. He said Umpleby would rate among the best presidents the organization has had.

Schulers Win Third Straight Over Aces

Houghtaling Paces Club to 36-35 Win

As far as members of the Schuler's Inn squad are concerned, they'd like to meet the Newkirk Aces every night in the Y Basketball League.

Although the two clubs usually go right down to the wire before a decision is reached, Schulers have notched three victories over the Aces in the three meetings between the two quintets.

Last night it was the same story as Schulers pulled out a neat squeaker victory of 36 to 35 over the Aces in the second round play of the Y Basketball League for the B Division.

In previous games, Schulers knocked off the Aces by 43 to 37 and in last week's triple tie playoff for first half honors, Schulers did it again by 57 to 49.

The pattern almost was upset last night, however, as the Aces nearly came through with an upset victory. They trailed by 18-14 at the half but came back fast and took an early lead in the third session. At the third quarter, the Aces held a 26-21 margin.

With 50 seconds remaining in the close contest, Paul Houghtaling, who led the night's scorers with 19 points, picked up a loose ball and dribbled in for a layup. "Beaver" McCardle intercepted a Newkirk pass, passed out to Houghtaling who again found the range for two points to tie the count at the 30 second mark. Houghtaling, who was fouled in the final 10 seconds, arched the ball through the cords to decide the outcome by 36-35.

Houghtaling tossed in eight fields and three foul shots to lead Schulers with 19 markers. Smith was high for the Aces with nine.

Robins Stop Violets

The Robins, a club which has pennant designs on second half honors, looked vastly improved last night in knocking off the Violets by 56 to 52. The Robins led at the half by 29-25.

Three of the Robins hit the double figures with Madajeski showing the way with 14. Henville tossed in 14 and Fiore added 12. Berardi, Wolff and Burris were high for the losers with 17, 12 and 10 respectively.

Therkelsen, Aviation Figure, Dies on Coast

Death came to the 68-year-old aviation figure after a heart attack.

Therkelsen's own checkered flag—he was official timer of record-seeking flights originating on the west coast—bore the signatures of hundreds of aviation's great. Best known as the starter for the Bendix Air Races to Cleveland, Therkelsen scored many of the records set in aviation's record-breaking past 20 years.

Officially, Therkelsen was west coast representative of Federation Aeronautique Internationale, aviation records organization. He also was west coast events manager for the National Aeronautic Association.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

• Bagatelles:

All is not horseplay when a couple of sweaty oafs become overenthusiastic in today's professional wrestling format—with an eye to the TV audience. Charles "Jimmy Turck", who was party to an interesting sidelight during the Ivan Gorky-John Heidmann brawl last Saturday night, will vouch for that.

Army's experience against Fordham revealed that the Cadets will be over their heads in water against Colgate, Syracuse, Villanova and Columbia in the remaining big games on the West Point slate. Capt. Jim Tixier is their tallest man at 6' 4", with Big Ed Weaver an inch shorter. The Rams, with their giant Carlson, 6' 8", murdered the Cadets under the boards and Army prospects against other major teams are not particularly enchanting at the moment. Coach John Mauer has switched Weaver to center and Tixier to a forward post in order to keep his two tallest players in the game at all times. The remainder of the Cadet squad looks like Singer midgets compared to the average major college team.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The death of Lawrence E. Van Etten in New Rochelle a few days ago recalls the fabulous tales of the old Leader baseball team. Many of the old timers regard the club as the greatest ever assembled in these parts. There is always a disposition on the part of oldies to make legend of athletic greats and teams of yesteryear, but we have always been a staunch advocate of the moderns. Were the old Leaders superior to Harry Schirick's Colonials? We doubt it. You may have heard of the phenomenal pitching exploits of one Myron Allen. If you were to believe the old folks, Allen was a Walter Johnson, Lefty Grove and Christy Mathewson all wrapped up in one. Alien was undoubtedly a man of superior pitching talents, but then we ask, any better than Bud Culloton? Hardly. Van Etten, who played with the Leaders, earned his greatest fame in the golf world as an architect. Three of Westchester's finest layouts—Wykagyl, Knollwood and Pelham Country Club—are monuments to his architectural genius. He was the Robert Trent Jones of his day.

• St. Bonnie Raves About Ronnie:

Ronnie Scheffel, one of Kingston High's all-time basketball greats, appears to have taken the small town of St. Bonaventure (pop. 22,000) by storm. Improving with every game, Scheffel has delighted coaches and fans alike. Nick Amato, the ex-Notre Dame thumper, who has transferred his allegiance to the Bonnies, writes:

"You should see the blows in the papers and over the local radio station Scheffel is getting. The boy has been terrific with a poor frosh squad. He is the only full scholarship man on the team, while one other fellow has a partial scholarship; the rest of the team are just out there playing.

"Yesterday, when I talked with Coach Milkovich, he went into raptures about Scheffel. Briefly, Milky said that Ronnie is a natural ball player, but, along with this, he likes Ron very much because of his whole attitude; the boy listens to what he is told and he is working hard on his studies.

"When I mentioned O'Connor (Big Ed, St. Patrick's, Newburgh) being 6 feet 7 inches, he remarked that if I could get him seven like Scheffel, he'd let me coach the team. The boy has impressed everyone in western New York and, if all goes well as far as the draft is concerned, Ronnie will be playing varsity ball next season.

"Within the last week, Ronnie hit for 30 against the Canisius frosh, 21 against a local team and 19 against Niagara. This is a small town and people get excited about their athletes. Yesterday I was getting my hair cut and in the course of the conversation we got to the Bona frosh and immediately the barber started to rave about Ronnie's ability.

"In all, Kingston has a fine advertisement in the boy."

From all this to-do about no 4-F athletes any more, you'd think American sports figures were professional cowards. Reading some of the articles, you get the impression the boys spend hours practicing up on their shirking.

Opens Defense Today

Seattle, Feb. 1 (AP)—Boston's Dick Button, holder of every available men's figure skating title, opens defense of his senior men's crown in school figures today in the National championships. He'll be competing against three rivals: Hayes Jenkins of Cleveland; Jimmy Grogan of Tacoma and Colorado Springs, and Donald Laws, Washington, D. C.

Klem Little Better

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 1 (AP)—"Slight improvement" was reported today in the condition of William J. (Bill) Klem, veteran National Leabue baseball umpire. Klem has been critically ill at his Ventian Island home for several months but his long-time friend and physician, Dr. S. D. W. Light, said he showed some improvement over the week-end and was "a little better." Klem, who will be 77 on Feb. 22, served as National League umpire from 1905 to 1941.

Poughkeepsie Jayvees came from behind to trounce the K.H.S. yearlings, 67-60, in a rousing preliminary, Tuesday in Poughkeepsie.

Ahead 16-8 at the quarter and 27-23 at halftime, the Maroon cagers failed to hold the pace in the second half, as Poughkeepsie piled up 44 points to 33 for the locals.

Don Dempsey of Kingston was the individual scoring leader with 19 points. Bucky Bower hit for 11 and Billy Sickler had 12.

Phils Shell Out $50,000 For College Infielder

Philadelphia, Feb. 1 (AP)—Bob Carpenter, owner of the Philadelphia phillies, looked back with no regrets today at the spending of over $300,000 in bonus money for promising ball players, including some $50,000 for Ben Tompkins of the University of Texas.

Tompkins, better known for his football feats than his baseball prowess, yesterday joined such famous Phillies bonus players as Curt Simmons, Robin Roberts, Stan Lopata, Richie Ashburn and Bob Miller.

Carpenter said Tompkins, a 21-year-old junior at the university, will leave school to join the Phillies. An infielder, Tompkins will be sent to the Phils' Wilmington, Del., club in the Class B Interstate League.

The youthful Phil owner declined to disclose the exact sum for which Tompkins signed. An informed source, however, said the Texas quarterback was paid a figure "slightly less than that paid Simmons."

Simmons, now in the army, received $65,000 when he stepped out of Egypt, Pa., high school into organized baseball.

Tompkins likewise may be in uniform soon.

Paddle Tourney Scheduled at Y

A doubles paddle ball tournament for two divisions of the Y.M.C.A. business men's gym class will be conducted every Monday and Thursday night, Lou Schafer announced today.

The tournament will embrace 18 players in each division with the doubles teams competing on a double elimination basis.

All contests are on a best two out of three basis, with 15 points for a game.

The pairings and ratings were made by the paddle ball committee consisting of Al Townsend, chairman; Lou Schafer, John Rosebrook, Dr. Murray Fletcher.

The pairings in the "A" division follow:

J. Trommer-C. Higgins vs. Dr. S. Pauker-Ed Coughlin.
J. Volker-H. Flowers vs. E. Skavina-A. Molyneaux.
A. Townsend-E. Minasian vs. J. Rosebrook-H Getner.

Bowling

Stacking games of 193-200-219, Cliff Davis showed the way in the Central Rec Major League wheel at the Railroad avenue drives Wednesday night with a 612 triple.

Five pins off the pace was Joe Sangi who turned in the only other 600 series on counts of 198-178-231.

Cliff Quick shot 223-598; Joe Schrowang 214-209-592; John Ferraro 203-213-587; and Frank "Tarz" Spada 212-583.

Other scores of note include Rose Schatzel with 554; Carolyn Mohr 526; Beverly Port 201-526; Tess Moss 520; Mary Bonacci 200-518; Elizabeth Schoonmaker 508.

Below the 500 department but with acceptable scores were Bertha Schaller 497; Chris Wilson 497; June Kelder 223-490; E. Singer 486; Charlotte Lapine 485; Ada Markle 485; and Doris Wolff 485.

Elsie Fitzpatrick rolled 466; Angeline Brocco 436; Mildred Burns 428; Laura LaMay 428; Sally Kuehn 426; and Amy Mauro 423.

Joe Fautz finished up with a 10-pin spread over his nearest rival to cop honors in the C. Y. O. action Wednesday at the Bowlodrome. Fautz cracked the pot-bellied maples for scores of 169-201-173.

Joe Watzka finished the No. 2 slot with 533. P. Clausi hit 514 and Joe Bruck fired 504.

A couple of moundsmen in baseball weather—Don Weeks of softball fame and Bill Hornbeck, a former semi-pro flinger of the area—led the Federation American League Wednesday night at the Y.

Weeks took top honors with his 538 series while Hornbeck finished just two pins off the pace with a 536 triple. Weeks rolled 189-179-170 for his series while Hornbeck fired 169-175-192.

Austin Hitchcock hit 515; Frank Roe 507; F. Schussler 505 and H. Schussler 500.

T. Hasbrouck's pin-busting featured the Pioneer Women's activity Wednesday night at the Bolodrome. Not satisfied with grabbing individual honors by turning in the lone 500 of the night with her 505 blast, she neatly converted the 4-7-10 split.

Her sticks included 207-139-159. V. Janeczek finished fast for 496; L. Ferraro 491; F. Davis 459; Kay Roose 424.

Luella Port, a 111-average keglerette, led yesterday's session of the B.Y.A. League with a 451 series at the Bowlodrome. Three others reached into the "400" bracket—E. Pratt 442, Lillian Fromer 408 and F. Davis 402.

Seven of the Friendship League trundlers accounted for "500" triples and Miriam Posner led the pack with 201-160-186-547, two pins better than Marge Jansen's 160-195-190-545.

Bea Arlensky hit 535, Dot Flemings 202-533; Dot Rawding 520, Evelyn Gross 503 and M. Perry 500. Ada Markle rolled the highest single—210—and 486, Bertha Schaller 486, M. Best 479, M. Brower 477, Chrissie Wilson 473, H. Stopher 472 and Eleanor Singer 470.

J. Fatum's 532, with 157-183-192, was the top triple in the Y Federation National circuit. Stan Hankinson hit 525 and John Steele 516. Doug Harvey with 473 and Ed Himmelsback with 472 rounded out the first five.

Elizabeth Bruck's 516, with 178-174-164, was the top series in the Woman's Major League, a pin better than Jo Smith, who pounded a whopping 232 single in her middle effort. Dot Flemings shot 514, Dot Rawding 510, Beverly Port 505 and Ada Markle 503.

Lorin Auchmoody sandwiched a 229 with 161 and 170 to stack a 560 league-leading effort in the Booster circuit. Pinfall was good in this cradle of bowling, as Guernsey Burger Jr. shot 532, Bob Tierney 207-523, D. Mendel 511, W. Letus 507 and B. Goldstein 502. Warren Senor with 501, J. Reynolds 497, R. Brando 487 and J. Tellier 481, were other top performers.

Business Girls League keglerettes had quartet of "400" triples, S. O'Bryan posting 494, with 177-145-172, Mildred Dunn 471, E. Sass 436 and L. Jordan 415. Other top bracket scores were S. Collins 397, M. Kirston 387, M. Bertram 386, H. Schmidt 383, H. Buchholtz, 386.

Runnerup Larry "Pop" Petersen shot 205-591; Scott Vining 233-590; Jack Martin 210-215-589; Ralph Mayone 222-578; Ray Otto 206-574; W. Mohr 572; Sheldon Levy 565; Johnny Lowe 205-562; Charlie Horne 220-559; J. Costello 208-554; Roy Webber 201-552; Ray Roux 551 and Joe Mannello 218-550.

Trailing Charlie Gildersleeve in the Central Rec standings were Joe Bosco with 212-210-589; Carl Lundquist 203-574; Don Peterson 554; R. Houghtaling 549; Stan Colvin 542; F. Bruno 219-535; Eddie Heins 532 and R. Zeeh 521.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp

BOBCAT HUNTING METHODS

A FAST PACK OF FOXHOUNDS WILL CHASE A CAT FOR HOURS IN BRUSHY COVER OF THE SOUTH EASTERN STATES. THE GUNNERS MAY SELECT A "STAND" IN AN OPENING TO WAIT WITH A SHOTGUN FOR A SHOT AS THE CAT CIRCLES BACK IN FRONT OF THE DOGS--OR THE DOGS MAY KILL THE CAT WHEN IT COMES TO BAY. IN THE SOUTH, ON OCCASION, IT WILL TREE BUT IN THE WEST, WHEN HARD PUSHED, IT TREES READILY.

DUE TO HEAVY SNOWS OF THE NORTH, ONLY TWO DOGS AND ONE HUNTER CAN FORCE THE BOUNDING BUT TIRING CAT TO TREE.

Maroons to Face Monticello Five Here Friday Night

Monticello, early season victors over Kingston High School's basketball team, will invade the municipal auditorium for a regular DUSO League game Friday night.

The Monties knocked off Coach G. Warren Kias' quintet in surprising fashion by 49 to 36 December 12 to give Monticello its first win over a Kingston team since the 1945-46 campaign.

Monticello's squad for Friday's encounter will include Andy McCullough who registered 23 points against the Maroons in the team's first outing.

Williams Scores T.K.O. Over Cardell in Ninth

Detroit, Feb. 1 (AP)—Lightweight Champ Ike Williams, a busy little bee except where title fights are concerned, tucked a small purse of $2,080 in his wallet today as a reminder of his one-sided bout with young Vic Cardell last night.

Surprisingly enough, it was the vanquished Cardell who got the plaudits of the crowd which saw him take everything Williams could throw.

Williams sulking since the National Boxing Association threatened Saturday to take his title away if he doesn't defend it by March 31, took out some of his wrath on the luckless Cardell.

The 23-year-old Connecticut fighter, who had a two-pound advantage at 145, was a 4-1 underdog. Betting was 3-1 that he would not last five rounds.

Open Tucson Golf Today

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 1 (AP)—The $10,000 Tucson Open golf tournament starts today with a field as wide open as the surrounding desert. This is a tourney in which you have to shoot par golf for four days in a row to win street car money. Yesterday was a good example. A chill wind blew across the 6402-yard par 70 El Rio Golf and Country Club course yet 24 pros played under par and they weren't really bearing down. It's due to be cold again this morning with afternoon temperatures climbing into the 50 degrees. Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., the current PGA champ, took last year's Tucson event with a 13-under par 267.

Kansas State Hangs Third Straight Loss on L.I.U.; Bee Okays Officials

Wildcats Trample Birds by 85-65

Manhattan, Kas., Feb. 1 (AP)—The Long Island University Blackbirds are singing the blues today.

Just eight days ago they cheerfully began a road trip west—undefeated and with 15 straight victories.

But today they possess three straight defeats—the last one an 85 to 65 drubbing administered last night by the Kansas State Wildcats.

L.I.U.'s coach Clair Bee had only praise for K-State.

"My boys were not tired from the long trip," he said. "We were beaten by the best team I have seen all season. I don't see how they can keep Kansas State out of the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden."

There's still one more game on Long Island's disastrous western trip. The Blackbirds play highly rated St. Louis University Saturday.

In earlier games in the west, L.I.U. slipped past San Francisco, lost to California by a couple of points and tumbled before Arizona, 62-61.

K-State held only a 38-37 edge at half time in last night's game, but turned loose a red hot attack in the last half, dominating the backboards and stealing the ball from the Blackbirds.

Kansas State is ranked No. 7 nationally and LIU ranks fourth.

A crowd of 13,400, largest ever to see a basketball game in Kansas, watched LIU's great Sherman White pour in 37 points to set an individual scoring mark for the K-State fieldhouse.

"I'm not ready to say Sherman White is the greatest player in the nations, but he's a lot of ball player," Bee commented after the performance.

Foes Laud White

Jack Gardner, the Kansas State coach, said:

"White is the best player we've met all season—possibly any season."

The Wildcats' win was a team victory. Nine of the 11 players who got into the game scored.

Kansas State, which leads the Big Seven Conference race, has six regulars who have scored 100 points or more in 16 games.

The Kansans have lost two games in 16 starts. One of the defeats was an early season one-point loss to LIU in New York.

In contrast to his comments after Monday's game against Arizona, Bee complimented the officials in last night's contest.

"The officiating was fine," he said. "I have absolutely no criticism."

Bee claimed that in the Arizona contest Referee W. M. Kisner, Jr., "took the game away from us."

Kisner retorted: "Somebody had better start backtracking on those statements. I have been working basketball games for 23 years and this is the first time I have ever been accused of throwing a game."

Kentucky Rolls Over L.S.U. Five For 16th Victory

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Mighty Kentucky keeps on rolling but Long Island University and North Carolina State, two other basketball topnotchers, are learning how tough it is away from home.

The Kentuckians (16-1) are winning them all now, at home and on the road, the latest an 81-59 trouncing of Louisiana State last night.

Powerful Kansas State (14-2) of the Big Seven drubbed L.I.U., 85-65, before 13,400 in the Wildcats new field house.

L.I.U., unbeaten before starting out on a western trip last week, now has lost three of its four road games. The Blackbirds (16-3) also are underdogs in their clash at St. Louis (15-4) Saturday night.

K-State opened up in the second half to rout L.I.U. Sherman White, who scored 37 points, kept L.I.U. in contention the first half; the Blackbirds were behind only 38-37 at the buzzer.

Clair Bee, L.I.U. coach, called K-State the "best team I have seen all season."

L.I.U. ranks fourth and Kansas State seventh in this week's AP poll.

Louisville (16-2) caught fire in the first half then went on to wallop visiting North Carolina State, 86-70.

C.C.N.Y. Triumphs

The Cardinals scored 17 straight points in the first period without giving up one. That seemed to take the starch out of the Southern Conference leaders and they never threatened again. N. C. State (19-3) ranks eighth nationally.

Big Bob Lochmueller and Bob Brown scored 23 and 21 points for Louisville.

C.C.N.Y., another touring New York city five, handed John Carroll its ninth straight loss, 79-67.

Tenth-ranking St. Louis came from behind to win, 47-45, over Tulsa.

Texas A. & M. edged Texas in a deliberate contest, 32-29. California, recent upset victor over L.I.U., lost to the Honolulu Universal Motors Five, 63-61. Villanova (15-1) took it easy with Geneva, 82-61.

Weaver Hits 31

Ed Weaver enjoyed his biggest point spree of the 1950-51 basketball season for Army Wednesday afternoon when he registered 31 points to lead the Black Knights to an easy 70 to 49 victory over Amherst at the West Point Field House. Weaver, former Kingston High School star, ripped the cords for 10 field goals and had a perfect day at the free-throw line by arching in 11 of 11 tries. Army engages the Red Raiders from Colgate Saturday afternoon at West Point.

Bowling

Stacking games of 193-200-219, Cliff Davis showed the way in the Central Rec Major League wheel at the Railroad avenue drives Wednesday night with a 612 triple.

Five pins off the pace was Joe Sangi who turned in the only other 600 series on counts of 198-178-231.

Cliff Quick shot 223-598; Joe Schrowang 214-209-592; John Ferraro 203-213-587; and Frank "Tarz" Spada 212-583.

Sandwiching in a 213 singleton around scores of 162 and 190, Dot Rawding emerged with the top pinfall in the Colonial Women's League Wednesday night at the Bowlatorium with her neat 565 three-timer.

Other scores of note include Rose Schatzel with 554; Carolyn Mohr 526; Beverly Port 201-526; Tess Moss 520; Mary Bonacci 200-518; Elizabeth Schoonmaker 508.

Below the 500 department but with acceptable scores were Bertha Schaller 497; Chris Wilson 497; June Kelder 223-490; E. Singer 486; Charlotte Lapine 485; Ada Markle 485; and Doris Wolff 485.

Marie Bechtold led the firing in the Silver Division of the Colonial Women's League with her 572 series on marks of 182-114-176.

Elsie Fitzpatrick rolled 466; Angeline Brocco 436; Mildred Burns 428; Laura LaMay 428; Sally Kuehn 426; and Amy Mauro 423.

Joe Fautz finished up with a 10-pin spread over his nearest rival to cop honors in the C. Y. O. action Wednesday at the Bowlodrome. Fautz cracked the pot-bellied maples for scores of 169-201-173.

Joe Watzka finished the No. 2 slot with 533. P. Clausi hit 514 and Joe Bruck fired 504.

A couple of moundsmen in baseball weather—Don Weeks of softball fame and Bill Hornbeck, a former semi-pro flinger of the area—led the Federation American League Wednesday night at the Y.

Weeks took top honors with his 538 series while Hornbeck finished just two pins off the pace with a 536 triple. Weeks rolled 189-179-170 for his series while Hornbeck fired 169-175-192.

Austin Hitchcock hit 515; Frank Roe 507; F. Schussler 505 and H. Schussler 500.

T. Hasbrouck's pin-busting featured the Pioneer Women's activity Wednesday night at the Bolodrome. Not satisfied with grabbing individual honors by turning in the lone 500 of the night with her 505 blast, she neatly converted the 4-7-10 split.

Her sticks included 207-139-159.

V. Janeczek finished fast for 496; L. Ferraro 491; F. Davis 459; Kay Roosz 424.

Luella Port, a 111-average keglerette, led yesterday's session of the B.Y.A. League with a 451 series at the Bowlodrome. Three others reached into the "400" bracket—E. Pratt 442, Lillian Fromer 408 and F. Davis 402.

Seven of the Friendship League trundlers accounted for "500" triples and Miriam Posner led the pack with 201-160-186-547, two pins better than Marge Jansen's 160-195-190-545.

Bea Arlensky hit 535, Dot Flemings 202-533; Dot Rawding 520, Evelyn Gross 503 and M. Perry 500. Ada Markle rolled the highest single—210—and 486, Bertha Schaller 486, M. Best 479, M. Brower 477, Chrissie Wilson 473, H. Stopher 472 and Eleanor Singer 470.

J. Fatum's 532, with 157-183-192, was the top triple in the Y Federation National circuit. Stan Hankinson hit 525 and John Steele 516. Doug Harvey with 473 and Ed Himmelsback with 472 rounded out the first five.

Elizabeth Bruck's 516, with 178-174-164, was the top series in the Woman's Major League, a pin better than Jo Smith, who pounded a whopping 232 single in her middle effort. Dot Flemings shot 514, Dot Rawding 510, Beverly Port 505 and Ada Markle 503.

Lorin Auchmoody sandwiched a 229 with 161 and 170 to stack a 560 league-leading effort in the Booster circuit. Pinfall was good in this cradle of bowling, as Guernsey Burger Jr. shot 532, Bob Tierney 207-523, D. Mendel 511, W. Letus 507 and B. Goldstein 502. Warren Senor with 501, J. Reynolds 497, R. Brando 487 and J. Tellier 481, were other top performers.

Business Girls League keglerettes had quartet of "400" triples, S. O'Bryan posting 494, with 177-145-172, Mildred Dunn 471, E. Sass 436 and L. Jordan 415. Other top bracket scores were S. Collins 397, M. Kirston 387, M. Bertram 386, H. Schmidt 383, H. Buchholtz, 386.

Eddie Schupp moved into the Silver Palace League limelight with a 216-180-210-606 series last night at the Bowlatorium. A heavy scoring session produced 25 sets over the "500" mark.

Runnerup Larry "Pop" Petersen shot 205-591; Scott Vining 233-590; Jack Martin 210-215-589; Ralph Mayone 222-578; Ray Otto 206-574; W. Mohr 572; Sheldon Levy 565; Johnny Lowe 205-562; Charlie Horne 220-559; J. Costello 208-554; Roy Webber 201-552; Ray Roux 551 and Joe Mannello 218-550.

Trailing Charlie Gildersleeve in the Central Rec standings were Joe Bosco with 212-210-589; Carl Lundquist 203-574; Don Peterson 554; R. Houghtaling 549; Stan Colvin 542; F. Bruno 219-535; Eddie Heins 532 and R. Zeeh 521.

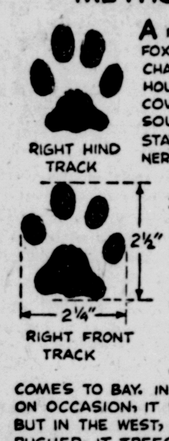
BOBCAT HUNTING METHODS



A FAST PACK OF FOXHOUNDS WILL CHASE A CAT FOR HOURS IN BRUSHY COVER OF THE SOUTH EASTERN STATES. THE GUNNERS MAY SELECT A "STAND" IN AN OPENING TO WAIT WITH A SHOTGUN FOR A SHOT AS THE CAT CIRCLES BACK IN FRONT OF THE DOGS--OR THE DOGS MAY KILL THE CAT WHEN IT COMES TO BAY. IN THE SOUTH, ON OCCASION, IT WILL TREE BUT IN THE WEST, WHEN HARD PUSHED, IT TREES READILY.

DUE TO HEAVY SNOWS OF THE NORTH, ONLY TWO DOGS AND ONE HUNTER CAN FORCE THE BOUNDING BUT TIRING CAT TO TREE.

Maroons to Face Monticello Five Here Friday Night

Monticello, early season victors over Kingston High School's basketball team, will invade the municipal auditorium for a regular DUSO League game Friday night.

The Monties knocked off Coach G. Warren Kias' quintet in surprising fashion by 49 to 36 December 12 to give Monticello its first win over a Kingston team since the 1945-46 campaign.

Monticello's squad for Friday's encounter will include Andy McCullough who registered 23 points against the Maroons in the team's first outing.

Williams Scores T.K.O. Over Cardell in Ninth

Detroit, Feb. 1 (AP)—Lightweight Champ Ike Williams, a busy little bee except where title fights are concerned, tucked a small purse of $2,080 in his wallet today as a reminder of his one-sided bout with young Vic Cardell last night.

A small turnout of 2,603 fans—held down by a heavy snowstorm—paid a gross gate of only $4,464.39 at Olympia Stadium to see the champ batter Cardell almost at will for a ninth round TKO.

Cardell, his left eye closed and his right eye cut, was unable to answer the bell for the ninth in the scheduled 10-rounder.

Surprisingly enough, it was the vanquished Cardell who got the plaudits of the crowd which saw him take everything Williams could throw.

Williams sulking since the National Boxing Association threatened Saturday to take his title away if he doesn't defend it by March 31, took out some of his wrath on the luckless Cardell.

The 23-year-old Connecticut fighter, who had a two-pound advantage at 145, was a 4-1 underdog. Betting was 3-1 that he would not last five rounds.

Open Tucson Golf Today

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 1 (AP)—The $10,000 Tucson Open golf tournament starts today with a field as wide open as the surrounding desert. This is a tourney in which you have to shoot par golf for four days in a row to win street car money. Yesterday was a good example. A chill wind blew across the 6402-yard par 70 El Rio Golf and Country Club course yet 24 pros played under par and they weren't really bearing down. It's due to be cold again this morning with afternoon temperatures climbing into the 50 degrees. Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., the current PGA champ, took last year's Tucson event with a 13-under par 267.

Kansas State Hangs Third Straight Loss on L.I.U.; Bee Okays Officials

Wildcats Trample Birds by 85-65

Manhattan, Kas., Feb. 1 (AP)—The Long Island University Blackbirds are singing the blues today.

Just eight days ago they cheerfully began a road trip west—undefeated and with 15 straight victories.

But today they possess three straight defeats—the last one an 85 to 65 drubbing administered last night by the Kansas State Wildcats.

L.I.U.'s coach Clair Bee had only praise for K-State.

"My boys were not tired from the long trip," he said. "We were beaten by the best team I have seen all season. I don't see how they can keep Kansas State out of the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden."

There's still one more game on Long Island's disastrous western trip. The Blackbirds play highly rated St. Louis University Saturday.

In earlier games in the west, L.I.U. slipped past San Francisco, lost to California by a couple of points and tumbled before Arizona, 62-61.

K-State held only a 38-37 edge at half time in last night's game, but turned loose a red hot attack in the last half, dominating the backboards and stealing the ball from the Blackbirds.

Kansas State is ranked No. 7 nationally and LIU ranks fourth.

A crowd of 13,400, largest ever to see a basketball game in Kansas, watched LIU's great Sherman White pour in 37 points to set an individual scoring mark for the K-State fieldhouse.

"I'm not ready to say Sherman White is the greatest player in the nations, but he's a lot of ball player," Bee commented after the performance.

Foes Laud White

Jack Gardner, the Kansas State coach, said:

"White is the best player we've met all season—possibly any season."

The Wildcats' win was a team victory. Nine of the 11 players who got into the game scored.

Kansas State, which leads the Big Seven Conference race, has six regulars who have scored 100 points or more in 16 games.

The Kansans have lost two games in 16 starts. One of the defeats was an early season one-point loss to LIU in New York.

In contrast to his comments after Monday's game against Arizona, Bee complimented the officials in last night's contest.

"The officiating was fine," he said. "I have absolutely no criticism."

Bee claimed that in the Arizona contest Referee W. M. Kisner, Jr., "took the game away from us."

Kisner retorted: "Somebody had better start backtracking on those statements. I have been working basketball games for 23 years and this is the first time I have ever been accused of throwing a game."

Kentucky Rolls Over L.S.U. Five For 16th Victory

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Mighty Kentucky keeps on rolling but Long Island University and North Carolina State, two other basketball topnotchers, are learning how tough it is away from home.

The Kentuckians (16-1) are winning them all now, at home and on the road, the latest an 81-59 trouncing of Louisiana State last night.

Seven-foot Bill Spivey sparked the Southeastern Conference leaders with 24 points. Bobby Watson pitched in with 21 points, mostly on long field goals. Kentucky ranks No. 1 nationally in this week's Associated Press poll.

Powerful Kansas State (14-2) of the Big Seven drubbed L.I.U., 85-65, before 13,400 in the Wildcats new field house.

L.I.U., unbeaten before starting out on a western trip last week, now has lost three of its four road games. The Blackbirds (16-3) also are underdogs in their clash at St. Louis (15-4) Saturday night.

K-State opened up in the second half to rout L.I.U. Sherman White, who scored 37 points, kept L.I.U. in contention the first half; the Blackbirds were behind only 38-37 at the buzzer.

Lew Hitch led the Kansans in the second half surge, grabbing rebounds and tipping in goals.

Clair Bee, L.I.U. coach, called K-State the "best team I have seen all season."

L.I.U. ranks fourth and Kansas State seventh in this week's AP poll.

Louisville (16-2) caught fire in the first half then went on to wallop visiting North Carolina State, 86-70.

C.C.N.Y. Triumphs

The Cardinals scored 17 straight points in the first period without giving up one. That seemed to take the starch out of the Southern Conference leaders and they never threatened again. N. C. State (19-3) ranks eighth nationally.

Big Bob Lochmueller and Bob Brown scored 23 and 21 points for Louisville.

C.C.N.Y., another touring New York city five, handed John Carroll its ninth straight loss, 79-67.

Tenth-ranking St. Louis came from behind to win, 47-45, over Tulsa.

Texas A. & M. edged Texas in a deliberate contest, 32-29. California, recent upset victor over L.I.U., lost to the Honolulu Universal Motors Five, 63-61. Villanova (15-1) took it easy with Geneva, 82-61.

Weaver Hits 31

Ed Weaver enjoyed his biggest point spree of the 1950-51 basketball season for Army Wednesday afternoon when he registered 31 points to lead the Black Knights to an easy 70 to 49 victory over Amherst at the West Point Field House. Weaver, former Kingston High School star, ripped the cords for 10 field goals and had a perfect day at the free-throw line by arching in 11 of 11 tries. Army engages the Red Raiders from Colgate Saturday afternoon at West Point.

Bowling

Stacking games of 193-200-219, Cliff Davis showed the way in the Central Rec Major League wheel at the Railroad avenue drives Wednesday night with a 612 triple.

Five pins off the pace was Joe Sangi who turned in the only other 600 series on counts of 198-178-231.

Cliff Quick shot 223-598; Joe Schrowang 214-209-592; John Ferraro 203-213-587; and Frank "Tarz" Spada 212-583.

Sandwiching in a 213 singleton around scores of 162 and 190, Dot Rawding emerged with the top pinfall in the Colonial Women's League Wednesday night at the Bowlatorium with her neat 565 three-timer.

Other scores of note include Rose Schatzel with 554; Carolyn Mohr 526; Beverly Port 201-526; Tess Moss 520; Mary Bonacci 200-518; Elizabeth Schoonmaker 508.

Below the 500 department but with acceptable scores were Bertha Schaller 497; Chris Wilson 497; June Kelder 223-490; E. Singer 486; Charlotte Lapine 485; Ada Markle 485; and Doris Wolff 485.

Marie Bechtold led the firing in the Silver Division of the Colonial Women's League with her 572 series on marks of 182-114-176.

Elsie Fitzpatrick rolled 466; Angeline Brocco 436; Mildred Burns 428; Laura LaMay 428; Sally Kuehn 426; and Amy Mauro 423.

Joe Fautz finished up with a 10-pin spread over his nearest rival to cop honors in the C. Y. O. action Wednesday at the Bowlodrome. Fautz cracked the pot-bellied maples for scores of 169-201-173.

Joe Watzka finished the No. 2 slot with 533. P. Clausi hit 514 and Joe Bruck fired 504.

A couple of moundsmen in baseball weather—Don Weeks of softball fame and Bill Hornbeck, a former semi-pro flinger of the area—led the Federation American League Wednesday night at the Y.

Weeks took top honors with his 538 series while Hornbeck finished just two pins off the pace with a 536 triple. Weeks rolled 189-179-170 for his series while Hornbeck fired 169-175-192.

Austin Hitchcock hit 515; Frank Roe 507; F. Schussler 505 and H. Schussler 500.

T. Hasbrouck's pin-busting featured the Pioneer Women's activity Wednesday night at the Bolodrome. Not satisfied with grabbing individual honors by turning in the lone 500 of the night with her 505 blast, she neatly converted the 4-7-10 split.

Her sticks included 207-139-159.

V. Janeczek finished fast for 496; L. Ferraro 491; F. Davis 459; Kay Roose 424.

Luella Port, a 111-average keglerette, led yesterday's session of the B.Y.A. League with a 451 series at the Bowlodrome. Three others reached into the "400" bracket—E. Pratt 442, Lillian Fromer 408 and F. Davis 402.

Seven of the Friendship League trundlers accounted for "500" triples and Miriam Posner led the pack with 201-160-186-547, two pins better than Marge Jansen's 160-195-190-545.

Bea Arlensky hit 535, Dot Flemings 202-533; Dot Rawding 520, Evelyn Gross 503 and M. Perry 500. Ada Markle rolled the highest single—210—and 486, Bertha Schaller 486, M. Best 479, M. Brower 477, Chrissie Wilson 473, H. Stopher 472 and Eleanor Singer 470.

J. Fatum's 532, with 157-183-192, was the top triple in the Y Federation National circuit. Stan Hankinson hit 525 and John Steele 516. Doug Harvey with 473 and Ed Himmelsback with 472 rounded out the first five.

Elizabeth Bruck's 516, with 178-174-164, was the top series in the Woman's Major League, a pin better than Jo Smith, who pounded a whopping 232 single in her middle effort. Dot Flemings shot 514, Dot Rawding 510, Beverly Port 505 and Ada Markle 503.

Lorin Auchmoody sandwiched a 229 with 161 and 170 to stack a 560 league-leading effort in the Booster circuit. Pinfall was good in this cradle of bowling, as Guernsey Burger Jr. shot 532, Bob Tierney 207-523, D. Mendel 511, W. Letus 507 and B. Goldstein 502. Warren Senor with 501, J. Reynolds 497, R. Brando 487 and J. Tellier 481, were other top performers.

Business Girls League keglerettes had quartet of "400" triples, S. O'Bryan posting 494, with 177-145-172, Mildred Dunn 471, E. Sass 436 and L. Jordan 415. Other top bracket scores were S. Collins 397, M. Kirston 387, M. Bertram 386, H. Schmidt 383, H. Buchholtz, 386.

Eddie Schupp moved into the Silver Palace League limelight with a 216-180-210-606 series last night at the Bowlatorium. A heavy scoring session produced 25 sets over the "500" mark.

Runnerup Larry "Pop" Petersen shot 205-591; Scott Vining 233-590; Jack Martin 210-215-589; Ralph Mayone 222-578; Ray Otto 206-574; W. Mohr 572; Sheldon Levy 565; Johnny Lowe 205-562; Charlie Horne 220-559; J. Costello 208-554; Roy Webber 201-552; Ray Roux 551 and Joe Mannello 218-550.

Trailing Charlie Gildersleeve in the Central Rec standings were Joe Bosco with 212-210-589; Carl Lundquist 203-574; Don Peterson 554; R. Houghtaling 549; Stan Colvin 542; F. Bruno 219-535; Eddie Heins 532 and R. Zeeh 521.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

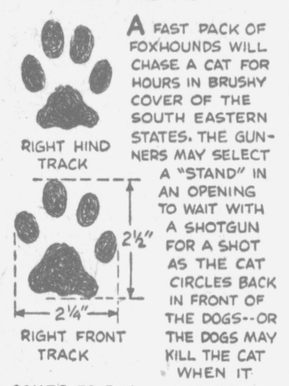
BOBCAT HUNTING METHODS



A FAST PACK OF FOXHOUNDS WILL CHASE A CAT FOR HOURS IN BRUSHY COVER OF THE SOUTH EASTERN STATES. THE GUNNERS MAY SELECT A "STAND" IN AN OPENING TO WAIT WITH A SHOTGUN FOR A SHOT AS THE CAT CIRCLES BACK IN FRONT OF THE DOGS--OR THE DOGS MAY KILL THE CAT WHEN IT COMES TO BAY. IN THE SOUTH, ON OCCASION, IT WILL TREE BUT IN THE WEST, WHEN HARD PUSHED, IT TREES READILY.

DUE TO HEAVY SNOWS OF THE NORTH, ONLY TWO DOGS AND ONE HUNTER CAN FORCE THE BOUNDING BUT TIRING CAT TO TREE.

Maroons to Face Monticello Five Here Friday Night

Monticello, early season victors over Kingston High School's basketball team, will invade the municipal auditorium for a regular DUSO League game Friday night.

The Monties knocked off Coach G. Warren Kias' quintet in surprising fashion by 49 to 36 December 12 to give Monticello its first win over a Kingston team since the 1945-46 campaign.

Monticello's squad for Friday's encounter will include Andy McCullough who registered 23 points against the Maroons in the team's first outing.

Williams Scores T.K.O. Over Cardell in Ninth

Detroit, Feb. 1 (AP)—Lightweight Champ Ike Williams, a busy little bee except where title fights are concerned, tucked a small purse of $2,080 in his wallet today as a reminder of his' one-sided bout with young Vic Cardell last night.

A small turnout of 2,603 fans—held down by a heavy snowstorm—paid a gross gate of only $4,464.39 at Olympia Stadium to see the champ batter Cardell almost at will for a ninth round TKO.

Cardell, his left eye closed and his right eye cut, was unable to answer the bell for the ninth in the scheduled 10-rounder.

Surprisingly enough, it was the vanquished Cardell who got the plaudits of the crowd which saw him take everything Williams could throw.

Williams sulking since the National Boxing Association threatened Saturday to take his title away if he doesn't defend it by March 31, took out some of his wrath on the luckless Cardell.

The 23-year-old Connecticut fighter, who had a two-pound advantage at 145, was a 4-1 underdog. Betting was 3-1 that he would not last five rounds.

Open Tucson Golf Today

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 1 (AP)—The $10,000 Tucson Open golf tournament starts today with a field as wide open as the surrounding desert. This is a tourney in which you have to shoot par golf for four days in a row to win street car money. Yesterday was a good example. A chill wind blew across the 6402-yard par 70 El Rio Golf and Country Club course yet 24 pros played under par and they weren't really bearing down. It's due to be cold again this morning with afternoon temperatures climbing into the 50 degrees. Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., the current PGA champ, took last year's Tucson event with a 13-under par 267.

Kansas State Hangs Third Straight Loss on L.I.U.; Bee Okays Officials

Wildcats Trample Birds by 85-65

Manhattan, Kas., Feb. 1 (AP)—The Long Island University Blackbirds are singing the blues today.

Just eight days ago they cheerfully began a road trip west—undefeated and with 15 straight victories.

But today they possess three straight defeats—the last one an 85 to 65 drubbing administered last night by the Kansas State Wildcats.

L.I.U.'s coach Clair Bee had only praise for K-State.

"My boys were not tired from the long trip," he said. "We were beaten by the best team I have seen all season. I don't see how they can keep Kansas State out of the National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden."

There's still one more game on Long Island's disastrous western trip. The Blackbirds play highly rated St. Louis University Saturday.

In earlier games in the west, L.I.U. slipped past San Francisco, lost to California by a couple of points and tumbled before Arizona, 62-61.

K-State held only a 38-37 edge at half time in last night's game, but turned loose a red hot attack in the last half, dominating the backboards and stealing the ball from the Blackbirds.

Kansas State is ranked No. 7 nationally and LIU ranks fourth.

A crowd of 13,400, largest ever to see a basketball game in Kansas, watched LIU's great Sherman White pour in 37 points to set an individual scoring mark for the K-State fieldhouse.

"I'm not ready to say Sherman White is the greatest player in the nations, but he's a lot of ball player," Bee commented after the performance.

Foes Laud White

Jack Gardner, the Kansas State coach, said:

"White is the best player we've met all season—possibly any season."

The Wildcats' win was a team victory. Nine of the 11 players who got into the game scored.

Kansas State, which leads the Big Seven Conference race, has six regulars who have scored 100 points or more in 16 games.

The Kansans have lost two games in 16 starts. One of the defeats was an early season one-point loss to LIU in New York.

In contrast to his comments after Monday's game against Arizona, Bee complimented the officials in last night's contest.

"The officiating was fine," he said. "I have absolutely no criticism."

Bee claimed that in the Arizona contest Referee W. M. Kisner, Jr., "took the game away from us."

Kisner retorted: "Somebody had better start backtracking on those statements. I have been working basketball games for 23 years and this is the first time I have ever been accused of throwing a game."

Kentucky Rolls Over L.S.U. Five For 16th Victory

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—Mighty Kentucky keeps on rolling but Long Island University and North Carolina State, two other basketball topnotchers, are learning how tough it is away from home.

The Kentuckians (16-1) are winning them all now, at home and on the road, the latest an 81-59 trouncing of Louisiana State last night.

Seven-foot Bill Spivey sparked the Southeastern Conference leaders with 24 points. Bobby Watson pitched in with 21 points, mostly on long field goals. Kentucky ranks No. 1 nationally in this week's Associated Press poll.

Powerful Kansas State (14-2) of the Big Seven drubbed L.I.U., 85-65, before 13,400 in the Wildcats new field house.

L.I.U., unbeaten before starting out on a western trip last week, now has lost three of its four road games. The Blackbirds (16-3) also are underdogs in their clash at St. Louis (15-4) Saturday night.

K-State opened up in the second half to rout L.I.U. Sherman White, who scored 37 points, kept L.I.U. in contention the first half; the Blackbirds were behind only 38-37 at the buzzer.

Lew Hitch led the Kansans in the second half surge, grabbing rebounds and tipping in goals.

Clair Bee, L.I.U. coach, called K-State the "best team I have seen all season."

L.I.U. ranks fourth and Kansas State seventh in this week's AP poll.

Louisville (16-2) caught fire in the first half then went on to wallop visiting North Carolina State, 86-70.

C.C.N.Y. Triumphs

The Cardinals scored 17 straight points in the first period without giving up one. That seemed to take the starch out of the Southern Conference leaders and they never threatened again. N. C. State (19-3) ranks eighth nationally.

Big Bob Lochmueller and Bob Brown scored 23 and 21 points for Louisville.

C.C.N.Y., another touring New York city five, handed John Carroll its ninth straight loss, 79-67.

Tenth-ranking St. Louis came from behind to win, 47-45, over Tulsa.

Texas A. & M. edged Texas in a deliberate contest, 32-29. California, recent upset victor over L.I.U., lost to the Honolulu Universal Motors Five, 63-61. Villanova (15-1) took it easy with Geneva, 82-61.

Weaver Hits 31

Ed Weaver enjoyed his biggest point spree of the 1950-51 basketball season for Army Wednesday afternoon when he registered 31 points to lead the Black Knights to an easy 70 to 49 victory over Amherst at the West Point Field House. Weaver, former Kingston High School star, ripped the cords for 10 field goals and had a perfect day at the free-throw line by arching in 11 of 11 tries. Army engages the Red Raiders from Colgate Saturday afternoon at West Point.

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGERT

New York, Feb. 1 (AP) — The rapidly spreading rail strike today weighed down the stock market.

Most of the major sections of the list—particularly rails, steels, motors, and oils—were unchanged to a few cents lower.

There were some outstanding exceptions, principally in televisions, farm implements and some air lines. Gains in these areas ran well beyond a dollar a share in some instances.

American Can reached upward by nearly 4 points at times under the spell of two developments.

Can reported annual earnings equal to $12.68 a share in 1950 as compared with $10.02 the previous year.

At the same time the company announced its well developed plans for a tinless tin can. The news came as civilian tin use is being cut back and price is soaring.

American Zinc was another buyers' specialty. It reported 1950 earnings amounting to $5.14 a share as compared with 35 cents in 1949. The company said sales last year were the highest in the company's history and net profit the best in at least 30 years.

Lawbreakers Scarce

Amherst, N. S. (AP)—Officials at the county jail report a lack of "customers" during the past year. Lack of law infractions seems to be the rule throughout Cumberland county here.

Will Hit Crime

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A citizens' crime committee—formed by top business and civic leaders—declared war on New York city's underworld today. Grafting cops and officials also will be targets. The citywide committee was formed yesterday in Brooklyn, with a nucleus of 60 members, after a racket-probing grand jury called for a public watchdog committee on law enforcement. The non-political committee will open offices in Manhattan. The public will be asked to donate funds for the work, expected to cost $500,000 a year. About $300,000 was reported to have been tentatively promised already.

Strike Strangles Jersey

Newark, N. J., Feb. 1 (AP)—A midnight strike of public service bus and trolley workers strangled New Jersey's largest transit system and cut off service to 1,600,000 riders today. The walkout—first against the company since 1923—halted transportation on 279 bus lines and three trolley lines and disrupted school bus service, causing many schools to close.

St. Lawrence Project

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Senator Green (D-R.I.) and 21 other senators arranged for introduction today of legislation to authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project. The bi-partisan measure has the approval of President Truman. In recent messages to Congress he has emphasized that the development is "urgently" needed to further the defense.

Strike Postponed

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A radio and television strike deadline set for today by James Petrillo's musicians union has been postponed for two weeks—with a possibility of still further extension. The strike threat against major networks was removed yesterday when Petrillo and major network officials agreed that any wage increases decided upon later would be retroactive to today.

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGERT

New York, Feb. 1 (AP) — The rapidly spreading rail strike today weighed down the stock market.

Most of the major sections of the list—particularly rails, steels, motors, and oils—were unchanged to a few cents lower.

There were some outstanding exceptions, principally in televisions, farm implements and some air lines. Gains in these areas ran well beyond a dollar a share in some instances.

American Can reached upward by nearly 4 points at times under the spell of two developments.

Can reported annual earnings equal to $12.68 a share in 1950 as compared with $10.02 the previous year.

At the same time the company announced its well developed plans for a tinless tin can. The news came as civilian tin use is being cut back and price is soaring.

American Zinc was another buyers' specialty. It reported 1950 earnings amounting to $5.14 a share as compared with 35 cents in 1949. The company said sales last year were the highest in the company's history and net profit the best in at least 30 years.

Lawbreakers Scarce

Amherst, N. S. (AP)—Officials at the county jail report a lack of "customers" during the past year. Lack of law infractions seems to be the rule throughout Cumberland county here.

Will Hit Crime

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A citizens' crime committee—formed by top business and civic leaders—declared war on New York city's underworld today. Grafting cops and officials also will be targets. The citywide committee was formed yesterday in Brooklyn, with a nucleus of 60 members, after a racket-probing grand jury called for a public watchdog committee on law enforcement. The non-political committee will open offices in Manhattan. The public will be asked to donate funds for the work, expected to cost $500,000 a year. About $300,000 was reported to have been tentatively promised already.

Strike Strangles Jersey

Newark, N. J., Feb. 1 (AP)—A midnight strike of public service bus and trolley workers strangled New Jersey's largest transit system and cut off service to 1,600,000 riders today. The walkout—first against the company since 1923—halted transportation on 279 bus lines and three trolley lines and disrupted school bus service, causing many schools to close.

St. Lawrence Project

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Senator Green (D-R.I.) and 21 other senators arranged for introduction today of legislation to authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project. The bi-partisan measure has the approval of President Truman. In recent messages to Congress he has emphasized that the development is "urgently" needed to further the defense.

Strike Postponed

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A radio and television strike deadline set for today by James Petrillo's musicians union has been postponed for two weeks—with a possibility of still further extension. The strike threat against major networks was removed yesterday when Petrillo and major network officials agreed that any wage increases decided upon later would be retroactive to today.

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGERT

New York, Feb. 1 (AP) — The rapidly spreading rail strike today weighed down the stock market.

Most of the major sections of the list—particularly rails, steels, motors, and oils—were unchanged to a few cents lower.

There were some outstanding exceptions, principally in televisions, farm implements and some air lines. Gains in these areas ran well beyond a dollar a share in some instances.

American Can reached upward by nearly 4 points at times under the spell of two developments.

Can reported annual earnings equal to $12.68 a share in 1950 as compared with $10.02 the previous year.

At the same time the company announced its well developed plans for a tinless tin can. The news came as civilian tin use is being cut back and price is soaring.

American Zinc was another buyers' specialty. It reported 1950 earnings amounting to $5.14 a share as compared with 35 cents in 1949. The company said sales last year were the highest in the company's history and net profit the best in at least 30 years.

Will Hit Crime

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A citizens' crime committee—formed by top business and civic leaders—declared war on New York city's underworld today. Grafting cops and officials also will be targets. The citywide committee was formed yesterday in Brooklyn, with a nucleus of 60 members, after a racket-probing grand jury called for a public watchdog committee on law enforcement. The non-political committee will open offices in Manhattan. The public will be asked to donate funds for the work, expected to cost $500,000 a year. About $300,000 was reported to have been tentatively promised already.

Strike Strangles Jersey

Newark, N. J., Feb. 1 (AP)—A midnight strike of public service bus and trolley workers strangled New Jersey's largest transit system and cut off service to 1,600,000 riders today. The walkout—first against the company since 1923—halted transportation on 279 bus lines and three trolley lines and disrupted school bus service, causing many schools to close.

St. Lawrence Project

Washington, Feb. 1 (AP)—Senator Green (D-R.I.) and 21 other senators arranged for introduction today of legislation to authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project. The bi-partisan measure has the approval of President Truman. In recent messages to Congress he has emphasized that the development is "urgently" needed to further the defense.

Strike Postponed

New York, Feb. 1 (AP)—A radio and television strike deadline set for today by James Petrillo's musicians union has been postponed for two weeks—with a possibility of still further extension. The strike threat against major networks was removed yesterday when Petrillo and major network officials agreed that any wage increases decided upon later would be retroactive to today.

Serious Business

ceilings, had a long list of problems of its own.

One was cotton, the price freeze as it effects cotton is so confusing that the major cotton exchanges simply shut their doors Saturday and kept them closed this week. Cotton dealers are discussing with DiSalle some possible ways to make the freeze order clearer and more workable.

Farm Cotton Exempt

Raw cotton as sold by the farmer is exempt from the price freeze. But as sold by the ginners and on the exchanges, raw cotton is subject to ceilings. The ginners are protesting.

The OPS may issue soon an order rolling back the price of steel scrap.

It definitely will make some changes in the present automobile ceilings, frozen now at Dec. 1 levels.

A series of new orders is being prepared that will put big hunks of the retail, wholesale, and manufacturing fields under a different kind of control. Their profit margins will be controlled instead of their selling prices.

invite attack by the Communists.

This was a contention Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has made in opposing the sending of a large U. S. land army to Europe.

Eisenhower said his survey of Europe gave him only a "message base" on which to recommend American help in manning Western Europe's defenses.

But he stoutly contended that what the western nations are trying to do "cannot honestly be considered by any other nation as a threat to its existence."

He said the western European defense force is not being mobilized for any belligerent or aggressive purpose.

A Secure Wall of Peace

The lawmakers arose and applauded when Eisenhower, in full uniform, appeared before them. The 510-seat hall was filled.

Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a red dress and black hat, was seated in the front of the auditorium with a group of women members of Congress.

Vice President Barkley presiding at the informal gathering, told the Congress members Eisenhower would talk an hour or more, but there would be no opportunity for them to question him.

However, two key Senate committees—those on foreign relations and the armed forces—had a question and answer meeting scheduled with Eisenhower for 2:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).

cally. The dividends represent the surplus over amounts needed to pay claims and maintan reserves.

The new dividend applies to policies held in force for at least three months during the period from 1948 to 1951. It applies to so-called term policies and to those converted to permanent plans, including those which have lapsed or were terminated by death of the policy-holder.

Suez Airports Improved

Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—The government here is understood to have approved plans to improve the Khartoum Airport, making it one of the most modern in Africa. Informants say plans are also under consideration to improve other airports in the Sudan, a vital defense area backing up the Suez Canal.

MODENA

Modena, Feb. 1—Mrs. Milton Van Duser of Plattekill will be hostess to the members of the public health nursing committee of the Town of Plattekill, at the regular meeting to be held Monday evening, Feb. 5.

Mrs. Frank Coy, project leader in the Modena Home Bureau unit, will give the second lesson in a series planned, to a class comprised of the following ladies, at her home on Thursday, Feb. 8: Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Gerard DuBois, Mrs. K. DuBois, Mrs. Hyatt, Mrs Russell Minard, Mrs. Leander Minard, Mrs Frank Elliott, Mrs. Roy Jensen, Mrs. Gershom Mount and Mrs. Harry Sutton.

The Hasbrouck Memorial Hall committee will hold a card and games party on the evening of Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, in the hall. Awards will be given those holding high scores in playing. Refreshments will be served. Bridge, pinochle and dominoes will be played. Mrs. Lester Arnold is in charge of general arrangements.

A number of local people attended the March of Dimes dance held Saturday evening at Villa Garcia, Plattekill. Edward Hartney of Highland, formerly of Modena, was chairman of the annual campaign for the Infantile Paralysis Foundation Fund in the Town of Plattekill.

Members of the official board of the Modena Methodist Church are entertaining at luncheons, dinners, suppers and afternoon teas, in cooperation with the Friendship Circle formed at a recent meeting of the board. It is desired to promote interest, increase attendance at church and also to raise funds for the church treasury.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Hodges were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell of New Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dunn of East Walden, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hotaling of New Hurley, Rulieof Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ward of this locality.

Mrs. George Matheisen of New Jersey visited Mrs. Alvina Matheisen on Tuesday.

Harold Flincker has returned here after spending the past week-end with relatives in Flushing, L. I., and Queens.

Annette and Ennis Young of Poughkeepsie, owners of the large property north of Modena, operated by Emory Conklin were recent visitors here. The Youngs are vacationing in Bermuda at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Hasbrouck, Sr. of Upper Main street, New Paltz, will leave town this week-end for Hollywood, Fla., where they are planning to spend two months. Mr. Hasbrouck was the contractor in charge of building the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald DuBois north of Modena.

Burma Invites Aggression

Rangoon (AP)—Burma will become a second Korea unless the Burmese government changes its "middle-of-the-road" foreign policy, the 68-year-old former cabinet minister Ba Pe declared here. He said this country, lying right in the path of Red China, is not strong enough to resist aggression on its own. The Burmese government is committed to a "friendship-with-all" policy. It seeks economic aid from the United States and Commonwealth countries while wooing the Communist bloc. It has declared it will remain neutral should there be general war.

Flemming May Get

power Commission in World War 2, is being considered for the leadership.

Errand Confirmed

But officials who may not be named confirmed that Flemming came to Washington to "confer on manpower problems" with Wilson yesterday; also that Wilson feels the chairman should come from outside Washington and have no ties with any of the agencies which will be competing for manpower as the defense effort progresses.

The inter-agency committee would report its policy findings to Wilson but for the present would leave the actual operations to existing agencies, including the Labor Department, Selective Service, and quite probably, the Defense Production Authority.

Wilson's supreme mobilization authority includes manpower.

One Attempt Fizzles

His special assistant, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, is handling the problem now, but Wilson is known to feel that production and manpower should go hand in hand and, therefore, that Defense Production Administrator William H. Harrison should have an important say on any manpower controls.

One attempt to settle the issue fizzled out on Tuesday. Wilson invited Tobin and others to a meeting but they broke up quickly after barely discussing the matter.

Cuts Butter Supply

Washington (AP)—Families with more money to spend are buying more milk with the result that there is less of it available for the manufacture of dairy products, according to a report by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture. The report states that butter production has fallen about 20 per cent in the past year, and cheese about 10 per cent. The supply of milk for butter and cheese manufacture is expected to keep on dwindling. The drop in production, the bureau announces, has practically wiped out the U. S. held stocks of butter and cheese.

President to Ask

Committee members who attended the private White House session were asked not to talk about Mr. Truman's program. But newsmen got indications that the President wants a two-package tax approach, with the first bill to collect about $10,000,000,000 this way:

INDIVIDUALS — Increase by some $4,000,000,000 the income levies on over 50,000,000 taxpayers—an overall increase of about 20 per cent.

CORPORATIONS—Increase by about $3,000,000,000.

EXCISES—Pick up more billions here, by broadening and increases in the excise tax field.

Serious Business

President Truman and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower stride through sleet and snow as they hurry from the general's plane to a waiting car at National Airport in Washington. The President went to the airport to welcome Eisenhower upon his return from a survey of western Europe's defense setup. (AP Wirephoto).

ceilings, had a long list of problems of its own.

One was cotton, the price freeze as it effects cotton is so confusing that the major cotton exchanges simply shut their doors Saturday and kept them closed this week. Cotton dealers are discussing with DiSalle some possible ways to make the freeze order clearer and more workable.

Farm Cotton Exempt

Raw cotton as sold by the farmer is exempt from the price freeze. But as sold by the ginners and on the exchanges, raw cotton is subject to ceilings. The ginners are protesting.

The OPS may issue soon an order rolling back the price of steel scrap.

It definitely will make some changes in the present automobile ceilings, frozen now at Dec. 1 levels.

A series of new orders is being prepared that will put big hunks of the retail, wholesale, and manufacturing fields under a different kind of control. Their profit margins will be controlled instead of their selling prices.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service reports domesticated European geese and swans have lived 70 or 80 years.

World Civilization

invite attack by the Communists.

This was a contention Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has made in opposing the sending of a large U. S. land army to Europe.

Eisenhower said his survey of Europe gave him only a "message base" on which to recommend American help in manning Western Europe's defenses.

But he stoutly contended that what the western nations are trying to do "cannot honestly be considered by any other nation as a threat to its existence."

He said the western European defense force is not being mobilized for any belligerent or aggressive purpose.

A Secure Wall of Peace

"We are going to build for ourselves a secure wall of peace."

The lawmakers arose and applauded when Eisenhower, in full uniform, appeared before them. The 510-seat hall was filled.

Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a red dress and black hat, was seated in the front of the auditorium with a group of women members of Congress.

Vice President Barkley presiding at the informal gathering, told the Congress members Eisenhower would talk an hour or more, but there would be no opportunity for them to question him.

However, two key Senate committees—those on foreign relations and the armed forces—had a question and answer meeting scheduled with Eisenhower for 2:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).

Suez Airports Improved

Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—The government here is understood to have approved plans to improve the Khartoum Airport, making it one of the most modern in Africa. Informants say plans are also under consideration to improve other airports in the Sudan, a vital defense area backing up the Suez Canal.

MODENA

Modena, Feb. 1—Mrs. Milton Van Duser of Plattekill will be hostess to the members of the public health nursing committee of the Town of Plattekill, at the regular meeting to be held Monday evening, Feb. 5.

Mrs. Frank Coy, project leader in the Modena Home Bureau unit, will give the second lesson in a series planned, to a class comprised of the following ladies, at her home on Thursday, Feb. 8: Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Gerard DuBois, Mrs. K. DuBois, Mrs. Hyatt, Mrs Russell Minard, Mrs. Leander Minard, Mrs Frank Elliott, Mrs. Roy Jensen, Mrs. Gershom Mount and Mrs. Harry Sutton.

The Hasbrouck Memorial Hall committee will hold a card and games party on the evening of Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, in the hall. Awards will be given those holding high scores in playing. Refreshments will be served. Bridge, pinochle and dominoes will be played. Mrs. Lester Arnold is in charge of general arrangements.

A number of local people attended the March of Dimes dance held Saturday evening at Villa Garcia, Plattekill. Edward Hartney of Highland, formerly of Modena, was chairman of the annual campaign for the Infantile Paralysis Foundation Fund in the Town of Plattekill.

Members of the official board of the Modena Methodist Church are entertaining at luncheons, dinners, suppers and afternoon teas, in cooperation with the Friendship Circle formed at a recent meeting of the board. It is desired to promote interest, increase attendance at church and also to raise funds for the church treasury.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson G. Hodges were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell of New Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dunn of East Walden, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hotaling of New Hurley, Rulieof Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Ward of this locality.

Mrs. George Matheisen of New Jersey visited Mrs. Alvina Matheisen on Tuesday.

Harold Flincker has returned here after spending the past week-end with relatives in Flushing, L. I., and Queens.

Annette and Ennis Young of Poughkeepsie, owners of the large property north of Modena, operated by Emory Conklin were recent visitors here. The Youngs are vacationing in Bermuda at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Hasbrouck, Sr. of Upper Main street, New Paltz, will leave town this week-end for Hollywood, Fla., where they are planning to spend two months. Mr. Hasbrouck was the contractor in charge of building the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald DuBois north of Modena.

Burma Invites Aggression

Rangoon (AP)—Burma will become a second Korea unless the Burmese government changes its "middle-of-the-road" foreign policy, the 68-year-old former cabinet minister Ba Pe declared here. He said this country, lying right in the path of Red China, is not strong enough to resist aggression on its own. The Burmese government is committed to a "friendship-with-all" policy. It seeks economic aid from the United States and Commonwealth countries while wooing the Communist bloc. It has declared it will remain neutral should there be general war.

Flemming May Get

Errand Confirmed

But officials who may not be named confirmed that Flemming came to Washington to "confer on manpower problems" with Wilson yesterday; also that Wilson feels the chairman should come from outside Washington and have no ties with any of the agencies which will be competing for manpower as the defense effort progresses.

The inter-agency committee would report its policy findings to Wilson but for the present would leave the actual operations to existing agencies, including the Labor Department, Selective Service, and quite probably, the Defense Production Authority.

Wilson's supreme mobilization authority includes manpower.

One Attempt Fizzles

His special assistant, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, is handling the problem now, but Wilson is known to feel that production and manpower should go hand in hand and, therefore, that Defense Production Administrator William H. Harrison should have an important say on any manpower controls.

One attempt to settle the issue fizzled out on Tuesday. Wilson invited Tobin and others to a meeting but they broke up quickly after barely discussing the matter.

Cuts Butter Supply

Washington (AP)—Families with more money to spend are buying more milk with the result that there is less of it available for the manufacture of dairy products, according to a report by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture. The report states that butter production has fallen about 20 per cent in the past year, and cheese about 10 per cent. The supply of milk for butter and cheese manufacture is expected to keep on dwindling. The drop in production, the bureau announces, has practically wiped out the U. S. held stocks of butter and cheese.

President to Ask

Committee members who attended the private White House session were asked not to talk about Mr. Truman's program. But newsmen got indications that the President wants a two-package tax approach, with the first bill to collect about $10,000,000,000 this way:

INDIVIDUALS — Increase by some $4,000,000,000 the income levies on over 50,000,000 taxpayers—an overall increase of about 20 per cent.

CORPORATIONS—Increase by about $3,000,000,000.

EXCISES—Pick up more billions here, by broadening and increases in the excise tax field.

What the projected second tax bill would contain was indefinite.
